Bond Issues Are Passed By Council

Works and Fire Needs Are Basis of Action by Aldermen; Slash Made in Request

Grader Is Dropped

Road Machine, Office Equipment Are Taken From List

Committee reports favoring bond issues of $55,391.73 for public works materials and $20,000 to replace two "antiquated" fire trucks in volunteer company stations, were approved by the Common Council last night.

Minority members tossed in a compromise vote for the required two-thirds needed in support of the B.P.W. bond issue after an agreed $15,046.37 slice from the $70,438.10 originally asked.

The vote in support of the bond issue for the fire trucks was unanimous, but it was legislation delayed from a previous meeting on request of the minority. Resolutions directly authorizing both bond issues and one of $75,000 for street construction are still to be adopted.

Minority members went along two weeks ago on the bond issue for street work, but held out for a cut in the issue for materials at the end of a lengthy meeting which had recessed from the regular February session.

The vote last night on the B.P.W. bond issue with Seventh Ward Alderman J. Richard Smith (D) absent, was 10 to 2, with two Democrats, Charles J. Cole, 13th ward and James J. Carroll, tenth ward, voting for the committee reports, and the other Democrats, John Buboltz, fourth ward, and Edwin Radel, third ward, opposing.

Items Are Removed

The cut of slightly more than $15,000 in the B.P.W. materials request eliminates one road grader and a sum asked for office equipment from the original materials list.

Alderman Radel, before voting against the B.P.W. bond issue, said that because of bonded debt limitations he was "in favor of cutting down to bare necessities."

Councilman Cole, minority member of the finance committee, before his vote said: "I am with Alderman Radel when he says we are nearing the limit of our bonded indebtedness, but I have been

De Gasperi Wins Confidence Vote

Rome, March 7 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Atlantic Pact government early today won an overwhelming vote of confidence on its arms appropriation bill raising Italy's defense budget this year to $1,245,000,000.

De Gasperi called the bill "our insurance policy against aggression." But Italy's whole leftist bloc boycotted the vote as illegal and stormed angrily from the wildest session of the Chamber of Deputies in many months.

The final test came after midnight last night in the historic Montecitorio Parliament building jammed with spectators and sprinkled with foreign observers, including British and American Embassy representatives.

Bus Service Bid Is Sent to Council Group by Kelly

Petition Signed by 350 Is Presented; Letter Is Sent by De Cicco

A petition with 350 signers and a supporting resolution asking for new bus service in the Fourth Ward were referred by Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly to the railroad and bus committee of the Common Council at last night's council session.

With the names and resolution offered by Sixth Ward Alderman David Schechter, was a letter by James DeCicco, 11 High street, who obtained the names on the petition.

The service is asked in the area of First, Second and Third avenues, Rondout street, Ulster avenue, Kingston street and vicinity.

DeCicco's letter:

February 19, 1951

To the Honorable Common Council
City of Kingston
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sirs,

It was with delight that I read in the public press after a recent Common Council meeting that the Hon. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk had proposed an extension of the bus route in the Fourth Ward for the convenience of workers and school children living in the area of First, Second and Third avenues; Rondout street, Ulster avenue, Kingston street and vicinity.

Having resided in the section mentioned for 25 years, I readily understand what the increased bus service means to my neighbors, and I am looking forward with eager anticipation to the extension of the route through the North Rondout neighborhood. I hope that it can come to pass, and a survey shows that 350 other residents of the section involved are eagerly looking forward to the bus service too.

After reading that the Mayor had issued his proposal for the additional bus service, I took it upon myself as a public duty to canvass the residents of the neighborhood, and herewith submit a list of signers desiring the additional bus service.

Hoping that this communication and the list of signers get due consideration from your Honorable body, I am,

Sincerly yours,
JAMES DeCICCO

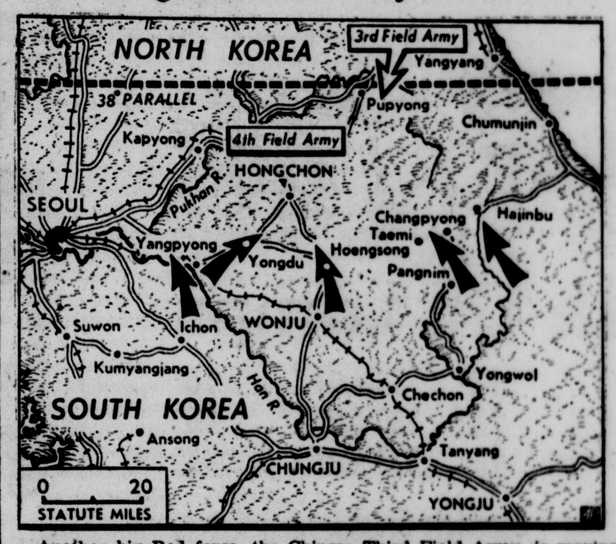
Throwing Another Army Into Battle



Another big Red force, the Chinese Third Field Army, is moving from northeast Korea to support the Communist Fourth Field Army in the Hongchon area where the most bitter fighting on the Korean front is being waged, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said March 6. Arrows indicate points where Allied troops pressed against stiff Red defenses, March 6.

Red Fighting Is Bitter and Big Counterassault Is Begun on Eastern Flank

Expects Stalemate

MacArthur Says Both Sides Will Be Unable to Advance Soon

Tokyo, March 7 (AP)—United Nations forces attacked today on a 55-mile front in central and western Korea behind strong aerial and artillery support.

It was a general assault in crisp, clear weather. Units of all three corps in the U. S. Eighth Army took part.

Initial Red resistance was described as bitter. The Reds even mounted a counterassault on the eastern flank. It rolled South Korean troops back one to three miles.

A battalion of the famous 27th Wolfhound Regiment of the 25th Division paced the attack with a crossing of the twisting Han river east of Seoul at 6:15 a. m. (4:15 p. m. E.S.T., Tuesday).

The Wolfhounds hit the Reds side of the stream in three waves. Other American elements surged across on the left and right. Opposition during the first hour was light. But then the Reds opened up with mortars, machineguns and artillery.

East of the crossing points, the U. S. First Marine Division, four American infantry divisions, and their attached Allied elements pushed off.

Takes One Hill

The U. S. 24th Division, on the Wolfhound right flank, took one hill but encountered stiff Chinese opposition on two others. And on the 24th's right flank, British troops ran into dug in Reds north of the lateral Yongdu-Hoengsong road.

A.P. Correspondent William C. Barhard reported "the thunder of artillery was constant all along the front backing up the attack. Planes were swooping down on the battle line from early morning."

Allied big guns on the western front pounded the Chinese Reds east of Seoul with 50,000 rounds. Shortly before the assault boats shoved off 148 artillery pieces poured 7,000 rounds into the Reds in 20 minutes.

A field dispatch said the barrage stunned the Chinese on the north bank of the river, and added that they "began surrendering in groups."

U. S. 10th Corps Headquarters reported the Marines, in the midsection of the central front, had advanced more than a mile along ridges paralleling the road north of Hoengsong.

Rearguard Battle

A.P. Correspondent John Randolph said the Marines, five miles north of Hoengsong, were attacking crests 1,000 feet above the valley floor. He said the dug-in Chinese were fighting a savage rearguard action.

The battle was fought over hard-packed snow remaining from a six-inch snowfall Tuesday.

General MacArthur visited the front shortly after the push began. The attack line ran from several Han-river crossing points east of Seoul to an area north of Pangnim, some 55 miles to the east.

Only on the extreme eastern end of the line did the U.N. forces run into serious trouble at the outset. There powerful Korean Red attacks forced South Korean troops to withdraw one to three miles on the right flank of the attacking U. S. Seventh Division.

There was speculation at first that the Red counterthrust, which preceded news of the general allied attack, might be the forerunner of an expected Red counteroffensive.

To Relieve Pressure

However, A.P. Correspondent Tom Stone reported that the Red attacks seemed aimed at relieving pressure on the badly-mauled North Korean Third Corps in front of the U. S. Seventh Division.

He said South Korean Seventh Division troops fell back to new lines to stabilize and protect the United Nations line northeast of Amidong on the east-central front.

There were reports of Chinese going into the sector for the first time. An American regimental commander told Stone: "We can expect some real trouble now."

On the western front, allied forces surged across the Han river east of battered Seoul behind a rolling artillery barrage.

Committee Votes Priority For Resolution on Troops

Possibility Not Ruled Out; Two Other Stands May Be Taken

Washington, March 7 (AP)—A joint Senate committee today was reported to have voted 13 to 11 to give priority to a Senate resolution backing the administration's plans for sending troops to Europe.

A member of the group, who asked not to be named, told reporters the action did not rule out the possibility that a joint or concurrent resolution also would be authorized.

Concurrent and joint resolutions require House as well as Senate approval. The former is only an expression of Congress, while a joint resolution requires the signature of the President and becomes a law.

Today's action was taken by the Senate Foreign Relations and the Armed Services Committees, which have been considering the troops-to-Europe issue.

Hard Sledding Seen

The close vote indicated the administration will have hard sledding to sidetrack growing Republican demands that Congress have an equal voice in charting future policy on assigning American troops to the western European defense force of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The senator who reported the vote told newsmen the joint committees set to work on a resolution requiring Senate action only. Administation forces want such a resolution to give advance approval to plans for sending four divisions to Europe in addition to six already there.

The senator said no early agreement appeared in prospect.

The joint committee has 26 members, two of whom were absent from today's session. A break down of the vote was not immediately available.

In advance of the meeting, Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) joined the Republicans in demanding that Congress write into law any authority for President Truman to assign U. S. troops to an international army.

Inflammation Goes

Atlanta, March 7 (AP)—The parents of four-year-old Carolyn Purcell, who were told their child was doomed by cancer of the eyes, and later that the ailment was inflammation, were advised today the inflammation had cleared up in both eyes.

The child has been undergoing treatment at the home of Fred Cannon, chairman of the Shrine Mounted Patrol Charities Committee. The shrine committee financed Carolyn's trip to Mayo Clinic last January. Specialists at Mayo diagnosed her ailment as inflammation after an Atlanta doctor had pronounced it cancer.

Cannon said today Carolyn's eyes have improved gradually since treatment was started seven weeks ago.

Hiltebrant Plans To Build Sweepers

South Rondout Plant Is Preparing to Start in About Month

The C. Hiltebrant Dry Dock Co., of South Rondout, said today that preliminary plans are in progress for starting work, possibly in a month, on a defense contract for the building of mine sweepers.

The local company was mentioned late last year among boat builders expected to get government contracts. The amount of the first contract was not revealed locally, but it was reported by one source to be about $3,000,000.

Plans for the sweepers have not been received by the local concern, but preparations are in progress on the basis that work could be started in a month.

Four Are Summoned

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee has summoned four more well-known entertainers to testify at a new inquiry into communism in Hollywood. Committee sources, reporting this yesterday, said the four were actors John Garfield and Jose Ferrer, actress Anne Revere and radio and television comedian Abe Burrows. These sources, who asked not to be named, told reporters a total of 18 subpoenas have now been issued for Hollywood and New York entertainment figures to appear at the hearings on Communist influences in the movie capital. The hearings are due to start here this month, but may be delayed until after Easter.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The position of the treasury March 5: Net budget receipts $114,522,877,-32. Budget expenditures $112,266,-803.51. Cash balance $5,111,094,-884.06. Variety of Claims Made Against City; All Are Referred

Four Representations Total $80,000, Are Based on Alleged Falls, Papers Say

The Common Council experienced a night of claims at its Tuesday session.

Referred to the laws and rules committee and corporation counsel were four claims totalling $80,000, two for small amounts, and a notice of intention to bring suit for $3,000.

George E. and Violet Hillson, 12 Linderman avenue, filed two claims, totalling $65,000, Lydia Riseley, of Woodstock, filed one for $10,000 and Ella and Frederick Leverenz, of 2 Locust avenue, filed one for $5,000. All were for injuries suffered in falls.

Mary D. Short, 44 Green street, through her attorney, Howard C. St. John, filed a notice of intention to sue the city for $3,000. This followed the filing of a claim last Sept. 20 for injuries suffered in a fall at Wall and Warren streets, last Aug. 21 in which she claims she suffered injuries to the left shoulder, left side and body.

Moves to Ease Divorce Law, Yellow Oleo Sales Are Killed

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—Moves to ease New York's strict divorce law and to legalize pre-colored, yellow olemargarine have been crushed again.

Both proposals were killed by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee last night as it acted on 900 bills to break up a legislative log jam to clear the way toward adjournment, March 15 or 16.

The Republican legislative chiefs, at the same time, moved rapidly to enact the $20,000,000 weight-distance tax on big trucks, after hearing Governor Dewey call for its enactment.

The Ways and Means Committee reported the measure favorably for action by the full Assembly, probably next week.

After a conference of Senate Republicans, Leader Arthur H. Wicks announced that there would be enough G.O.P. support to pass an amended weight-distance truck tax measure in that House.

Wicks said also there would be enough G.O.P. votes to pass the labor-denounced Hughes-Brees bill to revise the state's unemployment insurance system.

The bill would reduce the jobless tax rate for firms with stable employment records, tighten benefit eligibility requirements and increase the maximum weekly benefit from $26 to $30. The measure has Goverhor Dewey's tacit support.

Informed sources said the weight-distance tax bill would be amended to become effective Oct. 1 and that the tax would be computed on either the loaded or unloaded weight of the vehicle, depending on how it was traveling.

As introduced, the bill would become effective July 1 and the tax would be levied only on the basis of the "gross" or loaded weight.

There was no immediate estimate as to how much the amendment on the loaded or unloaded weight might reduce estimated revenue from the tax.

The Ways and Means Committee voted unanimously in defeating a proposal to set up a 23-member commission to study the feasibility of easing New York's Divorce Law.

Adultery is the only grounds for divorce in this state.

Chairman D. Mallory Stephens, Brewster Republican, had no comment on the action. Earlier, he had expressed strong personal opposition to the divorce-study bill introduced by Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon, Norwich Republican.

A similar Gordon bill was defeated in the committee two years ago.

The committee voted 13-5 to kill Assemblywoman Genesta M. Strong's measure to legalize the manufacture and sale of pre-colored, yellow oleo, subject to a two-cent-at-pound "enforcement tax."

The tax, proposed to soften dairy opposition to repeal of the 65-year-old ban on yellow oleo, would have been used to finance a program to prevent oleo from being palmed off as butter.

After killing the Nassau Republican's bill by a divided vote, the committee unanimously rejected an identical bill sponsored by Republican Myron D. Albro of Lounsberry, chairman of the Assembly Agriculture Committee.

A third, identical yellow oleo bill, sponsored by Senator MacNeil Mitchell, Manhattan Republican, is locked in the Senate Finance Committee.

This is the second straight year that a move to repeal the ban on pre-colored, yellow oleo has failed to reach the floor of the Legislature for a vote.

Governor Dewey favors repeal of the ban but he took no public stand on the issue this year.

The Ways and Means Committee also:

1—Reported favorably on administration bills to increase state employes' salaries at the rate of 12.5 per cent on the first $2,000, 10 per cent on the next $2,000, and 7.5 per cent on pay beyond $4,000.

2—Approved a watered-down measure to give the New York City Parking Authority limited power to install and fix fees for parking meters and to build a cross-Manhattan expressway or vehicular tunnel.

3—Killed all of Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri's program to widen New York city's non-property taxing powers, except a measure to increase the sales tax from two to three per cent. The sales tax measure was sent to the Assembly Rules Committee, which is expected to report it out for action by the Legislature.

New Paltz Caucus Chooses Present Officials Again

New Paltz, March 7—At a well-attended village caucus Tuesday in the municipal building Mayor Robert Reed was nominated for another term, also the two trustees serving with him Dr. Roland Will and Gregory Rheude.

Victory at the caucus is considered tantamount to election, which indicates that the slate of officers will be unopposed at the official election scheduled March 20.

In the case of Mayor Reed, his defeated opponent, Benjamin Matteson, stressed that he was definitely out of the field. Matteson, a former mayor for five years in the 1920s, said that he would not permit his name to be written on ballots at the March 20 election.

Although the other defeated candidates were non-committal, it is presumed that they will remain out of the contest at the polls.

Votes polled at the caucus were:

For Mayor

Robert Reed, (incumbent), 262; Benjamin Matteson, 234; nine ballots void; Reed's mapority, 28.

For Trustees

Dr. Roland Will (incumbent,) 265; Wesley Van Vliet, 215; Will's majority, 50.

Gregory Rheude, (incumbent), 234; Joseph Tighe, 201; Rheude's majority, 33.

Government Orders Less Use of Steel in 150 Items

McGovern Fears Pension Measure

Says Retirement System Might Be Placed in Jeopardy

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—The state comptroller contended today that a proposed constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to boost pensions of former state and local employes might jeopardize the soundness of the state retirement system.

Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern said the Legislature might be able to provide money for increased pensions, without amending the constitution, through its powers to "provide for the aid, care and support of the needy."

McGovern outlined his objections to the proposed amendment in a letter to Assembly Majority Leader Lee B. Mailler.

The Assembly deferred action on the measure after Mailler announced receipt of McGovern's letter. The majority leader urged each member to study the comptroller's letter, copies of which were distributed.

If the Assembly approves, the proposal will go on the ballot in November. It was passed by the 1949 Legislature.

McGovern wrote Mailler:

"If it is intended that the Legislature is to mandate increases in pensions by supplemental legislation without actuarial determination (and the amendment would open the door for this), the state retirement systems, which are now actuarially sound, might be jeopardized thereby and, of course, the Legislature would be subject to great pressure to mandate increase pensions from

Products Are Listed in Detail; Range From Household Items to Cars

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The government today greatly expanded the list of items which come under its 20 per cent steel cut program, and put it into effect.

Makers of these items—all consumer durable goods ranging from automobiles to pocket knives—will be limited to using 20 per cent less steel during the second quarter of this year than they used in the average quarter of the first half of last year.

An order from the National Production Authority (N.P.A.) today put into effect the percentage cut announced Feb. 20 by Manly Fleischmann, N.P.A. chief.

It lists in detail for the first time the products affected.

In addition to passenger cars, furniture, refrigerators, radios and television sets, which were mentioned in the previous policy announcement, the list includes vacuum cleaners and lawn mowers, cameras and ashtrays, private airplanes, garbage disposal units, burial caskets, and many others.

Other Things Affected

Also among the additional items affected are porch and lawn furniture, theatre seats, telephone booths, fireplace fixtures, lampshades, carpet sweepers, stoves,

Dunham Denies He Was Influenced

RFC Director Declares Attempts Were Made to 'Use' Him

Washington, March 7 (AP)—RFC Director Walter L. Dunham testified today he believes friends—including men in whom the White House seemed to repose trust—have "sought to use me," but denied he has ever let anyone influence him on huge government loans.

Dunham was before a Senate Banking Committee which has charged that he and some other RFC directors have yielded to influence.

It heard him in private because of Dunham's plea he has a bad heart and should not be cross-examined in public. Newsmen were given copies of a statement Dunham made.

Dunham, in the statement, did not specifically name persons he said he believes sought to "use" him, but mentioned a social group which he said included White House aide Donald Dawson. And he specifically exempted Dawson from his accusation.

"Since coming to Washington," Dunham's statement said, "I am positive no one has succeeded in exerting any improper 'influence' upon my decision on any RFC matter.

Sought To 'Use' Him

"I now feel, however, that some of the gentlemen with whom I became associated sought to 'use me.'

"It now seems clear to me that

Iran's Premier Is Slain; Fahimi Acts in His Stead

Tehran, Iran, March 7 (AP)—Iran's reform-seeking American-backed Premier Ali Razmara was assassinated by gunmen today at a mosque in Tehran's bazaar district.

Shah Reza Pahlevi, after conferring with close advisers, named Minister Without Portfolio Khalil Fahimi to be acting premier. Fahimi, 70, is a veteran political figure.

The cabinet meanwhile met in emergency session.

A government communique signed by Fahimi identified the assassin only as a "certain man" and said he was arrested immediately.

The communique said the cabinet would continue in office under his supervision and called on all officials to "carry out their duties with the utmost strength."

All sources agreed the Communists were not involved in the assassination.

Although Razmara came to power with American support, he had become increasingly conciliatory to the Soviet Union, Iran's northern neighbor.

The police refused to identify the assassin or his affiliations, but his action was generally regarded as another flareup in internal politics. One source said political enemies feared Razmara was aiming to take such dictatorial steps as dissolving the parliament, which has increasingly opposed his policies.

One informed source said the assassins were members of a fanatical religious sect called Fadayam Islam, but could give no reason why the group should have struck at this time.

Razmara, however, has been pushing a U. S.-urged program of widespread reforms unpopular with the country's wealthy ruling minority and has opposed widely-supported demands for nationalization of the huge British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

The 50-year-old former premier took office last June with U. S. backing. On Jan. 25 he won a surprise vote of confidence 91 to 6 in Iran's Parliament (Majlis), but only after the Shah called rebellious members individually to the palace to urge unity at this time of international crisis.

Moves to Ease Divorce Law, Yellow Oleo Sales Are Killed

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—Moves to ease New York's strict divorce law and to legalize precolored, yellow olemargarine have been crushed again.

Both proposals were killed by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee last night as it acted on 900 bills to break up a legislative log jam to clear the way toward adjournment, March 15 or 16.

The Republican legislative chiefs, at the same time, moved rapidly to enact the $20,000,000 weight-distance tax on big trucks, after hearing Governor Dewey call for its enactment.

The Ways and Means Committee reported the measure favorably for action by the full Assembly, probably next week.

After a conference of Senate Republicans, Leader Arthur H. Wicks announced that there would be enough G.O.P. support to pass an amended weight-distance truck tax measure in that House.

Wicks said also there would be enough G.O.P. votes to pass the labor-denounced Hughes-Brees bill to revise the state's unemployment insurance system.

The bill would reduce the jobless tax rate for firms with stable employment records, tighten benefit eligibility requirements and increase the maximum weekly benefit from $26 to $30. The measure has Governor Dewey's tacit support.

Informed sources said the weight-distance tax bill would be amended to become effective Oct. 1 and that the tax would be computed on either the loaded or unloaded weight of the vehicle, depending on how it was traveling.

As introduced, the bill would become effective July 1 and the tax would be levied only on the basis of the "gross" or loaded weight.

There was no immediate estimate as to how much the amendment on the loaded or unloaded weight might reduce estimated revenue from the tax.

The Ways and Means Committee voted unanimously in defeating a proposal to set up a 23-member commission to study the feasibility of easing New York's Divorce Law.

Adultery is the only grounds for divorce in this state.

Chairman D. Mallory Stephens, Brewster Republican, had no comment on the action. Earlier, he had expressed strong personal opposition to the divorce-study bill introduced by Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon, Norwich Republican.

A similar Gordon bill was defeated in the committee two years ago.

The committee voted 13-5 to kill Assemblywoman Genesta M. Strong's measure to legalize the manufacture and sale of pre-colored, yellow oleo, subject to a two-cent-at-pound "enforcement tax."

The tax, proposed to soften dairy opposition to repeal of the 65-year-old ban on yellow oleo, would have been used to finance a program to prevent oleo from being palmed off as butter.

After killing the Nassau Republican's bill by a divided vote, the committee unanimously rejected an identical bill sponsored by Republican Myron D. Albro of Lounsberry, chairman of the Assembly Agriculture Committee.

A third, identical yellow oleo bill, sponsored by Senator MacNeil Mitchell, Manhattan Republican, is locked in the Senate Finance Committee.

This is the second straight year that a move to repeal the ban on pre-colored, yellow oleo has failed to reach the floor of the Legislature for a vote.

Governor Dewey favors repeal of the ban but he took no public stand on the issue this year.

The Ways and Means Committee also:

1—Reported favorably on administration bills to increase state employes' salaries at the rate of 12.5 per cent on the first $2,000, 10 per cent on the next $2,000, and 7.5 per cent on pay beyond $4,000.

2—Approved a watered-down measure to give the New York City Parking Authority limited power to install and fix fees for parking meters and to build a cross-Manhattan expressway or vehicular tunnel.

3—Killed all of Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri's program to widen New York city's non-property taxing powers, except a measure to increase the sales tax from two to three per cent. The sales tax measure was sent to the Assembly Rules Committee, which is expected to report it out for action by the Legislature.

Bond Issues Are Passed By Council

Road Machine, Office Equipment Are Taken From List

Committee reports favoring bond issues of $55,391.73 for public works materials and $20,000 to replace two "antiquated" fire trucks in volunteer company stations, were approved by the Common Council last night.

Minority members tossed in a compromise vote for the required two-thirds needed in support of the B.P.W. bond issue after an agreed $15,046.37 slice from the $70,438.10 originally asked.

The vote in support of the bond issue for the fire trucks was unanimous, but it was legislation delayed from a previous meeting on request of the minority. Resolutions directly authorizing both bond issues and one of $75,000 for street construction are still to be adopted.

Minority members went along two weeks ago on the bond issue for street work, but held out for a cut in the issue for materials at the end of a lengthy meeting which had recessed from the regular February session.

The vote last night on the B.P.W. bond issue with Seventh Ward Alderman J. Richard Smith (D) absent, was 10 to 2, with two Democrats, Charles J. Cole, 13th ward and James J. Carroll, tenth ward, voting for the committee reports, and the other Democrats, John Buboltz, fourth ward, and Edwin Radel, third ward, opposing.

Items Are Removed

The cut of slightly more than $15,000 in the B.P.W. materials request eliminates one road grader and a sum asked for office equipment from the original materials list.

Alderman Radel, before voting against the B.P.W. bond issue, said that because of bonded debt limitations he was "in favor of cutting down to bare necessities."

Councilman Cole, minority member of the finance committee, before his vote said: "I am with Alderman Radel when he says we are nearing the limit of our bonded indebtedness, but I have been

De Gasperi Wins Confidence Vote

Rome, March 7 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Atlantic Pact government early today won an overwhelming vote of confidence on its arms appropriation bill raising Italy's defense budget this year to $1,245,000,000.

De Gasperi called the bill "our insurance policy against aggression." But Italy's whole leftist bloc boycotted the vote as illegal and stormed angrily from the wildest session of the Chamber of Deputies in many months.

The final test came after midnight last night in the historic Montecitorio Parliament building jammed with spectators and sprinkled with foreign observers, including British and American Embassy representatives.

Bus Service Bid Is Sent to Council Group by Kelly

Petition Signed by 350 Is Presented; Letter Is Sent by De Cicco

A petition with 350 signers and a supporting resolution asking for new bus service in the Fourth Ward were referred by Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly to the railroad and bus committee of the Common Council at last night's council session.

With the names and resolution offered by Sixth Ward Alderman David Schechter, was a letter by James DeCicco, 11 High street, who obtained the names on the petition.

The service is asked in the area of First, Second and Third avenues, Rondout street, Ulster avenue, Kingston street and vicinity.

DeCicco's letter:

Kingston, N. Y.
Dear Sirs,

It was with delight that I read in the public press after a recent Common Council meeting that the Hon. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk had proposed an extension of the bus route in the Fourth Ward for the convenience of workers and school children living in the area of First, Second and Third avenues; Rondout street, Ulster avenue, Kingston street and vicinity.

Having resided in the section mentioned for 25 years, I readily understand what the increased bus service means to my neighbors, and I am looking forward with eager anticipation to the extension of the route through the North Rondout neighborhood. I hope that it can come to pass, and a survey shows that 350 other residents of the section involved are eagerly looking forward to the bus service too.

After reading that the Mayor had issued his proposal for the additional bus service, I took it upon myself as a public duty to canvass the residents of the neighborhood, and herewith submit a list of signers desiring the additional bus service.

Hoping that this communication and the list of signers get due consideration from your Honorable body, I am,

Sincerly yours,
JAMES DeCICCO

Throwing Another Army Into Battle

Another big Red force, the Chinese Third Field Army, is moving from northeast Korea to support the Communist Fourth Field Army in the Hongchon area where the most bitter fighting on the Korean front is being waged, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said March 6. Arrows indicate points where Allied troops pressed against stiff Red defenses, March 6.

Expects Stalemate

MacArthur Says Both Sides Will Be Unable to Advance Soon

Tokyo, March 7 (AP)—United Nations forces attacked today on a 55-mile front in central and western Korea behind strong aerial and artillery support.

It was a general assault in crisp, clear weather. Units of all three corps in the U. S. Eighth Army took part.

Initial Red resistance was described as bitter. The Reds even mounted a counterassault on the eastern flank. It rolled South Korean troops back one to three miles.

A battalion of the famous 27th Wolfhound Regiment of the 25th Division paced the attack with a crossing of the twisting Han river east of Seoul at 6:15 a. m. (4:15 p. m. E.S.T., Tuesday).

The Wolfhounds hit the Reds side of the stream in three waves. Other American elements surged across on the left and right. Opposition during the first hour was light. But then the Reds opened up with mortars, machineguns and artillery.

East of the crossing points, the U. S. First Marine Division, four American infantry divisions, and their attached Allied elements pushed off.

Takes One Hill

The U. S. 24th Division, on the Wolfhound right flank, took one hill but encountered stiff Chinese opposition on two others. And on the 24th's right flank, British troops ran into dug in Reds north of the lateral Yongdu-Hoengsong road.

A.P. Correspondent William C. Barhard reported "the thunder of artillery was constant all along the front backing up the attack. Planes were swooping down on the battle line from early morning."

Allied big guns on the western front pounded the Chinese Reds east of Seoul with 50,000 rounds. Shortly before the assault boats shoved off 148 artillery pieces poured 7,000 rounds into the Reds in 20 minutes.

A field dispatch said the barrage stunned the Chinese on the north bank of the river, and added that they "began surrendering in groups."

U. S. 10th Corps Headquarters reported the Marines, in the mid-section of the central front, had advanced more than a mile along ridges paralleling the road north of Hoengsong.

Rearguard Battle

A.P. Correspondent John Randolph said the Marines, five miles north of Hoengsong, were attacking crests 1,000 feet above the valley floor. He said the dug-in Chinese were fighting a savage rearguard action.

The battle was fought over hard-packed snow remaining from a six-inch snowfall Tuesday.

General MacArthur visited the front shortly after the push began. The attack line ran from several Han-river crossing points east of Seoul to an area north of Pangnim, some 55 miles to the east.

Only on the extreme eastern end of the line did the U.N. forces run into serious trouble at the outset. There powerful Korean Red attacks forced South Korean troops to withdraw one to three miles on the right flank of the attacking U. S. Seventh Division.

There was speculation at first that the Red counterthrust, which preceded news of the general allied attack, might be the forerunner of an expected Red counter-offensive.

To Relieve Pressure

However, A.P. Correspondent Tom Stone reported that the Red attacks seemed aimed at relieving pressure on the badly-mauled North Korean Third Corps in front of the U. S. Seventh Division.

He said South Korean Seventh Division troops fell back to new lines to stabilize and protect the United Nations line northeast of Amidong on the east-central front.

There were reports of Chinese going into the sector for the first time. An American regimental commander told Stone: "We can expect some real trouble now."

On the western front, allied forces surged across the Han river east of battered Seoul behind a rolling artillery barrage.

Says Retirement System Might Be Placed in Jeopardy

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—The state comptroller contended today that a proposed constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to boost pensions of former state and local employes might jeopardize the soundness of the state retirement system.

Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern said the Legislature might be able to provide money for increased pensions, without amending the constitution, through its powers to "provide for the aid, care and support of the needy."

McGovern outlined his objections to the proposed amendment in a letter to Assembly Majority Leader Lee B. Mailler.

The Assembly deferred action on the measure after Mailler announced receipt of McGovern's letter. The majority leader urged each member to study the comptroller's letter, copies of which were distributed.

If the Assembly approves, the proposal will go on the ballot in November. It was passed by the 1949 Legislature.

McGovern wrote Mailler:

"If it is intended that the Legislature is to mandate increases in pensions by supplemental legislation without actuarial determination (and the amendment would open the door for this), the state retirement systems, which are now actuarially sound, might be jeopardized thereby and, of course, the Legislature would be subject to great pressure to mandate increase pensions from

Products Are Listed in Detail; Range From Household Items to Cars

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The government today greatly expanded the list of items which come under its 20 per cent steel cut program, and put it into effect.

Makers of these items—all consumer durable goods ranging from automobiles to pocket knives—will be limited to using 20 per cent less steel during the second quarter of this year than they used in the average quarter of the first half of last year.

An order from the National Production Authority (N.P.A.) today put into effect the percentage cut announced Feb. 20 by Manly Fleischmann, N.P.A. chief.

It lists in detail for the first time the products affected.

In addition to passenger cars, furniture, refrigerators, radios and television sets, which were mentioned in the previous policy announcement, the list includes vacuum cleaners and lawn mowers, cameras and ashtrays, private airplanes, garbage disposal units, burial caskets, and many others.

Other Things Affected

Also among the additional items affected are porch and lawn furniture, theatre seats, telephone booths, fireplace fixtures, lampshades, carpet sweepers, stoves,

Dunham Denies He Was Influenced

RFC Director Declares Attempts Were Made to 'Use' Him

Washington, March 7 (AP)—RFC Director Walter L. Dunham testified today he believes friends—including men in whom the White House seemed to repose trust—have "sought to use me," but denied he has ever let anyone influence him on huge government loans.

Dunham was before a Senate Banking Committee which has charged that he and some other RFC directors have yielded to influence.

It heard him in private because of Dunham's plea he has a bad heart and should not be cross-examined in public. Newsmen were given copies of a statement Dunham made.

Dunham, in the statement, did not specifically name persons he said he believes sought to "use" him, but mentioned a social group which he said included White House aide Donald Dawson. And he specifically exempted Dawson from his accusation.

"Since coming to Washington," Dunham's statement said, "I am positive no one has succeeded in exerting any improper 'influence' upon my decision on any RFC matter.

Sought To 'Use' Him

"I now feel, however, that some of the gentlemen with whom I became associated sought to 'use me.'

"It now seems clear to me that

Iran's Premier Is Slain; Fahimi Acts in His Stead

Tehran, Iran, March 7 (AP)—Iran's reform-seeking American-backed Premier Ali Razmara was assassinated by gunmen today at a mosque in Tehran's bazaar district.

Shah Reza Pahlevi, after conferring with close advisers, named Minister Without Portfolio Khalil Fahimi to be acting premier. Fahimi, 70, is a veteran political figure.

The cabinet meanwhile met in emergency session.

A government communique signed by Fahimi identified the assassin only as a "certain man" and said he was arrested immediately.

The communique said the cabinet would continue in office under his supervision and called on all officials to "carry out their duties with the utmost strength."

All sources agreed the Communists were not involved in the assassination.

Although Razmara came to power with American support, he had become increasingly conciliatory to the Soviet Union, Iran's northern neighbor.

The police refused to identify the assassin or his affiliations, but his action was generally regarded as another flareup in internal politics. One source said political enemies feared Razmara was aiming to take such dictatorial steps as dissolving the parliament, which has increasingly opposed his policies.

One informed source said the assassins were members of a fanatical religious sect called Fadayam Islam, but could give no reason why the group should have struck at this time.

Razmara, however, has been pushing a U. S.-urged program of widespread reforms unpopular with the country's wealthy ruling minority and has opposed widely-supported demands for nationalization of the huge British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

The 50-year-old former premier took office last June with U. S. backing. On Jan. 25 he won a surprise vote of confidence 91 to 6 in Iran's Parliament (Majlis), but only after the Shah called rebellious members individually to the palace to urge unity at this time of international crisis.

Committee Votes Priority For Resolution on Troops

Possibility Not Ruled Out; Two Other Stands May Be Taken

Washington, March 7 (AP)—A joint Senate committee today was reported to have voted 13 to 11 to give priority to a Senate resolution backing the administration's plans for sending troops to Europe.

A member of the group, who asked not to be named, told reporters the action did not rule out the possibility that a joint or concurrent resolution also would be authorized.

Concurrent and joint resolutions require House as well as Senate approval. The former is only an expression of Congress, while a joint resolution requires the signature of the President and becomes a law.

Today's action was taken by the Senate Foreign Relations and the Armed Services Committees, which have been considering the troops-to-Europe issue.

Hard Sledding Seen

The close vote indicated the administration will have hard sledding to sidetrack growing Republican demands that Congress have an equal voice in charting future policy on assigning American troops to the western European defense force of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The senator who reported the vote told newsmen the joint committees set to work on a resolution requiring Senate action only. Administation forces want such a resolution to give advance approval to plans for sending four divisions to Europe in addition to six already there.

The senator said no early agreement appeared in prospect.

The joint committee has 26 members, two of whom were absent from today's session. A break down of the vote was not immediately available.

In advance of the meeting, Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) joined the Republicans in demanding that Congress write into law any authority for President Truman to assign U. S. troops to an international army.

Inflammation Goes

Atlanta, March 7 (AP)—The parents of four-year-old Carolyn Purcell, who were told their child was doomed by cancer of the eyes, and later that the ailment was inflammation, were advised today the inflammation had cleared up in both eyes.

The child has been undergoing treatment at the home of Fred Cannon, chairman of the Shrine Mounted Patrol Charities Committee. The shrine committee financed Carolyn's trip to Mayo Clinic last January. Specialists at Mayo diagnosed her ailment as inflammation after an Atlanta doctor had pronounced it cancer.

Cannon said today Carolyn's eyes have improved gradually since treatment was started seven weeks ago.

South Rondout Plant Is Preparing to Start in About Month

The C. Hiltebrant Dry Dock Co., of South Rondout, said today that preliminary plans are in progress for starting work, possibly in a month, on a defense contract for the building of mine sweepers.

The local company was mentioned late last year among boat builders expected to get government contracts. The amount of the first contract was not revealed locally, but it was reported by one source to be about $3,000,000.

Plans for the sweepers have not been received by the local concern, but preparations are in progress on the basis that work could be started in a month.

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee has summoned four more well-known entertainers to testify at a new inquiry into communism in Hollywood. Committee sources, reporting this yesterday, said the four were actors John Garfield and Jose Ferrer, actress Anne Revere and radio and television comedian Abe Burrows. These sources, who asked not to be named, told reporters a total of 18 subpoenas have now been issued for Hollywood and New York entertainment figures to appear at the hearings on Communist influences in the movie capital. The hearings are due to start here this month, but may be delayed until after Easter.

New Paltz Caucus Chooses Present Officials Again

New Paltz, March 7—At a well-attended village caucus Tuesday in the municipal building Mayor Robert Reed was nominated for another term, also the two trustees serving with him Dr. Roland Will and Gregory Rheude.

Victory at the caucus is considered tantamount to election, which indicates that the slate of officers will be unopposed at the official election scheduled March 20.

In the case of Mayor Reed, his defeated opponent, Benjamin Matteson, stressed that he was definitely out of the field. Matteson, a former mayor for five years in the 1920s, said that he would not permit his name to be written on ballots at the March 20 election.

Although the other defeated candidates were non-committal, it is presumed that they will remain out of the contest at the polls.

Votes polled at the caucus were:

For Mayor

Robert Reed, (incumbent), 262; Benjamin Matteson, 234; nine ballots void; Reed's mapority, 28.

For Trustees

Dr. Roland Will (incumbent,) 265; Wesley Van Vliet, 215; Will's majority, 50.

The Common Council experienced a night of claims at its Tuesday session.

Referred to the laws and rules committee and corporation counsel were four claims totalling $80,-000, two for small amounts, and a notice of intention to bring suit for $3,000.

Moves to Ease Divorce Law, Yellow Oleo Sales Are Killed

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—Moves to ease New York's strict divorce law and to legalize precolored, yellow olemargarine have been crushed again.

A third, identical yellow oleo bill, sponsored by Senator MacNeil Mitchell, Manhattan Republican, is locked in the Senate Finance Committee.

This is the second straight year that a move to repeal the ban on pre-colored, yellow oleo has failed to reach the floor of the Legislature for a vote.

Governor Dewey favors repeal of the ban but he took no public stand on the issue this year.

The Ways and Means Committee also:

1—Reported favorably on administration bills to increase state employes' salaries at the rate of 12.5 per cent on the first $2,000, 10 per cent on the next $2,000, and 7.5 per cent on pay beyond $4,000.

2—Approved a watered-down measure to give the New York City Parking Authority limited power to install and fix fees for parking meters and to build a cross-Manhattan expressway or vehicular tunnel.

3—Killed all of Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri's program to widen New York city's non-property taxing powers, except a measure to increase the sales tax from two to three per cent. The sales tax measure was sent to the Assembly Rules Committee, which is expected to report it out for action by the Legislature.

It was with delight that I read in the public press after a recent Common Council meeting that the Hon. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk had proposed an extension of the bus route in the Fourth Ward for the convenience of workers and school children living in the area of First, Second and Third avenues; Rondout street, Ulster avenue, Kingston street and vicinity.

Having resided in the section mentioned for 25 years, I readily understand what the increased bus service means to my neighbors, and I am looking forward with eager anticipation to the extension of the route through the North Rondout neighborhood. I hope that it can come to pass, and a survey shows that 350 other residents of the section involved are eagerly looking forward to the bus service too.

After reading that the Mayor had issued his proposal for the additional bus service, I took it upon myself as a public duty to canvass the residents of the neighborhood, and herewith submit a list of signers desiring the additional bus service.

Hoping that this communication and the list of signers get due consideration from your Honorable body, I am,

Sincerly yours,
JAMES DeCICCO

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—The Legislature approved a bill today permitting municipalities to rent or lease advertising space on parking meters. Final action came in the Assembly, 120-25, and was sent to Governor Dewey.

U.N. Makes Full Assault On 55-Mile Front With Aerial, Artillery Support

Throwing Another Army Into Battle

Another big Red force, the Chinese Third Field Army, is moving from northeast Korea to support the Communist Fourth Field Army in the Hongchon area where the most bitter fighting on the Korean front is being waged, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said March 6. Arrows indicate points where Allied troops pressed against stiff Red defenses, March 6.

Red Fighting Is Bitter and Big Counterassault Is Begun on Eastern Flank

Expects Stalemate

MacArthur Says Both Sides Will Be Unable to Advance Soon

Tokyo, March 7 (AP)—United Nations forces attacked today on a 55-mile front in central and western Korea behind strong aerial and artillery support.

It was a general assault in crisp, clear weather. Units of all three corps in the U. S. Eighth Army took part.

Initial Red resistance was described as bitter. The Reds even mounted a counterassault on the eastern flank. It rolled South Korean troops back one to three miles.

A battalion of the famous 27th Wolfhound Regiment of the 25th Division paced the attack with a crossing of the twisting Han river east of Seoul at 6:15 a. m. (4:15 p. m. E.S.T., Tuesday).

The Wolfhounds hit the Reds side of the stream in three waves. Other American elements surged across on the left and right. Opposition during the first hour was light. But then the Reds opened up with mortars, machineguns and artillery.

East of the crossing points, the U. S. First Marine Division, four American infantry divisions, and their attached Allied elements pushed off.

Takes One Hill

The U. S. 24th Division, on the Wolfhound right flank, took one hill but encountered stiff Chinese opposition on two others. And on the 24th's right flank, British troops ran into dug in Reds north of the lateral Yongdu-Hoengsong road.

A.P. Correspondent William C. Barhard reported "the thunder of artillery was constant all along the front backing up the attack. Planes were swooping down on the battle line from early morning."

Allied big guns on the western front pounded the Chinese Reds east of Seoul with 50,000 rounds. Shortly before the assault boats shoved off 148 artillery pieces poured 7,000 rounds into the Reds in 20 minutes.

A field dispatch said the barrage stunned the Chinese on the north bank of the river, and added that they "began surrendering in groups."

U. S. 10th Corps Headquarters reported the Marines, in the mid-section of the central front, had advanced more than a mile along ridges paralleling the road north of Hoengsong.

Rearguard Battle

A.P. Correspondent John Randolph said the Marines, five miles north of Hoengsong, were attacking crests 1,000 feet above the valley floor. He said the dug-in Chinese were fighting a savage rearguard action.

The battle was fought over hard-packed snow remaining from a six-inch snowfall Tuesday.

General MacArthur visited the front shortly after the push began. The attack line ran from several Han-river crossing points east of Seoul to an area north of Pangnim, some 55 miles to the east.

Only on the extreme eastern end of the line did the U.N. forces run into serious trouble at the outset. There powerful Korean Red attacks forced South Korean troops to withdraw one to three miles on the right flank of the attacking U. S. Seventh Division.

There was speculation at first that the Red counterthrust, which preceded news of the general allied attack, might be the forerunner of an expected Red counter-offensive.

To Relieve Pressure

However, A.P. Correspondent Tom Stone reported that the Red attacks seemed aimed at relieving pressure on the badly-mauled North Korean Third Corps in front of the U. S. Seventh Division.

He said South Korean Seventh Division troops fell back to new lines to stabilize and protect the United Nations line northeast of Amidong on the east-central front.

There were reports of Chinese going into the sector for the first time. An American regimental commander told Stone: "We can expect some real trouble now."

On the western front, allied forces surged across the Han river east of battered Seoul behind a rolling artillery barrage.

Says Retirement System Might Be Placed in Jeopardy

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—The state comptroller contended today that a proposed constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to boost pensions of former state and local employes might jeopardize the soundness of the state retirement system.

Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern said the Legislature might be able to provide money for increased pensions, without amending the constitution, through its powers to "provide for the aid, care and support of the needy."

McGovern outlined his objections to the proposed amendment in a letter to Assembly Majority Leader Lee B. Mailler.

The Assembly deferred action on the measure after Mailler announced receipt of McGovern's letter. The majority leader urged each member to study the comptroller's letter, copies of which were distributed.

If the Assembly approves, the proposal will go on the ballot in November. It was passed by the 1949 Legislature.

McGovern wrote Mailler:

"If it is intended that the Legislature is to mandate increases in pensions by supplemental legislation without actuarial determination (and the amendment would open the door for this), the state retirement systems, which are now actuarially sound, might be jeopardized thereby and, of course, the Legislature would be subject to great pressure to mandate increase pensions from

Products Are Listed in Detail; Range From Household Items to Cars

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The government today greatly expanded the list of items which come under its 20 per cent steel cut program, and put it into effect.

Makers of these items—all consumer durable goods ranging from automobiles to pocket knives—will be limited to using 20 per cent less steel during the second quarter of this year than they used in the average quarter of the first half of last year.

An order from the National Production Authority (N.P.A.) today put into effect the percentage cut announced Feb. 20 by Manly Fleischmann, N.P.A. chief.

It lists in detail for the first time the products affected.

In addition to passenger cars, furniture, refrigerators, radios and television sets, which were mentioned in the previous policy announcement, the list includes vacuum cleaners and lawn mowers, cameras and ashtrays, private airplanes, garbage disposal units, burial caskets, and many others.

Other Things Affected

Also among the additional items affected are porch and lawn furniture, theatre seats, telephone booths, fireplace fixtures, lampshades, carpet sweepers, stoves,

Dunham Denies He Was Influenced

RFC Director Declares Attempts Were Made to 'Use' Him

Washington, March 7 (AP)—RFC Director Walter L. Dunham testified today he believes friends—including men in whom the White House seemed to repose trust—have "sought to use me," but denied he has ever let anyone influence him on huge government loans.

Dunham was before a Senate Banking Committee which has charged that he and some other RFC directors have yielded to influence.

It heard him in private because of Dunham's plea he has a bad heart and should not be cross-examined in public. Newsmen were given copies of a statement Dunham made.

Dunham, in the statement, did not specifically name persons he said he believes sought to "use" him, but mentioned a social group which he said included White House aide Donald Dawson. And he specifically exempted Dawson from his accusation.

"Since coming to Washington," Dunham's statement said, "I am positive no one has succeeded in exerting any improper 'influence' upon my decision on any RFC matter.

Sought To 'Use' Him

"I now feel, however, that some of the gentlemen with whom I became associated sought to 'use me.'

"It now seems clear to me that

Iran's Premier Is Slain; Fahimi Acts in His Stead

Tehran, Iran, March 7 (AP)—Iran's reform-seeking American-backed Premier Ali Razmara was assassinated by gunmen today at a mosque in Tehran's bazaar district.

Shah Reza Pahlevi, after conferring with close advisers, named Minister Without Portfolio Khalil Fahimi to be acting premier. Fahimi, 70, is a veteran political figure.

The cabinet meanwhile met in emergency session.

A government communique signed by Fahimi identified the assassin only as a "certain man" and said he was arrested immediately.

The communique said the cabinet would continue in office under his supervision and called on all officials to "carry out their duties with the utmost strength."

All sources agreed the Communists were not involved in the assassination.

Although Razmara came to power with American support, he had become increasingly conciliatory to the Soviet Union, Iran's northern neighbor.

The police refused to identify the assassin or his affiliations, but his action was generally regarded as another flareup in internal politics. One source said political enemies feared Razmara was aiming to take such dictatorial steps as dissolving the parliament, which has increasingly opposed his policies.

One informed source said the assassins were members of a fanatical religious sect called Fadayam Islam, but could give no reason why the group should have struck at this time.

Razmara, however, has been pushing a U. S.-urged program of widespread reforms unpopular with the country's wealthy ruling minority and has opposed widely-supported demands for nationalization of the huge British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

The 50-year-old former premier took office last June with U. S. backing. On Jan. 25 he won a surprise vote of confidence 91 to 6 in Iran's Parliament (Majlis), but only after the Shah called rebellious members individually to the palace to urge unity at this time of international crisis.

THE WAY TO CALVARY

Angered by the people's acceptance of Jesus, Pharisees sought to entrap Him. Accompanied by Herodians, they asked if it was lawful to give tribute to Caesar.

Answering the Pharisees

COPR. 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Christ called them hypocrites, pointed to Caesar's image on a penny they brought Him, and said: "Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

About this time a lawyer asked Him to define "the great commandment," and Christ replied with the mighty admonition to love God, and "thy neighbor as thyself."

Secrecy Surrounds Hutton Divorce

Cuernavaca, Mexico, March 7 (AP)—Official secrecy today surrounded Barbara Hutton's divorce suit against Prince Igor Troubetskoy, but in San Francisco the prince's lawyer said the Woolworth heiress' action here has been thrown "completely out of court."

In this resort town, where Miss Hutton brought suit against her fourth husband, court attaches invoked a state law that divorce proceedings must be kept secret except from the principals.

A contest of the suit had been filed, they finally said, but they would add no details.

Troubetskoy's attorney in California, Melvin Belli, was more specific.

"The case was thrown completely out of court. She won't get a quickie divorce in Mexico or anywhere else in the world. If she wants to appear before a competent court for divorce, that's another thing," he declared.

Meeting Reported

It was reported that attorneys for Barbara and her prince had met here to try to arrange a settlement. The report said he asked $3,000,000 for not opposing the divorce, and she offered only $500,000.

Another unconfirmed report said Miss Hutton had flown out of the country, to an unannounced destination.

Prince Troubetskoy, at his home in France, told newsmen yesterday that he still loves multi-million-dollar Barbara and will "fight like hell" to prevent a divorce.

Asked what he would do if she won her freedom, he replied:

"I may have to make some demands because of the attacks she has made on my character."

Miss Hutton, under a doctor's care, throughout the hubbub has said nothing.

Salesman Held On Larceny Counts

New York, March 7 (AP)—A part-time textile salesman was under arrest today on a charge of grand larceny of $40,000, which he told authorities he spent on a show girl.

The prisoner, Sidney M. Levy, 27, earned $75 a week.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said yesterday Levy told two dentists and a woman night club manager that he had commitments from textile mills whereby he could buy nylon goods for one dollar a yard and could sell it for $1.50 a yard. Hogan said he never had the commitments.

On the strength of his representations, Hogan said, levy obtained $18,000 from Dr. Henry P. Dwork and $15,000 from Dr. Walter B. Nicora, both of Manhattan, and $7,000 from Miss Constance Kaplan, of (147-44 77th avenoue) Kew Gardens, Queens.

Spent Money on Woman

Hogan said Levy told him he spent all the money on Rosemary Williamson, who has appeared on radio and television and was in the musical shows "Peep Show" and "As the Girls Go."

The prosecutor said Miss Williamson, who said her family resides in Corpus Christie, Texas, told him she received gifts worth between $15,000 and $20,000 from Levy, including a $5,800 automobile, a $5,200 diamond ring, a $2,500 mink coat, a $1,000 diamond-studded wrist watch, and stone martens worth $600. Hogan said she told him that when she received the gifts she had no idea the money to pay for them had not been rightfully obtained.

Miss Williamson said she sold the automobile for $3,800 and gave Levy $3,000 of the money, but he bought the car back for $4,000. She said the mink coat had been stolen.

Requirements Modified For Reserve Commissions

College students may now apply for Naval Reserve commissions 120 days prior to graduation and receipt of a degree.

In the past, applicants for inactive duty commissions were required to have degrees before making application. Applicants for active duty commissions were limited to filing applications 60 days in advance of graduation.

Educational requirements for General Line reserve commissions also have been eased. Six hours of physics is no longer a requirement. Mathematics through trigonometry, if completed in an accredited college, university, or secondary school will suffice. Formerly 12 semester hours of mathematics were required.

Applicants for General Line and Supply Corps commissions who have received Selective Service orders for pre-induction physicals must be actually attending school and be considered under educational postponement.

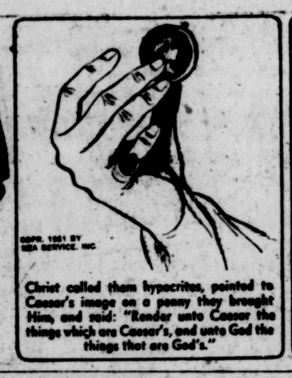
THE WAY TO CALVARY

Angered by the people's acceptance of Jesus, Pharisees sought to entrap Him. Accompanied by Herodians, they asked if it was lawful to give tribute to Caesar.

Answering the Pharisees



Christ called them hypocrites, pointed to Caesar's image on a penny they brought Him, and said: "Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

About this time a lawyer asked Him to define "the great commandment," and Christ replied with the mighty admonition to love God, and "thy neighbor as thyself."

THE RED CROSS WORKER

Ulster county's quota in the current Red Cross drive is $37,000 and to raise that amount some 800 volunteer workers will concentrate on individual memberships.

County Chairman Vincent G. Connelly has announced that the usual receptacles will not be found in places of public assembly and stores and no collection will be taken in factories.

The subject is to obtain a membership from everyone. The minimum is one dollar, but larger donations will be greatly appreciated.

Through the solicitations in the house-to-house canvass by a worker in the local Red Cross financial campaign, residents are afforded an opportunity to share in this great work with the least possible inconvenience. These workers, who are giving their time and energy in this noble cause, should be welcomed cordially into every home.

If Ulster county's quota of $37,000 is to be reached, it will be through the service of the volunteer Red Cross worker and your membership. Remember this when the worker visits your home.

Because of its work of mercy, the Red Cross drive is a challenge not only to our generosity but to our humanity.

It should not be necessary to mention that this appeal is one in which all should feel proud to share in and in which all should be happy to assist to the limit of his resources.

In addition to its normal program, the Red Cross this year has the Korean situation and also the civil defense activities. We all want the Red Cross to be prepared adequately when the demands upon the organization are made. And they will be if every citizen will do his part.

Very generous contributions are made to the Red Cross for different reasons.

A veteran may remember the blood transfusions that saved his life or that of a buddy. A mother whose son is serving overseas may recall the help received from the field director and the chapter in solving some family problem.

Many have seen the Red Cross in action in disaster-stricken communities.

Here in Ulster county a community of people living along the banks of the Esopus were just as thankful for the services of the Red Cross when their homes were washed away as were the people of Texas City, when the first appeal that came over the wire from the stricken community was "For God's sake, send the Red Cross."

The Red Cross deserves your support. Look for the volunteer worker so that you are not missed.

COMPARING STRENGTH

There is nothing new in the Russian accusation that the Western powers, particularly the United States, are armed and are building up their arms more strongly than Russia. But there is something new in the hint that Russia may be prepared to produce figures on its armed strength. This hint has been found by Western analysts in the recent exchange of notes between Moscow and London.

The possible Russian motive must immediately be questioned. Since the end of the war Moscow has steadfastly refused to talk about Russian armed strength except in the most general and uninformative terms. In addition it has persistently opposed any plan for international inspection of arms, armed forces and arms building. Attempts to work out international control of atomic and other weapons through the United Nations have been blocked by this Russian opposition to inspection and refusal to produce informative figures. If Russia is now ready to let its strength be known, why?

The move might be intended to prod the Western nations into revelations about their own strength. Secrets about Western strength are not very well guarded, however. The aim might be to try to prove to Western capitals that Russia really is stronger than we; it must be obvious even to the Russian mind that we do not believe this to be so. The purpose might be merely to achieve fresh propaganda value, to stall the Western arming effort if possible, and to divert attention from other matters.

If the Russian interest in comparison of armed strength has sincere motives, then Russia must come around to the principle of international inspection. If the Moscow interest is simply in propaganda and stalling, then its position on inspection will remain unchanged. This point, as before, is critical to the question whether the arms race can be called off in favor of controlled balance of strength.

REPUBLICANS AT ODDS

The Republican Party, since it lost the presidency in 1932, has missed opportunity after opportunity to regain the majority position because of really great differences among its leadership, but even more, because the presidency has become a lure that corrupts men.

Once a Republican is smitten by the virus of presidential ambition, his personality takes on the desperations of autointoxication. Perhaps that is not the science of it, but they look queer; they act queer; and they say things which bring joy to the heart of every Democrat. Republican candidates for the presidency usually talk themselves out of the job, and often they do it even before the convention.

That would not be such a catastrophe, one way or the other, if the Democrats came up with a worthy candidate. In 1944, they gave us a fourth term for the dying Roosevelt, who soon enough gave the country Yalta and his catafalque at Hyde Park. Any Republican with courage and conviction should have defeated Roosevelt in 1944, but Dewey muffed it.

Whereupon, Harry Truman became President and the Democrats have since been laboring upon a formula for defeating him without defeating themselves. At the 1948 Democratic convention, he was unwanted. But out of all the millions of Democrats in the United States, they seemed to be able to find no better, the choice narrowing between Harry Truman and Henry Wallace, with Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court as a lame runner-up. So they took Truman and have had no end of trouble since.

The Republicans nominated Thomas E. Dewey to run against Truman, hoping that his really fine record as an administrator in the state of New York would win him votes. But Dewey is a complex personality who probably, in his subconscious, is bored with much of the fripperies of politics and who runs counter to most of his party on international affairs.

The real strength of the Republican Party lies west of the Hudson river, while east of that lovely stream is a confusion of Europeans and European-minded Americans who are called "internationalists" by those who dislike them and "globalists" by themselves. And their heart is in the city of London. For psychological reasons, which I am not competent to analyze, Dewey, who comes from Owosso, Michigan, and should normally dislike this Wall Street-Park Avenue concept of life, has actually become its philosopher. That did much to defeat him in 1948 and has eliminated him from presidential prospects in 1952.

The Dewey-Stassen emphasis on General Eisenhower as the Republican candidate for the presidency is splitting this party wide open again and should be most comforting to the Democrats.

Here in New York, the Eisenhower candidacy is most popular, particularly among Republican businessmen, Democrats and Liberals. The reason for their excitement is that they fear that Robert A. Taft might be nominated. Even more, some of them fear that he might be elected. Such people as supported Willkie in 1940 and Stassen in 1948 tend to be for Eisenhower now. Dewey is publicly for Eisenhower. They will do anything to defeat Taft and I fear that anything might even mean electing a Democrat.

Their difficulty is, of course, that Eisenhower has put himself above party, and his protagonists are running a propaganda that he would only run if co-opted and that he would prefer to run on both parties. That is an offensive notion to most Americans who cannot believe that any human being is bigger than God, no matter who he is. Those who place General Eisenhower on that unfortunate pinnacle do him a disservice. He, I am sure, has no such aspirations.

Apart from that, the general will not say that he is a Republican nor has he registered as such. Even Wendell Willkie, the Tammany Democrat, switched and registered as a Republican. If General Eisenhower does not register as a Republican in the 1951 election, whether he is in Europe or here, it will be a strong argument against him. The Republicans, on the whole, would prefer someone who says that he belongs to them.

So there is a fight on and it is going to be very nasty and might even restore Harry Truman's good humor.

That Body of Yours

VITAMIN A NEEDED IN COLD WEATHER

Notwithstanding the great advancements made in medicine, there are some common sense, everyday methods that almost have disappeared. One of these is the old-fashioned practice of taking cod-liver oil during the cold weather. I have spoken before of seeing, many years ago, a number of boys in a preparatory school who, after lunch and dinner during the cold weather, went to the head table and took a spoonful of cod-liver oil from their own bottle. This was before the days of vitamin knowledge.

In Proceedings of The Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine, Dr. B. H. Ershoff states that experience has shown that requirements for a number of nutrients (foods) are greatly increased under conditions of low temperature. This is particularly true for some vitamins. An increased requirement for vitamin B—thiamine, pyrodoxine, and ascorbic acid—has been demonstrated after prolonged exposure to low temperature.

Experiments are presented on the effects of low temperature on the vitamin A requirement of laboratory rats. A study was made of animals fed purified rations lacking in vitamin A, the rate at which these vitamins left the body and the length of time the rat was able to do without vitamin A before it collapsed. The experiments were conducted in a cold room (35.6°F.) and at normal room temperature (73.4°F.).

It was found that (1) rats were depleted more rapidly under cold room conditions, (2) body weight at the time of depletion was less in the cold room than in room temperature, and (3) time before collapse occurred was decreased in the cold room temperature.

These experiments, because the rat's body closely resembles the human body in function, teach us the value of eating foods rich in vitamin A to sustain our strength and resistance to disease during the cold weather.

While cod-liver oil is one of the foods very rich in vitamin A, other foods rich in vitamin A which can be eaten by those who do not like cod-liver oil are: butter, cream, milk, cheese, egg yolk, liver, green and yellow vegetabes, tomatoes. Vitamin B foods to be eaten are: yeast, wheat germ, malted milk, ham, bacon, whole wheat bread.

Hip, Hip, Hooray!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It may be denied, but the army is still holding back the true casualty figures of our troops in Korea from the public. For example, nearly 12,000 men are missing who have not been listed in the casualty reports. The official figures also fail to include the noncombat casualties, which the army hasn't even compiled but which number into the thousands.

Even the late Gen. Walton Walker, called the Korean War's No. 1 casualty, wasn't officially counted as a casualty because he happened to be killed in a jeep accident. This is also true of more than 5,000 frostbite cases, who suffered so severely from frozen hands and feet that the Defense Department authorized the Purple Heart for them. Yet they are not included on the official casualty lists.

Most of the 12,000 missing men, still unannounced, disappeared during the December retreat from Seoul. However, one reason the army has withheld their names is that many are believed to be AWOL (absent without leave) rather than missing in action. For example, several "missing men" have turned up in the Pusan area, taking in USO entertainment and Red Cross hospitality. Others have bribed pilots to fly them back to Tokyo for unofficial "recuperation." Technically, some of these men could be arrested for desertion.

The latest official casualty toll is 50,675. However, by omitting everyone not killed or injured as a result of direct enemy action, the army has given a false picture of our casualty losses. These noncombat casualties plus the 12,000 unreported missing men would increase our casualty figure by nearly 50 per cent.

This column believes the American people can take the truth without sugar-coating from the army.

Note—Meanwhile, the State Department is secretly negotiating through the Swedish foreign office to exchange Chinese prisoners for American prisoners.

Phone-Rate Hearing Postponed

The public set a record last year in long-distance telephoning, particularly G.I.s calling home. As a result, Bell System profits were the highest in 21 years. Yet a move to share the benefits with the public by reducing long-distance rates has been knifed by Senate Majority Leader Ernest McFarland.

The inside story is that the Federal Communications Commission is trying to reduce the public telephone bill. Yet two weeks after the FCC ordered a hearing into interstate rates, McFarland sent Acting Commissioner Paul Walker a sharp letter of protest. This had the effect of an ultimatum to the FCC, since McFarland is not only Senate leader but also second in command of the Senate Commerce Committee, which has life-and-death power over the FCC.

As a result, the FCC postponed the hearing from April 16 to August 20, and is nervous about going ahead with an investigation.

Because of past FCC policing, the coast-to-coast day rate for three minutes has been reduced from $10.25 in 1936 to $2.50 today.

"Long-distance telephone service at rates which could be paid by the small users was a godsend to the men and women in the armed services during the war, and likewise to the parents whose principal contact during this trying period was through the long-distance telephone," Walker wrote back to McFarland. "It will likewise be true in the present national emergency when the long distance telephone will furnish the principal dependable person-to-person contact between parents and sons and daughters."

Acheson's Address

Dinner guests at Secretary of State Acheson's home got to swapping amusing experiences the other evening.

Starting off, Senator Magnuson of Washington told of an incident on the way to the Achesons. His cab was flagged down, he related, by the driver of a stalled gasoline truck. Sheepishly the driver admitted he was hauling 5,000 gallons of gasoline but had let his own tank run dry. Since he had no way to siphon gas from his cargo tank, he begged for a ride to the nearest gas station.

Acheson, amused by the story, was reminded of an incident that his night-secretary had just reported over the phone. Quoting the secretary, Acheson said that a reporter had called his office and inquired excitedly whether the secretary of state lived at 2839 P street, N.W. The answer was that Acheson lived at 2805 P street, N.W.

"Oh," sighed the reporter, obviously disappointed. "There's a big fire at 2839 P street."

Soviet Buildup

Inside reason the joint chiefs of staff abruptly ordered the 40th and 45th National Guard Divisions to Japan is the recent Soviet buildup on Sakhalin Island, just 40 miles north of Japan.

Reports from Japanese prisoners of war, released by the Russians, claim the daggerlike island has been converted into an air, submarine and amphibious training base.

Last December General MacArthur became alarmed at this menacing Soviet buildup and urgently cabled Washington for four National Guard divisions to be sent to Japan. The joint chiefs turned MacArthur down, claiming Europe had priority on new troops from the United States.

However, after the Russians seized a group of small islands off the northeast coast of Japan, the joint chiefs hastily reconsidered. These islands constitute the Habomai group, which Russia apparently will claim as part of the Kurile chain.

Helping Small Business

Veteran Washington observers would be a lot happier about the recent hurly-burly over helping small business if more was being done and less said about it. Here is a typical example involving one of our scarcest materials, aluminum, needed for aircraft and other defense equipment.

The National Production Authority has drastically restricted the manufacture of aluminum clothespins, coasters, toys, furniture and other things produced chiefly by little business firms. No patriotic American — including small business fabricators, who must either fold up or use a substitute material—will argue with this order.

Defense uses of aluminum have priority over toys and clothespins.

However, the N.P.A. so far has ordered only moderate restriction on the manufacture of aluminum pots and pans, produced chiefly by the Wearever Company, a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of America, though millions of pounds of aluminum are used yearly for kitchen utensils.

The N.P.A. has also banned the use of aluminum roofing and siding in homes in which little business firms specialize. However, no such restriction affects industrial siding and corrugated roofing for barns and factories, produced chiefly by the big Reynolds and Kaiser Companies.

Washington Pipeline

The Glenn Martin Company will mass-produce the amazing new British jet bomber, the Canberra. Put out by the English Electric Co., the Canberra is the first plane designed by that company since 1918. Twelve a month are now being produced in England. Martin will turn out 12 a week within a short time.....Ike Eisenhower's biggest beef is that only a fifth of our troops are used for combat, while the Soviet percentage is 75 per cent.....Anna Rosenberg, the Assistant Secretary of Defense, is the star attraction at the Pentagon and is trotted out for brief speeches at all big-time gatherings ...One of the colorful veterans of Congress, Rep. Robert "Muley" Doughton of North Carolina, looked over the lineup against reciprocal trade agreements on the House floor and whispered in a voice that carried to the galleries: "The Republicans got enough votes today to repeal the 10th commandment."

'Impropriety' Rather Than 'Illegality' Is Question Raised in RFC Hearing

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 7 — There was nothing "illegal" about the fact that Senator Murray, Democrat, of Montana urged that a loan by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be approved for a hotel company which his son served as a lawyer and received a $21,000 fee.

The question will be raised, however, as to whether there was an "impropriety" on the part of the Montana senator. The answer will depend on how much of an influence of impropriety there is in the action of the members of the RFC—whether they were really influenced by the congressional approach.

This goes to the heart of various forms of lobbying in the nation's capital. It isn't the lobbying that's improper. It's the receptiveness of an official to unwarranted influence of any kind which raises the real issue.

By and large, officials are honest. Those with discretionary powers given them under the laws of Congress are always under pressure to make this or that decision favorable to an applicant.

What Senator Murray did in going to the RFC was what some other members of Congress have been doing. What his son did was the same thing as any lawyer or paid lobbyist does—his object is to get favorable action. Like any lawyer here, he is paid to persuade. On Capitol Hill every day, members of Congress, besieged by their constituents, write letters to the executive departments and agencies and make a case for favorable action or negative action. Again and again lawyers come to senators and representatives and ask their intercession with governmental agencies both for constituents and persons outside their respective states.

The vice of the whole system is not that efforts are made to get congressional support for or opposition to action to be taken by executive agencies but how that congressional influence is exerted. If it is confined to letter writing or even to persuasive conversation, it is not improper. Government officials must listen to all who have pertinent information or argument to give them on vital problems confronting them. But if the member of Congress threatens to cut down appropriations of the agency unless he has his way or makes a promise of some other favor to be given the official by him or anyone else, this is a naked bribe. The federal statutes cover such crimes and provide for prosecution.

It is whether the member of Congress is himself susceptible to improper influence or invulnerable to improper pressures on legislation which constitutes the real problem that has to be examined in each case. To forbid lobbying or petitioning is wrong—though registration to require full knowledge and identification of lobbyists is correct. To forbid members of Congress to communicate with executive agencies on matters of vital concern to their constituents or friends would be wrong—and to forbid their sons to engage in law business here would be wrong, too.

Any member of Congress, on the other hand, who does have a relative engaged in practice before government departments and wishes to avoid criticism should, strictly speaking, say to any government official with whom he happens to communicate in the course of his daily routine that he hopes the application or problem will be considered on its merits and without giving any weight to his relationship to the lawyer who presents the matter.

In judicial circles it is customary for a judge to disqualify himself from sitting on any case where a member of his family may be a litigant or a lawyer for either party. In legislative circles no such practice exists.

In fairness to Senator Murray of Montana, it should be said that, if his intervention was improper, then standards should be proclaimed by the Senate itself which make the rules concerning the conduct of its own members. Maybe the time has come for the Senate and the House to draw up rules of conduct—setting forth perhaps whether members themselves may represent clients in state courts and then, without fee, intervene in their behalf on matters which those clients have before the federal government.

Maybe the inference of lack of integrity is in itself too sweeping just because a member of Congress intervenes for a constituent or friend in a financial transaction. Shall that constituent or friend be stopped, too, from expressing his gratitude later on in making a contribution to the congressman's campaign? These matters introduce many ramifications.

The all-important question in the final analysis is whether government officials in the executive agencies are themselves men of integrity or susceptible to political influence. Most of them are beyond reproach. It is, in every such case, a matter of simple honesty, and there are many more honest than dishonest people hereabouts.

Members of Congress may ask but members of the RFC should refuse if a loan application is without merit. Conversely, because an application has the backing of a member of Congress doesn't necessarily make it an unsound loan.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A time has come in the decline of this republic when a law conceived in fraud should be held in contempt and set at naught by so many of the people that the government will be afraid to prosecute them. I refer to the expansion of the Social Security Act (a fraud of itself), whereby the lawn-boy, the handyman, the cleaning woman, the baby-sitter, and casual workers of many other petty classifications to the number of millions, are supposed to be docked 1½ per cent of their pay by the employer, who is then supposed to match this amount and to send the total to the treasury.

The worker's portion is stolen from him by the employer, who thus becomes an unwilling accomplice of the master-crook, the government. The employer's portion is extorted from him by the same master-crook. The worker does not want to buy the government's social "insurance." If he does want to buy it, he should go to a government agency and buy it, for himself, with his eyes open. He is a free citizen. In view of all the money that has been spent to "educate" him, he should be considered intelligent enough to decide whether he wants to buy this insurance. If Congress thinks he is too dam dumb, as Harry Hopkins so neatly put it, let Congress state that opinion on a resolution.

The employer has no duty to pay any portion of the cost of this fraudulent insurance. The employer and the employe are all square on pay night. The housewife who hires a baby-sitter or cleaning woman has absolutely no moral or constitutional duty to pay 50 per cent of the cost of that person's social insurance, rent, grocery bill or movie admissions. It would be just as reasonable to ask these employes to pay for insurance on the housewife. The law is class law, obviously and flagrantly unconstitutional. It should be laughed to scorn as prohibition was.

In this instance, the process combines two crimes under legal compulsion by a government which is supposed to set a decent moral example. First, the employer must commit theft for the government. Next, she must submit to extortion by the government. To top it all, the American housewife and mother with plenty to do must perform difficult work

That would not be such a catastrophe, one way or the other, if the Democrats came up with a worthy candidate. In 1944, they gave us a fourth term for the dying Roosevelt, who soon enough gave the country Yalta and his catafalque at Hyde Park. Any Republican with courage and conviction should have defeated Roosevelt in 1944, but Dewey muffed it.

Whereupon, Harry Truman became President and the Democrats have since been laboring upon a formula for defeating him without defeating themselves. At the 1948 Democratic convention, he was unwanted. But out of all the millions of Democrats in the United States, they seemed to be able to find no better, the choice narrowing between Harry Truman and Henry Wallace, with Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court as a lame runner-up. So they took Truman and have had no end of trouble since.

The Republicans nominated Thomas E. Dewey to run against Truman, hoping that his really fine record as an administrator in the state of New York would win him votes. But Dewey is a complex personality who probably, in his subconscious, is bored with much of the fripperies of politics and who runs counter to most of his party on international affairs.

The real strength of the Republican Party lies west of the Hudson river, while east of that lovely stream is a confusion of Europeans and European-minded Americans who are called "internationalists" by those who dislike them and "globalists" by themselves. And their heart is in the city of London. For psychological reasons, which I am not competent to analyze, Dewey, who comes from Owosso, Michigan, and should normally dislike this Wall Street-Park Avenue concept of life, has actually become its philosopher. That did much to defeat him in 1948 and has eliminated him from presidential prospects in 1952.

The Dewey-Stassen emphasis on General Eisenhower as the Republican candidate for the presidency is splitting this party wide open again and should be most comforting to the Democrats.

Here in New York, the Eisenhower candidacy is most popular, particularly among Republican businessmen, Democrats and Liberals. The reason for their excitement is that they fear that Robert A. Taft might be nominated. Even more, some of them fear that he might be elected. Such people as supported Willkie in 1940 and Stassen in 1948 tend to be for Eisenhower now. Dewey is publicly for Eisenhower. They will do anything to defeat Taft and I fear that anything might even mean electing a Democrat.

Their difficulty is, of course, that Eisenhower has put himself above party, and his protagonists are running a propaganda that he would only run if co-opted and that he would prefer to run on both parties. That is an offensive notion to most Americans who cannot believe that any human being is bigger than God, no matter who he is. Those who place General Eisenhower on that unfortunate pinnacle do him a disservice. He, I am sure, has no such aspirations.

Apart from that, the general will not say that he is a Republican nor has he registered as such. Even Wendell Willkie, the Tammany Democrat, switched and registered as a Republican. If General Eisenhower does not register as a Republican in the 1951 election, whether he is in Europe or here, it will be a strong argument against him. The Republicans, on the whole, would prefer someone who says that he belongs to them.

So there is a fight on and it is going to be very nasty and might even restore Harry Truman's good humor.

VITAMIN A NEEDED IN COLD WEATHER

Notwithstanding the great advancements made in medicine, there are some common sense, everyday methods that almost have disappeared. One of these is the old-fashioned practice of taking cod-liver oil during the cold weather. I have spoken before of seeing, many years ago, a number of boys in a preparatory school who, after lunch and dinner during the cold weather, went to the head table and took a spoonful of cod-liver oil from their own bottle. This was before the days of vitamin knowledge.

In Proceedings of The Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine, Dr. B. H. Ershoff states that experience has shown that requirements for a number of nutrients (foods) are greatly increased under conditions of low temperature. This is particularly true for some vitamins. An increased requirement for vitamin B—thiamine, pyrodoxine, and ascorbic acid—has been demonstrated after prolonged exposure to low temperature.

Experiments are presented on the effects of low temperature on the vitamin A requirement of laboratory rats. A study was made of animals fed purified rations lacking in vitamin A, the rate at which these vitamins left the body and the length of time the rat was able to do without vitamin A before it collapsed. The experiments were conducted in a cold room (35.6°F.) and at normal room temperature (73.4°F.).

It was found that (1) rats were depleted more rapidly under cold room conditions, (2) body weight at the time of depletion was less in the cold room than in room temperature, and (3) time before collapse occurred was decreased in the cold room temperature.

These experiments, because the rat's body closely resembles the human body in function, teach us the value of eating foods rich in vitamin A to sustain our strength and resistance to disease during the cold weather.

While cod-liver oil is one of the foods very rich in vitamin A, other foods rich in vitamin A which can be eaten by those who do not like cod-liver oil are: butter, cream, milk, cheese, egg yolk, liver, green and yellow vegetabes, tomatoes. Vitamin B foods to be eaten are: yeast, wheat germ, malted milk, ham, bacon, whole wheat bread.

Hip, Hip, Hooray!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It may be denied, but the army is still holding back the true casualty figures of our troops in Korea from the public. For example, nearly 12,000 men are missing who have not been listed in the casualty reports. The official figures also fail to include the noncombat casualties, which the army hasn't even compiled but which number into the thousands.

Even the late Gen. Walton Walker, called the Korean War's No. 1 casualty, wasn't officially counted as a casualty because he happened to be killed in a jeep accident. This is also true of more than 5,000 frostbite cases, who suffered so severely from frozen hands and feet that the Defense Department authorized the Purple Heart for them. Yet they are not included on the official casualty lists.

Most of the 12,000 missing men, still unannounced, disappeared during the December retreat from Seoul. However, one reason the army has withheld their names is that many are believed to be AWOL (absent without leave) rather than missing in action. For example, several "missing men" have turned up in the Pusan area, taking in USO entertainment and Red Cross hospitality. Others have bribed pilots to fly them back to Tokyo for unofficial "recuperation." Techically, some of these men could be arrested for desertion.

The latest official casualty toll is 50,675. However, by omitting everyone not killed or injured as a result of direct enemy action, the army has given a false picture of our casualty losses. These noncombat casualties plus the 12,000 unreported missing men would increase our casualty figure by nearly 50 per cent.

This column believes the American people can take the truth without sugar-coating from the army.

Note—Meanwhile, the State Department is secretly negotiating through the Swedish foreign office to exchange Chinese prisoners for American prisoners.

Phone-Rate Hearing Postponed

The public set a record last year in long-distance telephoning, particularly G.I.s calling home. As a result, Bell System profits were the highest in 21 years. Yet a move to share the benefits with the public by reducing long-distance rates has been knifed by Senate Majority Leader Ernest McFarland.

The inside story is that the Federal Communications Commission is trying to reduce the public telephone bill. Yet two weeks after the FCC ordered a hearing into interstate rates, McFarland sent Acting Commissioner Paul Walker a sharp letter of protest. This had the effect of an ultimatum to the FCC, since McFarland is not only Senate leader but also second in command of the Senate Commerce Committee, which has life-and-death power over the FCC.

As a result, the FCC postponed the hearing from April 16 to August 20, and is nervous about going ahead with an investigation.

Because of past FCC policing, the coast-to-coast day rate for three minutes has been reduced from $10.25 in 1936 to $2.50 today.

"Long-distance telephone service at rates which could be paid by the small users was a godsend to the men and women in the armed services during the war, and likewise to the parents whose principal contact during this trying period was through the long-distance telephone," Walker wrote back to McFarland. "It will likewise be true in the present national emergency when the long distance telephone will furnish the principal dependable person-to-person contact between parents and sons and daughters."

Acheson's Address

Dinner guests at Secretary of State Acheson's home got to swapping amusing experiences the other evening.

Starting off, Senator Magnuson of Washington told of an incident on the way to the Achesons. His cab was flagged down, he related, by the driver of a stalled gasoline truck. Sheepishly the driver admitted he was hauling 5,000 gallons of gasoline but had let his own tank run dry. Since he had no way to siphon gas from his cargo tank, he begged for a ride to the nearest gas station.

Acheson, amused by the story, was reminded of an incident that his night-secretary had just reported over the phone. Quoting the secretary, Acheson said that a reporter had called his office and inquired excitedly whether the secretary of state lived at 2839 P street, N.W. The answer was that Acheson lived at 2805 P street, N.W.

"Oh," sighed the reporter, obviously disappointed. "There's a big fire at 2839 P street."

Soviet Buildup

Inside reason the joint chiefs of staff abruptly ordered the 40th and 45th National Guard Divisions to Japan is the recent Soviet buildup on Sakhalin Island, just 40 miles north of Japan.

Reports from Japanese prisoners of war, released by the Russians, claim the daggerlike island has been converted into an air, submarine and amphibious training base.

Last December General MacArthur became alarmed at this menacing Soviet buildup and urgently cabled Washington for four National Guard divisions to be sent to Japan. The joint chiefs turned MacArthur down, claiming Europe had priority on new troops from the United States.

However, after the Russians seized a group of small islands off the northeast coast of Japan, the joint chiefs hastily reconsidered. These islands constitute the Habomai group, which Russia apparently will claim as part of the Kurile chain.

Helping Small Business

Veteran Washington observers would be a lot happier about the recent hurly-burly over helping small business if more was being done and less said about it. Here is a typical example involving one of our scarcest materials, aluminum, needed for aircraft and other defense equipment.

The National Production Authority has drastically restricted the manufacture of aluminum clothespins, coasters, toys, furniture and other things produced chiefly by little business firms. No patriotic American — including small business fabricators, who must either fold up or use a substitute material—will argue with this order.

Defense uses of aluminum have priority over toys and clothespins.

However, the N.P.A. so far has ordered only moderate restriction on the manufacture of aluminum pots and pans, produced chiefly by the Wearever Company, a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of America, though millions of pounds of aluminum are used yearly for kitchen utensils.

The N.P.A. has also banned the use of aluminum roofing and siding in homes in which little business firms specialize. However, no such restriction affects industrial siding and corrugated roofing for barns and factories, produced chiefly by the big Reynolds and Kaiser Companies.

Washington Pipeline

The Glenn Martin Company will mass-produce the amazing new British jet bomber, the Canberra. Put out by the English Electric Co., the Canberra is the first plane designed by that company since 1918. Twelve a month are now being produced in England. Martin will turn out 12 a week within a short time.....Ike Eisenhower's biggest beef is that only a fifth of our troops are used for combat, while the Soviet percentage is 75 per cent.....Anna Rosenberg, the Assistant Secretary of Defense, is the star attraction at the Pentagon and is trotted out for brief speeches at all big-time gatherings...One of the colorful veterans of Congress, Rep. Robert "Muley" Doughton of North Carolina, looked over the lineup against reciprocal trade agreements on the House floor and whispered in a voice that carried to the galleries: "The Republicans got enough votes today to repeal the 10th commandment."

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 7 — There was nothing "illegal" about the fact that Senator Murray, Democrat, of Montana urged that a loan by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be approved for a hotel company which his son served as a lawyer and received a $21,000 fee.

The question will be raised, however, as to whether there was an "impropriety" on the part of the Montana senator. The answer will depend on how much of an influence of impropriety there is in the action of the members of the RFC—whether they were really influenced by the congressional approach.

This goes to the heart of various forms of lobbying in the nation's capital. It isn't the lobbying that's improper. It's the receptiveness of an official to unwarranted influence of any kind which raises the real issue.

By and large, officials are honest. Those with discretionary powers given them under the laws of Congress are always under pressure to make this or that decision favorable to an applicant.

What Senator Murray did in going to the RFC was what some other members of Congress have been doing. What his son did was the same thing as any lawyer or paid lobbyist does—his object is to get favorable action. Like any lawyer here, he is paid to persuade. On Capitol Hill every day, members of Congress, besieged by their constituents, write letters to the executive departments and agencies and make a case for favorable action or negative action. Again and again lawyers come to senators and representatives and ask their intercession with governmental agencies both for constituents and persons outside their respective states.

The vice of the whole system is not that efforts are made to get congressional support for or opposition to action to be taken by executive agencies but how that congressional influence is exerted. If it is confined to letter writing or even to persuasive conversation, it is not improper. Government officials must listen to all who have pertinent information or argument to give them on vital problems confronting them. But if the member of Congress threatens to cut down appropriations of the agency unless he has his way or makes a promise of some other favor to be given the official by him or anyone else, this is a naked bribe. The federal statutes cover such crimes and provide for prosecution.

It is whether the member of Congress is himself susceptible to improper influence or invulnerable to improper pressures on legislation which constitutes the real problem that has to be examined in each case. To forbid lobbying or petitioning is wrong—though registration to require full knowledge and identification of lobbyists is correct. To forbid members of Congress to communicate with executive agencies on matters of vital concern to their constituents or friends would be wrong—and to forbid their sons to engage in law business here would be wrong, too.

Any member of Congress, on the other hand, who does have a relative engaged in practice before government departments and wishes to avoid criticism should, strictly speaking, say to any government official with whom he happens to communicate in the course of his daily routine that he hopes the application or problem will be considered on its merits and without giving any weight to his relationship to the lawyer who presents the matter.

In judicial circles it is customary for a judge to disqualify himself from sitting on any case where a member of his family may be a litigant or a lawyer for either party. In legislative circles no such practice exists.

In fairness to Senator Murray of Montana, it should be said that, if his intervention was improper, then standards should be proclaimed by the Senate itself which make the rules concerning the conduct of its own members. Maybe the time has come for the Senate and the House to draw up rules of conduct—setting forth perhaps whether members themselves may represent clients in state courts and then, without fee, intervene in their behalf on matters which those clients have before the federal government.

Maybe the inference of lack of integrity is in itself too sweeping just because a member of Congress intervenes for a constituent or friend in a financial transaction. Shall that constituent or friend be stopped, too, from expressing his gratitude later on in making a contribution to the congressman's campaign? These matters introduce many ramifications.

The all-important question in the final analysis is whether government officials in the executive agencies are themselves men of integrity or susceptible to political influence. Most of them are beyond reproach. It is, in every such case, a matter of simple honesty, and there are many more honest than dishonest people hereabouts.

Members of Congress may ask but members of the RFC should refuse if a loan application is without merit. Conversely, because an application has the backing of a member of Congress doesn't necessarily make it an unsound loan.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A time has come in the decline of this republic when a law conceived in fraud should be held in contempt and set at naught by so many of the people that the government will be afraid to prosecute them. I refer to the expansion of the Social Security Act (a fraud of itself), whereby the lawn-boy, the handyman, the cleaning woman, the baby-sitter, and casual workers of many other petty classifications to the number of millions, are supposed to be docked 1½ per cent of their pay by the employer, who is then supposed to match this amount and to send the total to the treasury.

The worker's portion is stolen from him by the employer, who thus becomes an unwilling accomplice of the master-crook, the government. The employer's portion is extorted from him by the same master-crook. The worker does not want to buy the government's social "insurance." If he does want to buy it, he should go to a government agency and buy it, for himself, with his eyes open. He is a free citizen. In view of all the money that has been spent to "educate" him, he should be considered intelligent enough to decide whether he wants to buy this insurance. If Congress thinks he is too dam dumb, as Harry Hopkins so neatly put it, let Congress state that opinion on a resolution.

The employer has no duty to pay any portion of the cost of this fraudulent insurance. The employer and the employe are all square on pay night. The housewife who hires a baby-sitter or cleaning woman has absolutely no moral or constitutional duty to pay 50 per cent of the cost of that person's social insurance, rent, grocery bill or movie admissions. It would be just as reasonable to ask these employes to pay for insurance on the housewife. The law is class law, obviously and flagrantly unconstitutional. It should be laughed to scorn as prohibition was.

In this instance, the process combines two crimes under legal compulsion by a government which is supposed to set a decent moral example. First, the employer must commit theft for the government. Next, she must submit to extortion by the government. To top it all, the American housewife and mother with plenty to do must perform difficult work

Ulster county's quota in the current Red Cross drive is $37,000 and to raise that amount some 800 volunteer workers will concentrate on individual memberships.

County Chairman Vincent G. Connelly has announced that the usual receptacles will not be found in places of public assembly and stores and no collection will be taken in factories.

The subject is to obtain a membership from everyone. The minimum is one dollar, but larger donations will be greatly appreciated.

Through the solicitations in the house-to-house canvass by a worker in the local Red Cross financial campaign, residents are afforded an opportunity to share in this great work with the least possible inconvenience. These workers, who are giving their time and energy in this noble cause, should be welcomed cordially into every home.

If Ulster county's quota of $37,000 is to be reached, it will be through the service of the volunteer Red Cross worker and your membership. Remember this when the worker visits your home.

Because of its work of mercy, the Red Cross drive is a challenge not only to our generosity but to our humanity.

It should not be necessary to mention that this appeal is one in which all should feel proud to share in and in which all should be happy to assist to the limit of his resources.

In addition to its normal program, the Red Cross this year has the Korean situation and also the civil defense activities. We all want the Red Cross to be prepared adequately when the demands upon the organization are made. And they will be if every citizen will do his part.

Very generous contributions are made to the Red Cross for different reasons.

A veteran may remember the blood transfusions that saved his life or that of a buddy. A mother whose son is serving overseas may recall the help received from the field director and the chapter in solving some family problem.

Many have seen the Red Cross in action in disaster-stricken communities.

Here in Ulster county a community of people living along the banks of the Esopus were just as thankful for the services of the Red Cross when their homes were washed away as were the people of Texas City, when the first appeal that came over the wire from the stricken community was "For God's sake, send the Red Cross."

The Red Cross deserves your support. Look for the volunteer worker so that you are not missed.

COMPARING STRENGTH

There is nothing new in the Russian accusation that the Western powers, particularly the United States, are armed and are building up their arms more strongly than Russia. But there is something new in the hint that Russia may be prepared to produce figures on its armed strength. This hint has been found by Western analysts in the recent exchange of notes between Moscow and London.

The possible Russian motive must immediately be questioned. Since the end of the war Moscow has steadfastly refused to talk about Russian armed strength except in the most general and uninformative terms. In addition it has persistently opposed any plan for international inspection of arms, armed forces and arms building. Attempts to work out international control of atomic and other weapons through the United Nations have been blocked by this Russian opposition to inspection and refusal to produce informative figures. If Russia is now ready to let its strength be known, why?

The move might be intended to prod the Western nations into revelations about their own strength. Secrets about Western strength are not very well guarded, however. The aim might be to try to prove to Western capitals that Russia really is stronger than we; it must be obvious even to the Russian mind that we do not believe this to be so. The purpose might be merely to achieve fresh propaganda value, to stall the Western arming effort if possible, and to divert attention from other matters.

If the Russian interest in comparison of armed strength has sincere motives, then Russia must come around to the principle of international inspection. If the Moscow interest is simply in propaganda and stalling, then its position on inspection will remain unchanged. This point, as before, is critical to the question whether the arms race can be called off in favor of controlled balance of strength.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

REPUBLICANS AT ODDS

The Republican Party, since it lost the presidency in 1932, has missed opportunity after opportunity to regain the majority position because of really great differences among its leadership, but even more, because the presidency has become a lure that corrupts men.

Once a Republican is smitten by the virus of presidential ambition, his personality takes on the desperations of autointoxication. Perhaps that is not the science of it, but they look queer; they act queer; and they say things which bring joy to the heart of every Democrat. Republican candidates for the presidency usually talk themselves out of the job, and often they do it even before the convention.

That would not be such a catastrophe, one way or the other, if the Democrats came up with a worthy candidate. In 1944, they gave us a fourth term for the dying Roosevelt, who soon enough gave the country Yalta and his catafalque at Hyde Park. Any Republican with courage and conviction should have defeated Roosevelt in 1944, but Dewey muffed it.

Whereupon, Harry Truman became President and the Democrats have since been laboring upon a formula for defeating him without defeating themselves. At the 1948 Democratic convention, he was unwanted. But out of all the millions of Democrats in the United States, they seemed to be able to find no better, the choice narrowing between Harry Truman and Henry Wallace, with Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court as a lame runner-up. So they took Truman and have had no end of trouble since.

The Republicans nominated Thomas E. Dewey to run against Truman, hoping that his really fine record as an administrator in the state of New York would win him votes. But Dewey is a complex personality who probably, in his subconscious, is bored with much of the fripperies of politics and who runs counter to most of his party on international affairs.

The real strength of the Republican Party lies west of the Hudson river, while east of that lovely stream is a confusion of Europeans and European-minded Americans who are called "internationalists" by those who dislike them and "globalists" by themselves. And their heart is in the city of London. For psychological reasons, which I am not competent to analyze, Dewey, who comes from Owosso, Michigan, and should normally dislike this Wall Street-Park Avenue concept of life, has actually become its philosopher. That did much to defeat him in 1948 and has eliminated him from presidential prospects in 1952.

The Dewey-Stassen emphasis on General Eisenhower as the Republican candidate for the presidency is splitting this party wide open again and should be most comforting to the Democrats.

Here in New York, the Eisenhower candidacy is most popular, particularly among Republican businessmen, Democrats and Liberals. The reason for their excitement is that they fear that Robert A. Taft might be nominated. Even more, some of them fear that he might be elected. Such people as supported Willkie in 1940 and Stassen in 1948 tend to be for Eisenhower now. Dewey is publicly for Eisenhower. They will do anything to defeat Taft and I fear that anything might even mean electing a Democrat.

Their difficulty is, of course, that Eisenhower has put himself above party, and his protagonists are running a propaganda that he would only run if co-opted and that he would prefer to run on both parties. That is an offensive notion to most Americans who cannot believe that any human being is bigger than God, no matter who he is. Those who place General Eisenhower on that unfortunate pinnacle do him a disservice. He, I am sure, has no such aspirations.

Apart from that, the general will not say that he is a Republican nor has he registered as such. Even Wendell Willkie, the Tammany Democrat, switched and registered as a Republican. If General Eisenhower does not register as a Republican in the 1951 election, whether he is in Europe or here, it will be a strong argument against him. The Republicans, on the whole, would prefer someone who says that he belongs to them.

So there is a fight on and it is going to be very nasty and might even restore Harry Truman's good humor.

VITAMIN A NEEDED IN COLD WEATHER

Notwithstanding the great advancements made in medicine, there are some common sense, everyday methods that almost have disappeared. One of these is the old-fashioned practice of taking cod-liver oil during the cold weather. I have spoken before of seeing, many years ago, a number of boys in a preparatory school who, after lunch and dinner during the cold weather, went to the head table and took a spoonful of cod-liver oil from their own bottle. This was before the days of vitamin knowledge.

In Proceedings of The Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine, Dr. B. H. An increased requirement for vitamin B—thiamine, pyrodoxine, and ascórbic acid—has been demonstrated after prolonged exposure to low temperature.

Experiments are presented on the effects of low temperature on the vitamin A requirement of laboratory rats. A study was made of animals fed purified rations lacking in vitamin A, the rate at which these vitamins left the body and the length of time the rat was able to do without vitamin A before it collapsed. The experiments were conducted in a cold room (35.6°F.) and at normal room temperature (73.4°F.).

It was found that (1) rats were depleted more rapidly under cold room conditions, (2) body weight at the time of depletion was less in the cold room than in room temperature, and (3) time before collapse occurred was decreased in the cold room temperature.

These experiments, because the rat's body closely resembles the human body in function, teach us the value of eating foods rich in vitamin A to sustain our strength and resistance to disease during the cold weather.

While cod-liver oil is one of the foods very rich in vitamin A, other foods rich in vitamin A which can be eaten by those who do not like cod-liver oil are: butter, cream, milk, cheese, egg yolk, liver, green and yellow vegetabes, tomatoes. Vitamin B foods to be eaten are: yeast, wheat germ, malted milk, ham, bacon, whole wheat bread.

For example, nearly 12,000 men are missing who have not been listed in the casualty reports. The official figures also fail to include the noncombat casualties, which the army hasn't even compiled but which number into the thousands.

Even the late Gen. Walton Walker, called the Korean War's No. 1 casualty, wasn't officially counted as a casualty because he happened to be killed in a jeep accident. This is also true of more than 5,000 frostbite cases, who suffered so severely from frozen hands and feet that the Defense Department authorized the Purple Heart for them. Yet they are not included on the official casualty lists.

Most of the 12,000 missing men, still unannounced, disappeared during the December retreat from Seoul. However, one reason the army has withheld their names is that many are believed to be AWOL (absent without leave) rather than missing in action. For example, several "missing men" have turned up in the Pusan area, taking in USO entertainment and Red Cross hospitality. Others have bribed pilots to fly them back to Tokyo for unofficial "recuperation." Technically, some of these men could be arrested for desertion.

The latest official casualty toll is 50,675. However, by omitting everyone not killed or injured as a result of direct enemy action, the army has given a false picture of our casualty losses. These noncombat casualties plus the 12,000 unreported missing men would increase our casualty figure by nearly 50 per cent.

This column believes the American people can take the truth without sugar-coating from the army.

Note—Meanwhile, the State Department is secretly negotiating through the Swedish foreign office to exchange Chinese prisoners for American prisoners.

Phone-Rate Hearing Postponed

The public set a record last year in long-distance telephoning, particularly G.I.s calling home. As a result, Bell System profits were the highest in 21 years. Yet a move to share the benefits with the public by reducing long-distance rates has been knifed by Senate Majority Leader Ernest McFarland.

The inside story is that the Federal Communications Commission is trying to reduce the public telephone bill. Yet two weeks after the FCC ordered a hearing into interstate rates, McFarland sent Acting Commissioner Paul Walker a sharp letter of protest. This had the effect of an ultimatum to the FCC, since McFarland is not only Senate leader but also second in command of the Senate Commerce Committee, which has life-and-death power over the FCC.

As a result, the FCC postponed the hearing from April 16 to August 20, and is nervous about going ahead with an investigation.

Because of past FCC policing, the coast-to-coast day rate for three minutes has been reduced from $10.25 in 1936 to $2.50 today.

"Long-distance telephone service at rates which could be paid by the small users was a godsend to the men and women in the armed services during the war, and likewise to the parents whose principal contact during this trying period was through the long-distance telephone," Walker wrote back to McFarland. "It will likewise be true in the present national emergency when the long distance telephone will furnish the principal dependable person-to-person contact between parents and sons and daughters."

Acheson's Address

Dinner guests at Secretary of State Acheson's home got to swapping amusing experiences the other evening.

Starting off, Senator Magnuson of Washington told of an incident on the way to the Achesons. His cab was flagged down, he related, by the driver of a stalled gasoline truck. Sheepishly the driver admitted he was hauling 5,000 gallons of gasoline but had let his own tank run dry. Since he had no way to siphon gas from his cargo tank, he begged for a ride to the nearest gas station.

Acheson, amused by the story, was reminded of an incident that his night-secretary had just reported over the phone. Quoting the secretary, Acheson said that a reporter had called his office and inquired excitedly whether the secretary of state lived at 2839 P street, N.W. The answer was that Acheson lived at 2805 P street, N.W.

"Oh," sighed the reporter, obviously disappointed. "There's a big fire at 2839 P street."

Soviet Buildup

Inside reason the joint chiefs of staff abruptly ordered the 40th and 45th National Guard Divisions to Japan is the recent Soviet buildup on Sakhalin Island, just 40 miles north of Japan.

Reports from Japanese prisoners of war, released by the Russians, claim the daggerlike island has been converted into an air, submarine and amphibious training base.

Last December General MacArthur became alarmed at this menacing Soviet buildup and urgently cabled Washington for four National Guard divisions to be sent to Japan. The joint chiefs turned MacArthur down, claiming Europe had priority on new troops from the United States.

However, after the Russians seized a group of small islands off the northeast coast of Japan, the joint chiefs hastily reconsidered. These islands constitute the Habomai group, which Russia apparently will claim as part of the Kurile chain.

Helping Small Business

Veteran Washington observers would be a lot happier about the recent hurly-burly over helping small business if more was being done and less said about it. Here is a typical example involving one of our scarcest materials, aluminum, needed for aircraft and other defense equipment.

The National Production Authority has drastically restricted the manufacture of aluminum clothespins, coasters, toys, furniture and other things produced chiefly by little business firms. No patriotic American — including small business fabricators, who must either fold up or use a substitute material—will argue with this order.

Defense uses of aluminum have priority over toys and clothespins.

However, the N.P.A. so far has ordered only moderate restriction on the manufacture of aluminum pots and pans, produced chiefly by the Wearever Company, a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of America, though millions of pounds of aluminum are used yearly for kitchen utensils.

The N.P.A. has also banned the use of aluminum roofing and siding in homes in which little business firms specialize. However, no such restriction affects industrial siding and corrugated roofing for barns and factories, produced chiefly by the big Reynolds and Kaiser Companies.

The Glenn Martin Company will mass-produce the amazing new British jet bomber, the Canberra. Put out by the English Electric Co., the Canberra is the first plane designed by that company since 1918. Twelve a month are now being produced in England. Martin will turn out 12 a week within a short time.....Ike Eisenhower's biggest beef is that only a fifth of our troops are used for combat, while the Soviet percentage is 75 per cent.....Anna Rosenberg, the Assistant Secretary of Defense, is the star attraction at the Pentagon and is trotted out for brief speeches at all big-time gatherings ...One of the colorful veterans of Congress, Rep. Robert "Muley" Doughton of North Carolina, looked over the lineup against reciprocal trade agreements on the House floor and whispered in a voice that carried to the galleries: "The Republicans got enough votes today to repeal the 10th commandment."

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 7 — There was nothing "illegal" about the fact that Senator Murray, Democrat, of Montana urged that a loan by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be approved for a hotel company which his son served as a lawyer and received a $21,000 fee.

The question will be raised, however, as to whether there was an "impropriety" on the part of the Montana senator. The answer will depend on how much of an influence of impropriety there is in the action of the members of the RFC—whether they were really influenced by the congressional approach.

This goes to the heart of various forms of lobbying in the nations' capital. It isn't the lobbying that's improper. It's the receptiveness of an official to unwarranted influence of any kind which raises the real issue.

By and large, officials are honest. Those with discretionary powers given them under the laws of Congress are always under pressure to make this or that decision favorable to an applicant.

What Senator Murray did in going to the RFC was what some other members of Congress have been doing. What his son did was the same thing as any lawyer or paid lobbyist does—his object is to get favorable action. Like any lawyer here, he is paid to persuade. On Capitol Hill every day, members of Congress, besieged by their constituents, write letters to the executive departments and agencies and make a case for favorable action or negative action. Again and again lawyers come to senators and representatives and ask their intercession with governmental agencies both for constituents and persons outside their respective states.

The vice of the whole system is not that efforts are made to get congressional support for or opposition to action to be taken by executive agencies but how that congressional influence is exerted. If it is confined to letter writing or even to persuasive conversation, it is not improper. Government officials must listen to all who have pertinent information or argument to give them on vital problems confronting them. But if the member of Congress threatens to cut down appropriations of the agency unless he has his way or makes a promise of some other favor to be given the official by him or anyone else, this is a naked bribe. The federal statutes cover such crimes and provide for prosecution.

It is whether the member of Congress is himself susceptible to improper influence or invulnerable to improper pressures on legislation which constitutes the real problem that has to be examined in each case. To forbid lobbying or petitioning is wrong—though registration to require full knowledge and identification of lobbyists is correct. To forbid members of Congress to communicate with executive agencies on matters of vital concern to their constituents or friends would be wrong—and to forbid their sons to engage in law business here would be wrong, too.

Any member of Congress, on the other hand, who does have a relative engaged in practice before government departments and wishes to avoid criticism should, strictly speaking, say to any government official with whom he happens to communicate in the course of his daily routine that he hopes the application or problem will be considered on its merits and without giving any weight to his relationship to the lawyer who presents the matter.

In judicial circles it is customary for a judge to disqualify himself from sitting on any case where a member of his family may be a litigant or a lawyer for either party. In legislative circles no such practice exists.

In fairness to Senator Murray of Montana, it should be said that, if his intervention was improper, then standards should be proclaimed by the Senate itself which make the rules concerning the conduct of its own members. Maybe the time has come for the Senate and the House to draw up rules of conduct—setting forth perhaps whether members themselves may represent clients in state courts and then, without fee, intervene in their behalf on matters which those clients have before the federal government.

Maybe the inference of lack of integrity is in itself too sweeping just because a member of Congress intervenes for a constituent or friend in a financial transaction. Shall that constituent or friend be stopped too, from expressing his gratitude later on in making a contribution to the congressman's campaign? These matters introduce many ramifications.

The all-important question in the final analysis is whether government officials in the executive agencies are themselves men of integrity or susceptible to political influence. Most of them are beyond reproach. It is, in every such case, a matter of simple honesty, and there are many more honest than dishonest people hereabouts.

Members of Congress may ask but members of the RFC should refuse if a loan application is without merit. Conversely, because an application has the backing of a member of Congress doesn't necessarily make it an unsound loan.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A time has come in the decline of this republic when a law conceived in fraud should be held in contempt and set at naught by so many of the people that the government will be afraid to prosecute them. I refer to the expansion of the Social Security Act (a fraud of itself), whereby the lawn-boy, the handyman, the cleaning woman, the baby-sitter, and casual workers of many other petty classifications to the number of millions, are supposed to be docked 1½ per cent of their pay by the employer, who is then supposed to match this amount and to send the total to the treasury.

The worker's portion is stolen from him by the employer, who thus becomes an unwilling accomplice of the master-crook, the government. The employer's portion is extorted from him by the same master-crook. The worker does not want to buy the government's social "insurance." If he does want to buy it, he should go to a government agency and buy it, for himself, with his eyes open. He is a free citizen. In view of all the money that has been spent to "educate" him, he should be considered intelligent enough to decide whether he wants to buy this insurance. If Congress thinks he is too dam dumb, as Harry Hopkins so neatly put it, let Congress state that opinion on a resolution.

The employer has no duty to pay any portion of the cost of this fraudulent insurance. The employer and the employe are all square on pay night. The housewife who hires a baby-sitter or cleaning woman has absolutely no moral or constitutional duty to pay 50 per cent of the cost of that person's social insurance, rent, grocery bill or movie admissions. It would be just as reasonable to ask these employes to pay for insurance on the housewife. The law is class law, obviously and flagrantly unconstitutional. It should be laughed to scorn as prohibition was.

In this instance, the process combines two crimes under legal compulsion by a government which is supposed to set a decent moral example. First, the employer must commit theft for the government. Next, she must submit to extortion by the government. To top it all, the American housewife and mother with plenty to do must perform difficult work

The Care of a Piano

If you are the proud owner of a fine piano, whether it is a concert grand, a spinet or an upright, its sensitive mechanism requires a reasonable amount of care to keep it in good condition, and here are some suggestions.

First of all, the correct placement of the piano in a room is an important factor to consider. It should not be placed too close to a radiator or to a window. That part of the room which is free from draft and where an even temperature can be maintained is the most suitable spot for it.

To be assured of a maximum performance, a piano should be tuned at least three times a year. Also, the regular visit from the piano tuner will protect the instrument from damage caused by moths, which if permitted to gain too much headway will cause serious trouble. Moths can ruin a piano by eating the felts which are under the keys or the hammer fabrics. Replacement of such is rather an expensive job.

A moist cloth is about all that is necessary to clean the keys. Strong chemicals such as alcohol should be avoided, since they can discolor the black keys.

Too much change in temperature should be avoided, since it can affect a piano very badly. Where there is too much dampness in a room, and this may be noticed if the keys seem to stick, or stay down when depressed, precautions may be taken by putting moisture absorbing crystals inside the piano.

An average room temperature of 65 to 70 degrees will be sufficient.

For climates where dampness is extreme, such as the tropics or near the sea, the piano can be protected from excessive dampness by placing inside of it a 10 or 15 watt electric bulb. In this locality, such measures are hardly necessary.

As to the finish or case, any good furniture polish will serve to keep it in good appearance.

The hazards of both dampness and moths in a piano can be reduced to a minimum by purchasing any of the numerous products sold for these purposes.

Dampness causes that peculiar dullness of tone which a piano seems to have on a particularly moist day. Also another of the evils of dampness is that it can cause rust to accumulate on the strings and may cause them to break on a subsequent tuning.

Danielian One of Ballet Russe Stars

America's commitment to the ballet, which is of comparative recent record, seems nowhere better exemplified than in the career of Leon Danielian, one of the stars of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo which will appear at the Broadway Theatre, Friday, March 16 at 8:30 p. m. Danielian is the first American-born, American-trained ballet star of the first magnitude. There are several ascendant American dancers, but none who, like Danielian, can take equal rank with European stars trained in older schools than America's.

When, at 14, Danielian began taking lessons, even the vivid imagination of youth could not easily overcome the realistic fact that most ballet stars came from abroad. But during the six years of his schooling, the pioneering efforts of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo were changing the old picture. Ballet schools were established in the cities which had enjoyed Danilova and Franklin. Children were inspired to dreams of career.

His schooling ended, Danielian got an engagement in a night club. An injury disabled him from dancing for a year, but his ambition, fanned by the improved opportunity, drove him back to his art. He joined the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and has remained with it ever since.

Stolen Property

Grand Junction, Colo. (AP)—More than three years ago some one stole a pair of skis from Le Roy Wiler's front porch. The next day Wiler ran a classified ad in The Daily Sentinel: "If party who took skis off the front porch of my home will return and check the back porch, they'll find the boots that go with the skis." But Wiler's offer never was accepted. Recently he came across the long-missing skis tossed just inside the back-yard fence. Tucked in one of the bindings was a $5 bill.

America's commitment to the ballet, which is of comparative recent record, seems nowhere better exemplified than in the career of Leon Danielian, one of the stars of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo which will appear at the Broadway Theatre, Friday, March 16 at 8:30 p. m. Danielian is the first American-born, American-trained ballet star of the first magnitude. There are several ascendant American dancers, but none who, like Danielian, can take equal rank with European stars trained in older schools than America's.

When, at 14, Danielian began taking lessons, even the vivid imagination of youth could not easily overcome the realistic fact that most ballet stars came from abroad. But during the six years of his schooling, the pioneering efforts of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo were changing the old picture. Ballet schools were established in the cities which had enjoyed Danilova and Franklin. Children were inspired to dreams of career.

His schooling ended, Danielian got an engagement in a night club. An injury disabled him from dancing for a year, but his ambition, fanned by the improved opportunity, drove him back to his art. He joined the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and has remained with it ever since.

Stolen Property

As Pegler Sees It

for the government, without pay.

This racket was plagiarized from the unions which had set up an extra-legal sub-government in collusion with the Roosevelt regime. The boilermakers, for example, made a contract with a private company for a group insurance policy and compelled all members to buy that insurance. A son of the union president was agent for the insurance company and got an enormous rake-off. This conspiracy should have gone to a grand jury. But, under the New Deal corruption, it was indorsed as fair practice. By this duress more than 100,000 "war-workers" in shipyards were warned that if they did not pay their premiums on time they would become "delinquent" and would be laid off, notwithstanding the false pretense that a labor "shortage" existed which almost caused us to draft women for war labor at wages fixed by the bureaucracy. If an able-bodied male submitted to the racket, he could continue to enjoy deferment in the draft. If he refused to give up to the son of the union president, he was "delinquent," lost his job, ceased to be essential and could be sent to the front. They all gave up.

This system was well established in the New Deal long before we got into the war. When it was over, the Truman crowd pretended to bemoan the exclusion of untold millions of part-time, footloose and dilettante workers and paid idlers, such as baby-sitters, from the Social Security Act. Actually, the Truman party wanted that much more to squander on Democratic parasites to enforce this counterfeit, on Truman's $50,000 tax-free expense account graft, and other rackets.

There is at this hour no money in Social Security. Billions have been spent on current extravagances of the government and the system is run in a way that would bring criminal indictments in civilian practice.

The people destroyed the 18th amendment by active, mass defiance. This law can be put to death by similar protest and non-compliance. If the government should lock up 500,000 law-abiding young mothers for refusing to steal, refusing to submit to extortion and refusing to keep petty memoranda in chits of paper in the cookie jar, public opinion would tear down the prisons stone by stone and throw them stone by stone at our modern home-talent George III.

Brazilian Doctor Goes Home, Will Be Cancer Victim

The doctor — Napoleao Laureano, a cancer specialist, gives himself another "few weeks" or "a month or so at the most." He himself is a victim of the disease.

The Leaureanos' four-year-old daughter, Maria, is waiting for them at home.

"A man ought to die at home," the doctor said yesterday. "We have a fine, new home. We've been making payments three years.

"We're in a hurry to get back. So much to do, and so . . . well, so much to do."

He came to New York's Memorial Hospital after his patients and friends—many of whom he had cared for without charge—scraped together a fund to pay for his journey.

New York doctors "did their best for me," Dr. Laureano said. "They haven't got the cure yet, but they're working on it, and that's what's important."

"What is a forcing pass?" asks a Pontiac, Mich., correspondent. "I can understand a bid being forcing, and I can understand a pass showing weakness. But I cannot understand a pass that is strong enough to force the partner."

The term "forcing pass" is usually applied when both sides have bid up to a high contract. In this kind of situation, a player often is in doubt whether to double for penalties or to go on. Sometimes he can afford to pass and let his partner decide. Such as pass is called a forcing pass.

Even experts sometimes misread this type of bid. A much-discussed case took place in the Masters Individual Tournament of 1950, as shown in today's hand.

West felt justified in reopening the bidding when two hearts was passed around to him. He was quite right, of course, since his side could make four spades. Curiously enough, however, South could take 11 tricks at hearts.

West bid up to four spades singlehanded, but then properly decided to pass over five hearts. It was quite possible that his partner had enough defensive strength to double this bid.

Actually, East had a nearly worthless hand. He failed to realize that West's pass was forcing. It was inconceivable that West could bid as he had without being willing to sacrifice at five spades against a vulnerable game in hearts. West's pass clearly said "Partner, double five hearts if your have some defensive strength. Otherwise, make a further bid in spades or clubs." In short, the pass forced East to take some action, and East was very wrong in passing.

South easily made five hearts, for a score of 650 points. Had East gone to five spades, his side would have lost only 100 points.

"What is a forcing pass?" asks a Pontiac, Mich., correspondent. "I can understand a bid being forcing, and I can understand a pass showing weakness. But I cannot understand a pass that is strong enough to force the partner."

The term "forcing pass" is usually applied when both sides have bid up to a high contract. In this kind of situation, a player often is in doubt whether to double for penalties or to go on. Sometimes he can afford to pass and let his partner decide. Such as pass is called a forcing pass.

Even experts sometimes misread this type of bid. A much-discussed case took place in the Masters Individual Tournament of 1950, as shown in today's hand.

West felt justified in reopening the bidding when two hearts was passed around to him. He was quite right, of course, since his side could make four spades. Curiously enough, however, South could take 11 tricks at hearts.

West bid up to four spades singlehanded, but then properly decided to pass over five hearts. It was quite possible that his partner had enough defensive strength to double this bid.

Actually, East had a nearly worthless hand. He failed to realize that West's pass was forcing. It was inconceivable that West could bid as he had without being willing to sacrifice at five spades against a vulnerable game in hearts. West's pass clearly said "Partner, double five hearts if you have some defensive strength. Otherwise, make a further bid in spades or clubs." In short, the pass forced East to take some action, and East was very wrong in passing.

South easily made five hearts, for a score of 650 points. Had East gone to five spades, his side would have lost only 100 points.

Brazilian Doctor Goes Home, Will Be Cancer Victim

The doctor — Napoleao Laureano, a cancer specialist, gives himself another "few weeks" or "a month or so at the most." He himself is a victim of the disease.

The Laureanos' four-year-old daughter, Maria, is waiting for them at home.

"A man ought to die at home," the doctor said yesterday. "We have a fine, new home. We've been making payments three years.

"We're in a hurry to get back. So much to do, and so . . . well, so much to do."

He came to New York's Memorial Hospital after his patients and friends—many of whom he had cared for without charge—scraped together a fund to pay for his journey.

New York doctors "did their best for me," Dr. Laureano said. "They haven't got the cure yet, but they're working on it, and that's what's important."

for the government, without pay.

This racket was plagiarized from the unions which had set up an extra-legal sub-government in collusion with the Roosevelt regime. The boilermakers, for example, made a contract with a private company for a group insurance policy and compelled all members to buy that insurance. A son of the union president was agent for the insurance company and got an enormous rake-off. This conspiracy should have gone to a grand jury. But, under the New Deal corruption, it was indorsed as fair practice. By this duress more than 100,000 "war-workers" in shipyards were warned that if they did not pay their premiums on time they would become "delinquent" and would be laid off, notwithstanding the false pretense that a labor "shortage" existed which almost caused us to draft women for war labor at wages fixed by the bureaucracy. If an able-bodied male submitted to the racket, he could continue to enjoy deferment in the draft. If he refused to give up to the son of the union president, he was "delinquent," lost his job, ceased to be essential and could be sent to the front. They all gave up.

This system was well established in the New Deal long before we got into the war. When it was over, the Truman crowd pretended to bemoan the exclusion of untold millions of part-time, footloose and dilettante workers and paid idlers, such as baby-sitters, from the Social Security Act. Actually, the Truman party wanted that much more to squander on Democratic parasites to enforce this counterfeit, on Truman's $50,000 tax-free expense account graft, and other rackets.

There is at this hour no money in Social Security. Billions have been spent on current extravagances of the government and the system is run in a way that would bring criminal indictments in civilian practice.

The people destroyed the 18th amendment by active, mass defiance. This law can be put to death by similar protest and non-compliance. If the government should lock up 500,000 law-abiding young mothers for refusing to steal, refusing to submit to extortion and refusing to keep petty memoranda in chits of paper in the cookie jar, public opinion would tear down the prisons stone by stone and throw them stone by stone at our modern home-talent George III.

Redemptions of savings bonds thus far in the government's fiscal year exceed sales by more than $900,000,000. This statement by itself may seem insignificant; yet, if one in a position to study this situation were to record his findings, this event would prove to be momentous.

Probably the two leading economic factors behind the dumping of these bonds are (1) a growing distrust of the integrity of the dollar and (2) the steadily rising cost of living. For a quarter of a century, one of my jobs has been to talk with people about the relationship of their money to their standards of living.

And when I put these two factors down, I am not guessing. The very economic life of America is permeated with fears and uncertainties growing out of the quality of our money. Anyone who reads the newspapers may daily see stories and articles there that cause many to wonder whether thrift and saving are any longer economic virtues.

Before this article appears, there will be a person who, presenting himself at his bank, will cash in an armful of savings bonds —the $25 and $50 ones. And if the teller asks him why he is doing it, the owner of the bonds will give a casual answer. What will the real reason be?

Why, this thrifty worker reads in the paper that a typist in Washington, working in the head office, if you please, gets a mink coat costing $9,500. Of course, there will be explanations and excuses.

This enterprisng worker, who was taught thrift at his father's knee, is getting cynical. "That dame," he says, "has about as much right to wear a $9,500 mink coat as I have to have King George of England give a party in my honor."

Today, thrift and saving are living in an economic environment strange to the virtues commonly associated with thrift and saving. Waste and extravagance and inefficiency breed all kinds of economic licenses.

Week by week I talk with good people whose ideas about the integrity of our currency are changing, and not for the better. Billions of anxious dollars are in the hands of millions of people. And what is done with this money is of serious import to our country.

Then it is painful to report that many savings bonds — especially the Series E type—are being cashed of necessity because of steadily rising living costs.

Having been born and reared in a home where thrift and saving were the very economic cornerstones of family life, I have always urged people to put at least $1,000 away in savings and to take out insurance before investing. I still urge it. How many savings bonds I have been instrumental in putting in the hands of people I don't know. But I have been at it a long time.

Now, however, I am meeting a new psychology. People are selling savings bonds, not buying them. Unlike the cynics who are afraid of the integrity of the dollar, these savers really need the money.

And, as their savings dwindle, down, down, as living costs rise, rise, I say to myself: "One of these days thousands of those people will have exhausted their savings. Then unemployment may come. Then these wreckers of our democratic political and economic system will offer an easy way out and the state will take over."

I say solemnly to my readers that the redemption of more than $900,000,000 of savings bonds thus far in this fiscal year carries far greater economic and political implications than appear on the surface. When people get cynical about the dollar and when its purchasing power steadily declines, thoughtful persons should give some attention to what brings these things about.

A $9,500 mink coat for a White House typist should give America pause.

Biblical Site to Be Spa

Tel Aviv, (AP) —Tiberias, on the western shores of the Sea of Galilee, is to be developed into a winter spa and a health resort, it is learned. It has hot springs with good anti-rheumatic effects.

My father must have kept The Freeman of 1935 for some reason. One of the headings of the Thursday, April 4th issue reads: "Board of Public Works met informally Wednesday to prepare plans in the event the Federal Works Bill is approved by Congress. New program includes reconstruction of about 20 streets and several sewer projects and other works." Another heading reads in part: "Police radio station to be operating here within a short time." Also the new charter proposals were given in detail.

In a little boxed column on the front page called "Just a Year Ago Today . . ." item read . . . "E. Frank Flanagan, senior member of the firm of Flanagan-Archer-Watkins, purchases interest of his two partners and continues the establishment under the name of 'Flanagans'."

I don't even know if I should quote the following, it's too painful today. I mean the grocery prices listed in the U.P.A. advertisement of 1935. For instance butter you could get at any of their neighborhood stores for 36 cents a pound. Kellogg's Corn Flakes were going for seven cents a package. You could have all the coffee you wanted at 33 cents. In the fruits and vegetables, you could have large 216 size Florida sweet oranges for 29 cents a dozen. Bananas were five cents a pound. And carrots, four bunches for 25 cents. When it came to Lenten specials, such as fancy pink salmon, it was 10 cents a can. And you could get all the light meat tuna you wanted, two cans for 25 cents. For those who like coffee, in 1935 you could get Beechnut coffee for 29 cents a pound. And a special U.P.A. Sunny Morn for 21 cents a pound. Eggs of the grade A, large selected variety were two dozen for 55 cents.

Some of the U.P.A. grocers of those days were Max Abel, A. Garber, Ray Everett, Fred Lang, Len's Market, Lehr's New Superior Market, Perry's Market, A. E. Vetoskie and David Wetterhahn.

Some of those who graced the sport pages of The Freeman in those days were Helen Wills Moody in the tennis world, and Helen Jacobs. It was before the TV days of wrestling, when wrestlers shaved their heads instead of bleaching them and curling them like they do today. I can just imagine if some one in 1935 would have walked in the ring with Gus Sonnenberg, dolled up in golden tights, a golden cape hanging from the shoulders like a Roman toga and strutting around the ring with a golden marcel wave. Remember Man Mountain Dean when he came to our auditorium? Now there was a hunk of man. Mrs. Floretta McCutcheon of Pueblo, Col., had bowled nine perfect games in nine years which put her on the top of The Freeman sport page.

In various other parts of the paper I see Dr. John A. Comstock announced the opening of his modern offices on or about April 15th, in the Woolworth Building at 317 Wall street. The Governor Clinton Market at 773 Broadway was selling fresh ground hamburg for 15 cents a pound and Red Raven coffee for 19 cents a pound. Stewing beef and lamb was going for 10 cents a pound. And nice juicy lamb or, veal chops for 29 cents. Need I say more.

This enterprisng worker, who was taught thrift at his father's knee, is getting cynical. "That dame," he says, "has about as much right to wear a $9,500 mink coat as I have to have King George of England give a party in my honor."

Today, thrift and saving are living in an economic environment strange to the virtues commonly associated with thrift and saving. Waste and extravagance and inefficiency breed all kinds of economic licenses.

Week by week I talk with good people whose ideas about the integrity of our currency are changing, and not for the better. Billions of anxious dollars are in the hands of millions of people. And what is done with this money is of serious import to our country.

Then it is painful to report that many savings bonds — especially the Series E type—are being cashed of necessity because of steadily rising living costs.

Having been born and reared in a home where thrift and saving were the very economic cornerstones of family life, I have always urged people to put at least $1,000 away in savings and to take out insurance before investing. I still urge it. How many savings bonds I have been instrumental in putting in the hands of people I don't know. But I have been at it a long time.

Now, however, I am meeting a new psychology. People are selling savings bonds, not buying them. Unlike the cynics who are afraid of the integrity of the dollar, these savers really need the money.

And, as their savings dwindle, down, down, as living costs rise, rise, I say to myself: "One of these days thousands of those people will have exhausted their savings. Then unemployment may come. Then these wreckers of our democratic political and economic system will offer an easy way out and the state will take over."

I say solemnly to my readers that the redemption of more than $900,000,000 of savings bonds thus far in this fiscal year carries far greater economic and political implications than appear on the surface. When people get cynical about the dollar and when its purchasing power steadily declines, thoughtful persons should give some attention to what brings these things about.

A $9,500 mink coat for a White House typist should give America pause.

Do You Remember

SOPHIE MILLER

My father must have kept The Freeman of 1935 for some reason. One of the headings of the Thursday, April 4th issue reads: "Board of Public Works met informally Wednesday to prepare plans in the event the Federal Works Bill is approved by Congress. New program includes reconstruction of about 20 streets and several sewer projects and other works." Another heading reads in part: "Police radio station to be operating here within a short time." Also the new charter proposals were given in detail.

In a little boxed column on the front page called "Just a Year Ago Today . . ." item read . . . "E. Frank Flanagan, senior member of the firm of Flanagan-Archer-Watkins, purchases interest of his two partners and continues the establishment under the name of 'Flanagans'."

I don't even know if I should quote the following, it's too painful today. I mean the grocery prices listed in the U.P.A. advertisement of 1935. For instance butter you could get at any of their neighborhood stores for 36 cents a pound. Kellogg's Corn Flakes were going for seven cents a package. You could have all the coffee you wanted at 33 cents. In the fruits and vegetables, you could have large 216 size Florida sweet oranges for 29 cents a dozen. Bananas were five cents a pound. And carrots, four bunches for 25 cents. When it came to Lenten specials, such as fancy pink salmon, it was 10 cents a can. And you could get all the light meat tuna you wanted, two cans for 25 cents. For those who like coffee, in 1935 you could get Beechnut coffee for 29 cents a pound. And a special U.P.A. Sunny Morn for 21 cents a pound. Eggs of the grade A, large selected variety were two dozen for 55 cents.

Some of the U.P.A. grocers of those days were Max Abel, A. Garber, Ray Everett, Fred Lang, Len's Market, Lehr's New Superior Market, Perry's Market, A. E. Vetoskie and David Wetterhahn.

Some of those who graced the sport pages of The Freeman in those days were Helen Wills Moody in the tennis world, and Helen Jacobs. It was before the TV days of wrestling, when wrestlers shaved their heads instead of bleaching them and curling them like they do today. I can just imagine if some one in 1935 would have walked in the ring with Gus Sonnenberg, dolled up in golden tights, a golden cape hanging from the shoulders like a Roman toga and strutting around the ring with a golden marcel wave. Remember Man Mountain Dean when he came to our auditorium? Now there was a hunk of man. Mrs. Floretta McCutcheon of Pueblo, Col., had bowled nine perfect games in nine years which put her on the top of The Freeman sport page.

In various other parts of the paper I see Dr. John A. Comstock announced the opening of his modern offices on or about April 15th, in the Woolworth Building at 317 Wall street. The Governor Clinton Market at 773 Broadway was selling fresh ground hamburg for 15 cents a pound and Red Raven coffee for 19 cents a pound. Stewing beef and lamb was going for 10 cents a pound. And nice juicy lamb or veal chops for 29 cents. Need I say more.

Jurors Endorse Bill on 'Fixers'; Give to Boys Club

At the meeting this week of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County, the group favored more severe punishment for those involved in fixing sports contests, and endorsed the drive to help the Kingston Boys Club.

The Grand Jurors Association approved the bill increasing the sentences of those found guilty of offering bribes to fix games and athletes who accept money to throw the contests.

During the session in the court house, presided over by President Thomas J. Murphy, there was discussion of the bill which has roots in Ulster county, Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston having been one of the proponents.

Wicks, majority leader of the State Senate, joined with Assemblyman Lee B. Mailler, Cornwall-on-Hudson, in framing and introducing the bill.

Mailler, chairman of the Assembly ways and means committee, and Wicks drew up the legislation after the occurrence of the recent college basketball scandal in New York city.

Give To Boys Club

The association voted two contributions, one to the Red Cross and other to the Kingston Boys' Club.

In contributing to the Boys' Club, the association took into consideration endorsement given the organization for its program which combats juvenile delinquency.

County Judge John M. Cashin, honorary president of the Grand Jurors Association, has on various occasions voiced high sentiments in favor of the club founded and directed by Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman.

Others whose recommendations of the club influenced the association were District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, who served on its board of directors and N. LeVan Haver, a former district attorney.

The three pointed out of the club's good work done to build the morale and further ambitions of the youth of the city.

Late Bulletin

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The Army said today that its May draft call had been reduced to 60,000 men "because we are catching up on General MacArthur's requirements in the Far East."

An Army spokesman told reporters that the reduction—all other monthly calls this year have been for 80,000—"has no connection with or effect upon the proposed draft of 18 year olds."

The Senate is about to vote on whether to lower the minimum draft age from 19 to 18, and all signs are that the lower age will be approved.

Opponents of the draft of 18 year olds contend the armed forces don't need them, and they were expected to seize upon the reduced draft call for May as a further argument.

Solid Front Presented

Paris, March 7 (AP)—United States, British and French deputies faced the Russians today with a solid front against proposed Soviet wording for a foreign ministers' meeting agenda. As the third session of the deputies meeting got under way, informed sources said the West was determined not to give ground on the phrasing of the German issue. The Russians have proposed that a future foreign ministers' meeting discuss "fulfillment by the four powers of the Potsdam Agreement regarding the demilitarization and the prohibition of remilitarization of Germany."

Suit Started in Death Of Ernest Tarrock

An action brought by Lillian Tarrock, as administratrix etc., of the estate of Ernest Tarrock, Port Ewen, who was drowned on February 4, 1949 when his sedan plunged into the Rondout creek on Dock street, will be taken up for trial in Supreme Court Thursday morning before Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth and a jury.

Tarrock was operating his car down Ravine street and apparently attempted to turn into Dock street. The complaint alleges two causes of action, one that the street was icy and covered with snow and second that there was a lack of a proper barrier.

Arthur A. Davis, Jr., appears for plaintiff and Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly appears for the city.

There was no case ready for trial this morning and court recessed until 10 o'clock Thursday when the jurors will return.

Track Pay Rolls Checked

Boston, March 7 (AP)—Postal inspectors were said today to be checking race track pay roll records to determine if any employes in the south postal annex were on more than one pay roll at a time. Investigators checking into a so-called pay roll padding scheme at the sprawling postal annex are maintaining strict official silence but reports are leaking through that they received tips clerks were working at horse and dog tracks while getting post office pay. Other reports say that internal revenue agents are checking the income of post office employes whose salaries average about $3,000 a year.

Jurors Endorse Bill on 'Fixers'; Give to Boys Club

At the meeting this week of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County, the group favored more severe punishment for those involved in fixing sports contests, and endorsed the drive to help the Kingston Boys Club.

The Grand Jurors Association approved the bill increasing the sentences of those found guilty of offering bribes to fix games and athletes who accept money to throw the contests.

During the session in the court house, presided over by President Thomas J. Murphy, there was discussion of the bill which has roots in Ulster county, Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston having been one of the proponents.

Wicks, majority leader of the State Senate, joined with Assemblyman Lee B. Mailler, Cornwall-on-Hudson, in framing and introducing the bill.

Mailler, chairman of the Assembly ways and means committee, and Wicks drew up the legislation after the occurrence of the recent college basketball scandal in New York city.

Give To Boys Club

The association voted two contributions, one to the Red Cross and other to the Kingston Boys' Club.

In contributing to the Boys' Club, the association took into consideration endorsement given the organization for its program which combats juvenile delinquency.

County Judge John M. Cashin, honorary president of the Grand Jurors Association, has on various occasions voiced high sentiments in favor of the club founded and directed by Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman.

Others whose recommendations of the club influenced the association were District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, who served on its board of directors and N. LeVan Haver, a former district attorney.

The three pointed out of the club's good work done to build the morale and further ambitions of the youth of the city.

Late Bulletin

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The Army said today that its May draft call had been reduced to 60,000 men "because we are catching up on General MacArthur's requirements in the Far East."

An Army spokesman told reporters that the reduction—all other monthly calls this year have been for 80,000—"has no connection with or effect upon the proposed draft of 18 year olds."

The Senate is about to vote on whether to lower the minimum draft age from 19 to 18, and all signs are that the lower age will be approved.

Opponents of the draft of 18 year olds contend the armed forces don't need them, and they were expected to seize upon the reduced draft call for May as a further argument.

Track Pay Rolls Checked

Boston, March 7 (AP)—Postal inspectors were said today to be checking race track pay roll records to determine if any employes in the south postal annex were on more than one pay roll at a time. Investigators checking into a so-called pay roll padding scheme at the sprawling postal annex are maintaining strict official silence but reports are leaking through that they received tips clerks were working at horse and dog tracks while getting post office pay. Other reports say that internal revenue agents are checking the income of post office employes whose salaries average about $3,000 a year.

Cigarette Test for Pilot

Minneapolis (AP)—A cigarette standing on end in a plane was used to demonstrate the sensitivity of a new improved automatic pilot here recently. As the automatic pilot put a Navy transport through its paces, the cigarette remained upright, and never toppled, say aero research engineers for the Minneapolis Honeywell Reguator Co.

Krum Will Leave

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said today that Detective William Krum expects to leave the department at the end of this week. It was not revealed whether he was to go on a leave-of-absence basis or whether his severence with the department would be permanent. These facts are expected to be known when the police board meets later. The detective, it is understood, has another police job in mind, but is unable to say at this time what it is.

Contract Signed To Remodel Store

Lou Kantrowitz of Kaye Sportwair announced today that he has signed a contract with the Pacco Store Equipment Corporation to completely remodel his store at 46-48 North Front street.

Everything in the present store will be ripped out and replaced with the newest in up-to-the minute clothing fixtures. Six extra clothing racks will be added because Kaye Sportwair's clothing department has outgrown its present area. More room for men's shoes will be built and a complete wall battery of 28 feet of glass cases will be set up for shirts and sport shirts.

It is expected that work will start immediately and will be completed about April 20.

Since the time Dave Kantrowitz started his original store at 42 N. Front street in 1902, Kaye Sportwair has successfully served the people of Kingston and the surrounding area in a manner to induce friendly customer cooperation. Throughout the years, they have never stopped modernizing their building and interior for more efficient customer shopping. Dave Kantrowitz featured only men's and boys' clothing, furnishings and shoes. About twenty-six years ago, he opened a sporting goods department under the direction of Lou and this department now services more than 400 high schools and colleges throughout the United States. In last week's mail for example, shipments were made to William and Mary College, University of Delaware, Carthage, Ill., Frankfort, Ky., Yuma, Col., and one of the orders received was 30 new baseball uniforms from Jack Coombs at Duke University in N. C.

Kaye Sportwair is now running its first Easter sale since they have been in business. This is necessary to make room for the remodelers who will be working in the store. During the alterations, business will continue as usual.

Lose Your Home?

Jones Beach, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—Have you lost your home? The police here may have it. They are trying to locate the owners of two summer-type homes that washed ashore in the big blow of Nov. 25. They described the unclaimed cottages as in "fairly good condition."

Hollander Assails Two-Party Action

New York, March 7 (AP)—State CIO President Louis Hollander charges that New York state's Democratic and Republican leaders have formed a "reactionary coalition to gang up on the wage earners."

Hollander, who has cooperated with Democratic leaders in the past, says they are now as "reactionary as the Republicans."

He says such Democratic leaders as State Chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick and National Committeeman Edward J. Flynn of the Bronx have supported GOP-sponsored measures at Albany "catering to the demands of greedy interests at the expense of the state as a whole."

Hollander, in a statement yesterday, also criticized the way the national mobilization effort is being handled. He said the methods are "helping make this the century of profiteering."

If such policies continue, Hollander added, "labor will have no other way but to enter into an independent political party with other liberals."

Home Nursing Course

There is continuous need for at least one person in every family to know how to care for the sick at home. Persons who complete the Red Cross home nursing courses are better prepared for any emergency which may involve themselves, their families, or the nation's security. Last year 180,000 persons completed Red Cross home nursing courses. Help provide this vital instruction by supporting the 1951 Red Cross Fund Campaign.

Lose Your Home?

Jones Beach, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—Have you lost your home? The police here may have it. They are trying to locate the owners of two summer-type homes that washed ashore in the big blow of Nov. 25. They described the unclaimed cottages as in "fairly good condition."

Americans bought a record $23.6 billion worth of life insurance in 1949.

Hollander Assails Two-Party Action

New York, March 7 (AP)—State CIO President Louis Hollander charges that New York state's Democratic and Republican leaders have formed a "reactionary coalition to gang up on the wage earners."

Hollander, who has cooperated with Democratic leaders in the past, says they are now as "reactionary as the Republicans."

He says such Democratic leaders as State Chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick and National Committeeman Edward J. Flynn of the Bronx have supported GOP-sponsored measures at Albany "catering to the demands of greedy interests at the expense of the state as a whole."

Hollander, in a statement yesterday, also criticized the way the national mobilization effort is being handled. He said the methods are "helping make this the century of profiteering."

If such policies continue, Hollander added, "labor will have no other way but to enter into an independent political party with other liberals."

Modena, March 7—Miss Rosalyn Laura DeWitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt, Sr., of Modena, and Richard Gerow Schoonmaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker of New Hurley, were married Saturday at 3 p. m. in the Modena Methodist Church. The Rev. William A. Imler, of that congregation, officiated.

Henry Pfaff of Wallkill, soloist, sang "Always," and "Why Do I Love You." He was accompanied by Mrs. Arlene Birch, organist of the Shawangunk Reformed Church. The church was decorated with white gladioli, carnations, and snapdragons.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown, with a lace front, Peter Pan collar, and long train. She wore a fingertip veil fastened to a beaded crown, and carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations, and sweet peas.

Miss Marian DeWitt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss DeWitt was dressed in a light blue gown, with a nylon lace bodice and net skirt. She wore a blue picture hat, and carried talisman roses, and sweet peas.

The bride's other attendants were Miss Grace Coddington of New Paltz, cousin of the bride, and Miss Marylou Schoonmaker of New Hurley, sister of the groom. Both wore pink nylon lace and net gowns, with matching picture hats, and carried bouquets of blue iris, pink snapdragons, and sweet peas.

Miss Linda Lee Gunderman of Coxsackie, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in a white and pink gown, and carried a basket of mixed flowers.

John A. Stone of Binghamton was best man. Gerald C. DeWitt of Modena, and Robert Heroy of New Paltz were the ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in Hasbrouck Memorial hall, which 100 guests attended. Pianist Merrill Small, Sr., played music for dancing.

The couple then left for a two week wedding trip to Florida. On their return, they will make their home in Wallkill. For traveling, Mrs. Schoonmaker wore a red suit, with a gray coat, and black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Wallkill Central School, and is employed as a secretary at the Wallkill Storage Co.

Mr. Schoonmaker was graduated from Wallkill Central School, and attended Cornell University, where he was fraternally associated with Pi Kappa Phi. He is now a fruit farmer.

Dr. Finn, head of the fluorine experimental laboratory in Newburgh, was guest speaker at the February meeting of the Port Ewen School Association. Various local organizations were represented as well as the town board. Dr. Finn said that teeth were decaying three times as fast as they were being filled in this country and that the solution to the problem was prevention. Nutrition, he said, is not the answer and neither is brushing although it does some good. Dentists believe they have the solution in fluorine, the speaker said. A reduction of 60 per cent in tooth decay has been found in regions whose water naturally contains fluorine. He said that in Newburgh where the experiment with fluorine has been going on since 1945 tooth decay has been reduced by one-third at a cost of only 12 cents per person each year.

'AMERICAN' TABLE SERVICE

A newly married reader asks: "Just what is meant by the type of table service called 'American'? There seems to be a difference of opinion about this. Where I lived it meant my father carving and serving the plates, taken to each one by the maid. She removed the dishes and brought in the dessert which my mother then served, as she did the coffee. In other words, the maid did the fetching and carrying but my parents did the serving. Here, I discover that they call American service the putting of all serving dishes on the table and those seated handing them around."

Both of the services you describe are American. The second one is the least formal. In this service there is neither maid nor butler and all the serving dishes are put on the table and handed around from hand to hand. In European service everything is handed around the table by a butler or maid and no platters or dishes are put on the table.

Envelope for Answer

Dear Mrs. Post: So often when I ask a favor of someone and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, the return reply is made in their own envelope. I'm wondering if it is wrong to send the envelope in the first place?

Answer: It is not only right, but a requirement of etiquette to send a self-addressed, stamped envelope when asking a favor of someone. My idea is that you probably sent one that was too small.

Big Shrimp

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please advise me the proper way to eat a shrimp cocktail? When the shrimps are large, how does one cut them? Or is it permissible to pick up a shrimp with the fork and bite from it?

Answer: Ordinarily you can cut the shrimp in half with your fork by holding it against the side of the glass. But if the glass is small and the shrimp are many, it will be necessary to lift one out with the fork and cut it on the edge of the plate under the shrimp glass.

Pace Asks End Of Woolen Strike

Boston, March 7 (AP)—Secretary of the Army Frank Pace has sent telegrams to officials of both sides in the woolen and worsted strike telling them that "a work stoppage in the woolen industry threatens to halt urgently needed expansion of the armed forces."

The telegrams were addressed to Emil Rieve, president of the CIO Textile Workers Union, and Francis White, president of the American Woolen Company.

The wire continued: "Our new troops must have clothing, blankets and other woolen items. It is imperative that a way be found at once to restore production in mills working on military orders."

Ample supplies of clothing will continue to go to troops in Korea, the army said.

Reply Made Public

American Woolen President White made public this reply to Pace:

"The work stoppage in the woolen mills is a strike called to enforce excessive and illegal demands. The company has offered all the law allows and has offered to reopen negotiations if the law is changed. We are ready to reopen mills at once on the basis of our offer."

The company said it granted a 12 cents an hour increase in October and was willing to give an additional five cents an hour.

It added that under the wage stabilization formula it was not permitted to grant more.

Meanwhile, in New York the union appealed to the owners of the 160 struck mills to resume wage negotiations "for the sake of the industry, the workers and the nation."

The strike by some 70,000 workers started 20 days ago over a 15 cents an hour increase and other benefits. The union said the present average hourly earning in the industry is $1.42.

Rosencrance Held

William Rosencrance, 50, of Liberty was picked up by Sheriff Cluett Schantz and Jailer Arthur Brown Tuesday at Monticello where Rosencrance had completed a six months jail sentence for unlawful entry. Rosencrance was arrested on a bench warrant issued out of County Court by Judge John M. Cashin and held in the Ulster county jail on a charge of burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry. The local charge was made by the grand jury which returned an indictment against Rosencrance. The indictment charges Rosencrance, with others, entered closed premises and removed furnishings.

Various local organizations were represented as well as the town board. Dr. Finn said that teeth were decaying three times as fast as they were being filled in this country and that the solution to the problem was prevention. Nutrition, he said, is not the answer and neither is brushing although it does some good. Dentists believe they have the solution in fluorine, the speaker said. A reduction of 60 per cent in tooth decay has been found in regions whose water naturally contains fluorine. He said that in Newburgh where the experiment with fluorine has been going on since 1945 tooth decay has been reduced by one-third at a cost of only 12 cents per person each year.

Pace Asks End Of Woolen Strike

Boston, March 7 (AP)—Secretary of the Army Frank Pace has sent telegrams to officials of both sides in the woolen and worsted strike telling them that "a work stoppage in the woolen industry threatens to halt urgently needed expansion of the armed forces."

The telegrams were addressed to Emil Rieve, president of the CIO Textile Workers Union, and Francis White, president of the American Woolen Company.

The wire continued: "Our new troops must have clothing, blankets and other woolen items. It is imperative that a way be found at once to restore production in mills working on military orders."

Ample supplies of clothing will continue to go to troops in Korea, the army said.

Reply Made Public

American Woolen President White made public this reply to Pace:

"The work stoppage in the woolen mills is a strike called to enforce excessive and illegal demands. The company has offered all the law allows and has offered to reopen negotiations if the law is changed. We are ready to reopen mills at once on the basis of our offer."

The company said it granted a 12 cents an hour increase in October and was willing to give an additional five cents an hour.

It added that under the wage stabilization formula it was not permitted to grant more.

Meanwhile, in New York the union appealed to the owners of the 160 struck mills to resume wage negotiations "for the sake of the industry, the workers and the nation."

The strike by some 70,000 workers started 20 days ago over a 15 cents an hour increase and other benefits. The union said the present average hourly earning in the industry is $1.42.

'AMERICAN' TABLE SERVICE

A newly married reader asks: "Just what is meant by the type of table service called 'American'? There seems to be a difference of opinion about this. Where I lived it meant my father carving and serving the plates, taken to each one by the maid. She removed the dishes and brought in the dessert which my mother then served, as she did the coffee. In other words, the maid did the fetching and carrying but my parents did the serving. Here, I discover that they call American service the putting of all serving dishes on the table and those seated handing them around."

Both of the services you describe are American. The second one is the least formal. In this service there is neither maid nor butler and all the serving dishes are put on the table and handed around from hand to hand. In European service everything is handed around the table by a butler or maid and no platters or dishes are put on the table.

Envelope for Answer

Dear Mrs. Post: So often when I ask a favor of someone and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, the return reply is made in their own envelope. I'm wondering if it is wrong to send the envelope in the first place?

Answer: It is not only right, but a requirement of etiquette to send a self-addressed, stamped envelope when asking a favor of someone. My idea is that you probably sent one that was too small.

Big Shrimp

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please advise me the proper way to eat a shrimp cocktail? When the shrimps are large, how does one cut them? Or is it permissible to pick up a shrimp with the fork and bite from it?

Answer: Ordinarily you can cut the shrimp in half with your fork by holding it against the side of the glass. But if the glass is small and the shrimp are many, it will be necessary to lift one out with the fork and cut it on the edge of the plate under the shrimp glass.

High School Opens Intersectionals Here Friday Against Amsterdam

NFA's DUSO Champions Will Meet Troy High Here Saturday Night

The annual pursuit of Coach Sig Makofski's high-powered Mont Pleasant Red Raiders of Schenectady starts Friday night, when intersectional basketball competition between Section 9 (DUSO) and the capital district opens at the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

Kingston High is scheduled to meet Amsterdam in the tournament opener here.

The contest will be preceded by a preliminary between the KHS Jayvees and the Myron Michael School All Stars.

Middies First Victims

Well, where does Mont Pleasant come in.

They open their campaign for a third straight intersectional crown by meeting poor, little Middletown High, Saturday night at Convention Hall in Saratoga Springs.

After the preliminary confusion has been settled, here is the setup for the second round:

If Kingston High gets by Amsterdam, it will travel to Saratoga Springs on Tuesday, March 13.

If Mont Pleasant succeeds in beating Middletown, it will come to Kingston on March 13 to do battle with Newburgh Academy, assuming, of course, that "Lanky" Masterson's Gallopin' Goldbacks handle Troy here this Saturday night.

The form chart says the Raiders and Goldbacks should hurdle their primary road blocks in rather easy fashion. Middletown doesn't figure to extend the Raiders on a court that is a second home for the Dorpian sharpshooters, while Newburgh, despite three losses on the road this season, appears capable of handing a so-so Troy quintet.

Big Local Attraction

A Mont Pleasant-Newburgh contest would be welcomed by hundreds of local fans who have been reading glowing reports about Makofski's calfskin sharpies but have never seen them in action.

Mont Pleasant, humbled N.F.A. in decisive fashion in last year's finals and will be heavily favored this time. But, according to capital district sportswriters, the current Red Raider edition is a good team but not the overpowering stuff of former years. They had a 42-game winning streak snapped by Albany High early this season and have been pressed on a couple of other occasions. But, their overall record shows only one defeat.

It is entirely within the potentialities of Coach Masterson's cagers to upend the Red Raiders. A N.F.A. triumph would do much to restore battered DUSO prestige. Since the start of the intersectional tournament, the Raiders have been openly contemptuous of DUSO League opposition. To this day they are still writing off Kingston's sensational overtime victory in the series opener as just a lucky break.

The schedule favors Kingston this time out, since the Maroons can advance to the finals without having to face Newburgh or Mont Pleasant en route.

The winner of Tuesday's Mont Pleasant-Newburgh contest will wind up in one bracket of the finals. Kingston, which figures to rebound from a series of late season setbacks, could easily wind up in the other bracket of the finals.

Hooker's 219 Points Led Maroon Scorers

TOP MAROON SCORER Forward Averages 13 Per Contest

The 1949-50 Jayvee scoring flash who led Kingston High School varsity cagers with 219 points in the regular season just completed. His total gave him an average of a shade under 13 points per set. A junior, Hooker will be eligible for varsity competition next year. (Freeman Photo)

Leroy Hooker, who came off the bench to spark Kingston High's early season surge in the DUSO Basketball League was the Maroon's top individual sharpshooter for the regular season just completed, according to unofficial statistics compiled by the Freeman.

The 1949-50 Jayvee sensation, rolled up 219 points in 17 games for a scoring average just a shade under 13 points per contest. He hit for 90 fields and 39 fouls and had three nights of 18 points.

Runnerup George Carpouzis, who blew hot and cold during the season, was second with 206 markers, fashioned on 90 baskets and 26 fouls. The difference between Carpouzis and Hooker was at the foul line—39 to 26—although Carpouzis appeared in all 18 games on the regular slate.

Big Moll Leonard finished with 183 points in 18 games on 74 fields and 35 singletons for a 10.3 average. Carpouzis' average was 11.8.

Six Players Lost

No other player reached the century total in scoring. Pete Camp, the most consistent performer of the season, was fourth with 65 and Chil Caruso rounded out the varsity five with 47.

Coach Kias finished the season with 11 players. Two of the original starters — Mike Provenzano and Dick Schultz—left the squad early in the season. Provenzano enlisted in the Navy, while Schultz graduated in January.

Four of the 11 who finished the 1950-51 campaign—Moll Leonard, Bones Hampton, Chil Caruso and George Carpouzis—will not return next season.

Team Averages 51

With a seasonal record of 10 wins and 8 defeats, the Klasmen enjoyed only a 16-point edge over the opposition in aggregate scoring for the 18 games.

The Maroons rolled up 921 points to 905 for the opposition. Their highest total was 73 against Beacon High and their lowest, 26, against Poughkeepsie.

In the individual department, Carpouzis had big nights of 20, 21 and 22 points, while Leonard's biggest spurts produced a pair of 20 totals.

To Boost Hunts

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—Up to 10 hunts meetings a year would be permitted at race tracks in the state under measures approved in both houses of the Legislature. However, one of the identical bills passed yesterday must be approved by the other legislative House before the measure can be submitted for Governor Dewey's signature. Steeplechase races predominate at hunts meetings. Only two such meetings were held last year. The meetings would be limited to three days and could be with or without pari-mutuel betting.

San Jose, Calif.—Felix Ramirez, 132½, San Jose, outpointed Harold Dade, 130, Chicago, 10.

Horse races of one kind or another have been held in Liverpool, England, for more than 400 years.

To Boost Hunts

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—Up to 10 hunts meetings a year would be permitted at race tracks in the state under measures approved in both houses of the Legislature. However, one of the identical bills passed yesterday must be approved by the other legislative House before the measure can be submitted for Governor Dewey's signature. Steeplechase races predominate at hunts meetings. Only two such meetings were held last year. The meetings would be limited to three days and could be with or without pari-mutuel betting.

San Jose, Calif.—Felix Ramirez, 132½, San Jose, outpointed Harold Dade, 130, Chicago, 10.

Horse races of one kind or another have been held in Liverpool, England, for more than 400 years.

High School Opens Intersectionals Here Friday Against Amsterdam

NFA's DUSO Champions Will Meet Troy High Here Saturday Night

The annual pursuit of Coach Sig Makofski's high-powered Mont Pleasant Red Raiders of Schenectady starts Friday night, when intersectional basketball competition between Section 9 (DUSO) and the capital district opens at the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

Kingston High is scheduled to meet Amsterdam in the tournament opener here.

The contest will be preceded by a preliminary between the KHS Jayvees and the Myron Michael School All Stars.

Middies First Victims

Well, where does Mont Pleasant come in.

They open their campaign for a third straight intersectional crown by meeting poor, little Middletown High, Saturday night at Convention Hall in Saratoga Springs.

After the preliminary confusion has been settled, here is the setup for the second round:

If Kingston High gets by Amsterdam, it will travel to Saratoga Springs on Tuesday, March 13.

If Mont Pleasant succeeds in beating Middletown, it will come to Kingston on March 13 to do battle with Newburgh Academy, assuming, of course, that "Lanky" Masterson's Gallopin' Goldbacks handle Troy here this Saturday night.

The form chart says the Raiders and Goldbacks should hurdle their primary road blocks in rather easy fashion. Middletown doesn't figure to extend the Raiders on a court that is a second home for the Dorpian sharpshooters, while Newburgh, despite three losses on the road this season, appears capable of handing a so-so Troy quintet.

Big Local Attraction

A Mont Pleasant-Newburgh contest would be welcomed by hundreds of local fans who have been reading glowing reports about Makofski's calfskin sharpies but have never seen them in action.

Mont Pleasant, humbled N.F.A. in decisive fashion in last year's finals and will be heavily favored this time. But, according to capital district sportswriters, the current Red Raider edition is a good team but not the overpowering stuff of former years. They had a 42-game winning streak snapped by Albany High early this season and have been pressed on a couple of other occasions. But, their overall record shows only one defeat.

It is entirely within the potentialities of Coach Masterson's cagers to upend the Red Raiders. A N.F.A. triumph would do much to restore battered DUSO prestige. Since the start of the intersectional tournament, the Raiders have been openly contemptuous of DUSO League opposition. To this day they are still writing off Kingston's sensational overtime victory in the series opener as just a lucky break.

The schedule favors Kingston this time out, since the Maroons can advance to the finals without having to face Newburgh or Mont Pleasant en route.

The winner of Tuesday's Mont Pleasant-Newburgh contest will wind up in one bracket of the finals. Kingston, which figures to rebound from a series of late season setbacks, could easily wind up in the other bracket of the finals.

Immaculate Conception Cagers Win Church League 'B' Division Title

Clinches Crown 67-43 Win Over SA

Immaculate Conception No. 1 has clinched the Junior Division Church League basketball crown with a 67 to 43 victory over the Salvation Army.

The triumph was the tenth straight for the Conception cagers, who were undefeated after an opening night loss to St. Mary's B squad.

Colclough, a prolific scorer throughout the season, closed the campaign with a 28-point spree on 14 fields. Gardiner trailed with 15 and Letus had 12.

Comstock's 11 paced the Salvation Army quintet that was snowed under from the outset. The Conception quintet ran up a 22-4 quarter lead and pulled ahead, 46-16, at the halfway mark.

Bahl Paces A.Z.A.

Mike Bahl's 16 points, 11 coming in the fourth period, paced the A.Z.A. quintet to a 41-32 victory over St. Joseph's. The clubs were deadlocked at 28-28 when Bahl embarked on his spree. Perlowin added 13 points to the winning total.

Reilly and Cahill each racked up a dozen points for the lossers.

The Indians staked their claim with a 58-44 victory over Niagara last night. The win gave Siena a record of 19 wins and six losses, with one game left—at Villanova Saturday.

In other upstate games, Cornell turned back Canisius, 72-60, and Williams defeated Rensselaer Polytechnic, 65-60.

Siena is the host team in the National Catholic Invitational Tourney here March 13-17 but it hopes to be among the four eastern "at-large" teams expected to be picked today for the NCAA.

Siena also has expressed a desire to enter the Bradley Tournament at Peoria, Ill., March 27-31.

Syracuse accepted a bid to the campus tourney yesterday.

Wiltwyck-Angel Tie In YMCA 'A' League

Both Clubs Score Lopsided Wins

Harry's Angels and Wiltwyck Motors maintained their first place tie in the third round of the Y Basketball with heavy scoring sprees last night on the Y court.

Led by Andy Juhl's 28 points, the Angels rolled over Elston Sports, 87 to 49.

Wiltwycks drubbed Chez Emile, 92-48, with "Pappy" Sickler drilling 30 points and Don Haggerty tossing in 26.

The victories were accomplished quickly and surely. Wiltwycks led 18-9 at the quarter and 45-24 over Chez Emile. The Angels glided to a 22-10 quarter lead and 39-15 halftime bulge over Elstons.

Bud Scheffel accounted for 16 Angel markers, and Dunham and Petruski each bagging a dozen. Brannen led Elstons with 16 and Osterhoudt had 14.

Ferrell McElrath aided the Wiltwyck cause with 16 points and "Red" Murray had 10. Holstein was the Chez scoring leader with 15 and Thomas tossed in 11.

Bowling

Elizabeth Sass and L. LaRocca waged a keen duel for high triple honors in the Business Girls League, the former winning out by a single stick, 442 to 441. Mrs. LaRocca rolled high single of 165. Howland 511; Dick Little 502; Arthur MacDaniels 497; Ed Himmelsback 493; Doug Harvey 204-493; and Richard Halbert 486.

Booster League officials are readying the sheepskin and diploma for Robert "Giants" Tierney, the perennial member who gives definite signs of boosting his average well over the 150 mark that means an automatic heave-ho from the "cradle of bowling."

Inspired no doubt by the glowing reports from the Giant training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., Tierney electrified Booster League members last night with a rousing 267 solo and 604 series at the Bowlodrome.

The 267 is the highest single in Tierney's career and believed to be the highest in the history of the Booster League. His opening counts of 175 and 162 added up to 604.

Several others got into the high scoring act, with Don Keyser spanking the maples for 215-564; an unidentified kegler shooting 200-209-588; W. Maisenhelder 219-522; Joe Tellier 520; Sam Avnet 519; Lou Scism 214-516; W. Letus 508; D. Mendel 506; W. Naccarato 502; Guernsey Burger Jr. and B. Goldstein 491; R. Cline 489; R. Grossbohlin 486; J. Robinson Claims He's Welter King

Miami, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who won the middleweight boxing title from Jake LaMotta last month, says he's still welterweight king, too.

Robinson indicated yesterday he was willing to defend his title in the welterweight division.

He referred to decisions of the New York and Illinois State Athletic Commissions to take away his welter crown by saying:

"I don't see how they can rightfully take my welterweight title away from me. It wasn't given to me. I fought hard for it.

"I think I should be given a chance to defend my welterweight title."

Robinson said he now weighs 155 pounds, one pound more than when he defeated LaMotta in Chicago on Feb. 14. He said he could make the 147-pound welterweight limit without difficulty.

Tax Hike Would Make $3.65 Whiskey $4.60

Consumers are generally unaware of the price rise on a bottle of liquor resultant from the $3-a-gallon increase in the federal excise tax on distilled spirits as proposed in Congress.

This is the announcement of Harry P. Herrfeldt, vice-president in charge of sales for Park & Tilford Distillers Corp., just returned from visits to major marketing centers between New York and California.

According to Herrfeldt, the additional $3 levy, together with the additional markups, would mean an increase to the consumer of about $1.10 a fifth bottle for all Scotch, imported gin and cognac and bottled-in-bond whiskey, and a rise of about 95 cents a fifth for the dominant 86-proof whiskey blends.

He pointed out that leading whiskey brands now retailing in New York at $3.65 would rise to about $4.60, while those selling for $4.05 would go up to about $5, and standard Scotches would rise to about $6.70 with corresponding prices elsewhere.

North Carolina's fishing industry grosses more than $8,000,000 annually.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Phoenix, March 7 (AP)—Right-hander Frank Shea is trying to earn a berth with the New York Yankees for the fourth time—"and if I don't make it now, I'll start reading the 'help wanted' columns."

Shea sparked the Yankees to the American League pennant in 1947 when he was only a freshman. After that, he had arm trouble and seemed to lose everything but the will to come back. He knows, however, that this figures to be his last chance.

"I took the best possible care of myself during the winter," Shea said. "All those arm and shoulder miseries are gone—for the present, anyway. I'll know next month if I can make it."

Kramer Adamant

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Jack Kramer, the New York Giants lone holdout, has indicated he'd rather be released than sign for what the Giants are offering him—a reported $14,000.

But that apparently doesn't bother the New York management. Horace Stoneham, club president, said "I don't care whether I ever see Kramer."

The big righthander won three games for the Giants last year and lost six.

No Aid For Banta

Vero Beach, Fla., March 7 (AP)—The novocaine treatments haven't helped Jack Banta's arm trouble.

The tall righthander received several injections yesterday to relieve the pain in his right shoulder. But it didn't work. "It still hurts," he admitted later.

"The novocaine relieves some of the pain while I'm throwing," he added, "but after it wears off, I can't lift my arm."

Bradenton, Fla., March 7 (AP)—The Boston Braves will have another eight-inning intra-squad game today and Manager Billy Southworth will have as many rookie pitchers to give two-inning turns.

First Test Planned

The first part of the examination for local firemen will be held Thursday at 7:15 p. m. at the high school, the local Civil Service Commission announced today. The first section of the test will be mental.

U. S. Track Stars Annex Four New Pan Am Titles

Buenos Aires, March 7 (AP)—The first Pan American games, narrowed down to swimming, boxing, and basketball, prepared to close shop entirely Friday night in a burst of pageantry and ceremonies.

By any form of reckoning, Argentina has taken the lions share of honors. However, the United States came out on top decisively in track, which is the center of this program just as in the Olympics. Uncle Sam's lads have won 14 championships and amassed 221 points on the unofficial point basis against 158 for Argentina, 51, for Brazil and Chile, and 40 for Cuba.

The huge home crowd—about 70,000—had little to cheer about yesterday, with the United States winning four track titles and Ecuador taking its first.

But Delfo Cabrera, Argentina's Olympic hero, atoned for everything. With the help of crowd, he won the marathon.

Cabrera was an exhausted runner when he jogged into the stadium through the doorway beneath the Pan American torch. He slowed to a walk and almost stood still but the excited fans urged him on and he completed the gruelling course 10 minutes ahead of teammate Reinaldo Gorno.

It took a showpiece like the marathon to obscure the fact that two makeshift United States relay teams flirted with world records. In the 400-meter relay, with Arthur Bragg at anchor, the U. S. was timed in 41 seconds flat against the record of 39.8.

But in the 1,600-meter relay, with Mal Whitfield at anchor, the team really cut loose, winning by more than 80 yards in 3:09.9. That's an average of 47.5 second per quarter—and that's plenty good. The world record is 3:08.2.

"I'm mighty proud of what my boys did," said U. S. track coach Jim Kelly, "considering they had no outdoor practice and met some fine competition we are more than happy."

In women's track the three leaders were Chile with 57 and the U. S. and Argentina with 53.

In basketball, everything points to Thursday night's game between the United States and Argentina. Both are unbeaten. The U. S. defeated Brazil, 74-42, and Argentina turned back Chile, 54-47.

The unofficial point totals now stand Argentina 907, U.S.A. 688½, Chile 230, Mexico 216½, Brazil 212, Cuba 106, Peru 85, Guatemala and Trinidad 28, Ecuador 20, Colombia 19, Venezuela 16½, Jamaica 12, Panama 11, Haiti 7, Paraguay 4, Nicaragua 2½ and El Salvador 1.

Many On Trial

Sarasota, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Lefty Maury McDermott, who boasts that he finally has acquired control, will be given a chance to prove it today during the Boston Red Sox's first intra-squad practice game.

McDermott and Jim Suchecki have been assigned to fling against the regulars and Manager Steve O'Neill will send out Ben Flowers and Jim Atkins against the Yannigans.

O'Neil has ordered Ted Williams and Dom DiMaggio to idle but plans to use both of those outfielders against the Phillies on Sunday.

Bowling

Elizabeth Sass and L. LaRocca waged a keen duel for high triple honors in the Business Girls League, the former winning out by a single stick, 442 to 441. Mrs. LaRocca rolled high single of 165. Other "400" bowlers were D. Wood with 167-431; M. Speicher 417. Near-misses included L. Jordan's 398, M. Dunn 397 and S. O'Bryan 393.

Sheldon Levy's 579, with 193-174-212, was the best series in a heavy scoring session of the Silver Palace League. Ralph Mayone powered 556; Herm Seelbach 551; Jack Thompson 549; John Lowe 215-549; Joe Mannello 220-548; Bud Evans 548; John Frederick 201-547; Elwood Robinson 546; Willie Winslow 223-542; and Orville Carney, 541.

Joe Bell, Frank "700" Grimaldi and Ronnie Mauro rolled into the "600" bracket in the Central Recreation League last night. Bell leading the parade with 226-189-203-618. Grimaldi shot 227-606 and Mauro posted 203-214-606.

Bea Arlensky's 504 was the lone "500" series in the Friendship League last night. She sandwiched a 134 with 190 and 180 to pace the 16-team Tuesday night wheel.

Ada Markle accounted for 497; Miriam Posner 489; Chrissie Wilson 484; Evelyn Gross 474; Kay Roosa 466; M. Williams 460; Marge Logan 458; Marge Jansen 456; Dot Flemings 452; Jessie Burnett and Carrie Mohr 449.

Both individual scoring honors went to Addison Schultz, the golfer-bowler, in the Y Federation National kegling. Warming up slowly, Schultz hit for 152, 179 and 220. Howland 511; Dick Little 502; Arthur MacDaniels 497; Ed Himmelsback 493; Doug Harvey 204-493; and Richard Halbert 486.

Booster League officials are readying the sheepskin and diploma for Robert "Giants" Tierney, the perennial member who gives definite signs of boosting his average well over the 150 mark that means an automatic heave-ho from the "cradle of bowling."

Inspired no doubt by the glowing reports from the Giant training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., Tierney electrified Booster League members last night with a rousing 267 solo and 604 series at the Bowlodrome.

The 267 is the highest single in Tierney's career and believed to be the highest in the history of the Booster League. His opening counts of 175 and 162 added up to 604.

Several others got into the high scoring act, with Don Keyser spanking the maples for 215-564; an unidentified kegler shooting 200-209-528; W. Robinson Claims He's Welter King

Miami, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who won the middleweight boxing title from Jake LaMotta last month, says he's still welterweight king, too.

Robinson indicated yesterday he was willing to defend his title in the welterweight division.

He referred to decisions of the New York and Illinois State Athletic Commissions to take away his welter crown by saying:

"I don't see how they can rightfully take my welterweight title away from me. It wasn't given to me. I fought hard for it.

"I think I should be given a chance to defend my welterweight title."

Robinson said he now weighs 155 pounds, one pound more than when he defeated LaMotta in Chicago on Feb. 14. He said he could make the 147-pound welterweight limit without difficulty.

Tax Hike Would Make $3.65 Whiskey $4.60

Consumers are generally unaware of the price rise on a bottle of liquor resultant from the $3-a-gallon increase in the federal excise tax on distilled spirits as proposed in Congress.

This is the announcement of Harry P. Herrfeldt, vice-president in charge of sales for Park & Tilford Distillers Corp., just returned from visits to major marketing centers between New York and California.

According to Herrfeldt, the additional $3 levy, together with the additional markups, would mean an increase to the consumer of about $1.10 a fifth bottle for all Scotch, imported gin and cognac and bottled-in-bond whiskey, and a rise of about 95 cents a fifth for the dominant 86-proof whiskey blends.

He pointed out that leading whiskey brands now retailing in New York at $3.65 would rise to about $4.60, while those selling for $4.05 would go up to about $5, and standard Scotches would rise to about $6.70 with corresponding prices elsewhere.

North Carolina's fishing industry grosses more than $8,000,000 annually.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Phoenix, March 7 (AP)—Righthander Frank Shea is trying to earn a berth with the New York Yankees for the fourth time—"and if I don't make it now, I'll start reading the 'help wanted' columns."

Shea sparked the Yankees to the American League pennant in 1947 when he was only a freshman. After that, he had arm trouble and seemed to lose everything but the will to come back. He knows, however, that this figures to be his last chance.

"I took the best possible care of myself during the winter," Shea said. "All those arm and shoulder miseries are gone—for the present, anyway. I'll know next month if I can make it."

Kramer Adamant

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Jack Kramer, the New York Giants lone holdout, has indicated he'd rather be released than sign for what the Giants are offering him—a reported $14,000.

But that apparently doesn't bother the New York management. Horace Stoneham, club president, said "I don't care whether I ever see Kramer."

No Aid For Banta

Vero Beach, Fla., March 7 (AP)—The novocaine treatments haven't helped Jack Banta's arm trouble.

The tall righthander received several injections yesterday to relieve the pain in his right shoulder. But it didn't work. "It still hurts," he admitted later.

"The novocaine relieves some of the pain while I'm throwing," he added, "but after it wears off, I can't lift my arm."

Bradenton, Fla., March 7 (AP)—The Boston Braves will have another eight-inning intra-squad game today and Manager Billy Southworth will have as many rookie pitchers to give two-inning turns.

First Test Planned

The first part of the examination for local firemen will be held Thursday at 7:15 p. m. at the high school, the local Civil Service Commission announced today. The first section of the test will be mental.

U. S. Track Stars Annex Four New Pan Am Titles

Buenos Aires, March 7 (AP)—The first Pan American games, narrowed down to swimming, boxing, and basketball, prepared to close shop entirely Friday night in a burst of pageantry and ceremonies.

By any form of reckoning, Argentina has taken the lions share of honors. However, the United States came out on top decisively in track, which is the center of this program just as in the Olympics. Uncle Sam's lads have won 14 championships and amassed 221 points on the unofficial point basis against 158 for Argentina, 51, for Brazil and Chile, and 40 for Cuba.

The huge home crowd—about 70,000—had little to cheer about yesterday, with the United States winning four track titles and Ecuador taking its first.

But Delfo Cabrera, Argentina's Olympic hero, atoned for everything. With the help of crowd, he won the marathon.

Cabrera was an exhausted runner when he jogged into the stadium through the doorway beneath the Pan American torch. He slowed to a walk and almost stood still but the excited fans urged him on and he completed the gruelling course 10 minutes ahead of teammate Reinaldo Gorno.

It took a showpiece like the marathon to obscure the fact that two makeshift United States relay teams flirted with world records. In the 400-meter relay, with Arthur Bragg at anchor, the U. S. was timed in 41 seconds flat against the record of 39.8.

But in the 1,600-meter relay, with Mal Whitfield at anchor, the team really cut loose, winning by more than 80 yards in 3:09.9. That's an average of 47.5 second per quarter—and that's plenty good. The world record is 3:08.2.

"I'm mighty proud of what my boys did," said U. S. track coach Jim Kelly, "considering they had no outdoor practice and met some fine competition we are more than happy."

In women's track the three leaders were Chile with 57 and the U. S. and Argentina with 53.

In basketball, everything points to Thursday night's game between the United States and Argentina. Both are unbeaten. The U. S. defeated Brazil, 74-42, and Argentina turned back Chile, 54-47.

The unofficial point totals now stand Argentina 907, U.S.A. 688½, Chile 230, Mexico 216½, Brazil 212, Cuba 106, Peru 85, Guatemala and Trinidad 28, Ecuador 20, Colombia 19, Venezuela 16½, Jamaica 12, Panama 11, Haiti 7, Paraguay 4, Nicaragua 2½ and El Salvador 1.

Many On Trial

Sarasota, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Lefty Maury McDermott, who boasts that he finally has acquired control, will be given a chance to prove it today during the Boston Red Sox's first intra-squad practice game.

McDermott and Jim Suchecki have been assigned to fling against the regulars and Manager Steve O'Neill will send out Ben Flowers and Jim Atkins against the Yannigans.

O'Neil has ordered Ted Williams and Dom DiMaggio to idle but plans to use both of those outfielders against the Phillies on Sunday.

Bowling

Elizabeth Sass and L. LaRocca waged a keen duel for high triple honors in the Business Girls League, the former winning out by a single stick, 442 to 441. Mrs. LaRocca rolled high single of 165. Other "400" bowlers were D. Wood with 167-431; M. Speicher 417. Near-misses included L. Jordan's 398, M. Dunn 397 and S. O'Bryan 393.

Sheldon Levy's 579, with 193-174-212, was the best series in a heavy scoring session of the Silver Palace League. Ralph Mayone powered 556; Herm Seelbach 551; Jack Thompson 549; John Lowe 215-549; Joe Mannello 220-548; Bud Evans 548; John Frederick 201-547; Elwood Robinson 546; Willie Winslow 223-542; and Orville Carney, 541.

Other high scorers were Stan Warren 536; Jack Martin 536; H. Svirsky 207-533; J. McGrane 217-532; Larry Jacobs 521 and Mitzie Arlensky 527.

Joe Bell, Frank "700" Grimaldi and Ronnie Mauro rolled into the "600" bracket in the Central Recreation League last night, Bell leading the parade with 226-189-203-618. Grimaldi shot 227-606 and Mauro posted 203-214-606.

Other good pinfall was credited to Eddie Heins with 213-212-595; D. Miller 205-207-588; Joe Sangi 246-587; Frank Bruno 223-580; W. Wood 206-212-576; Joe Bosco 225-572; Carl Bowser 212-571; Stan Colvin 536; Ed Auchmoody 523 and Don Peterson 520.

Bea Arlensky's 504 was the lone "500" series in the Friendship League last night. She sandwiched a 134 with 190 and 180 to pace the 16-team Tuesday night wheel.

Ada Markle accounted for 497; Miriam Posner 489; Chrissie Wilson 484; Evelyn Gross 474; Kay Roosa 466; M. Williams 460; Marge Logan 458; Marge Jansen 456; Dot Flemings 452; Jessie Burnett and Carrie Mohr 449.

Both individual scoring honors went to Addison Schultz, the golfer-bowler, in the Y Federation National kegling. Warming up slowly, Schultz hit for 152, 179 and 220. Runnerup Howard Minard posted 536; Ferd Short and Don Wood (215) each had 512; G. Howland 511; Dick Little 502; Arthur MacDaniels 497; Ed Himmelsback 493; Doug Harvey 204-493; and Richard Halbert 486.

Booster League officials are readying the sheepskin and diploma for Robert "Giants" Tierney, the perennial member who gives definite signs of boosting his average well over the 150 mark that means an automatic heave-ho from the "cradle of bowling."

Inspired no doubt by the glowing reports from the Giant training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., Tierney electrified Booster League members last night with a rousing 267 solo and 604 series at the Bowlodrome.

The 267 is the highest single in Tierney's career and believed to be the highest in the history of the Booster League. His opening counts of 175 and 162 added up to 604.

Several others got into the high scoring act, with Don Keyser spanking the maples for 215-564; an unidentified kegler shooting 200-209-528; W. Maisenhelder 219-522; Joe Tellier 520; Sam Aynet 519; Lou Scism 214-516; W. Letus 508; D. Mendel 506; W. Naccarato 502; Guernsey Burger Jr. and B. Goldstein 491; R. Cline 489; R. Grossbohlin 486; J. Robinson Claims He's Welter King

Miami, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who won the middleweight boxing title from Jake LaMotta last month, says he's still welterweight king, too.

Robinson indicated yesterday he was willing to defend his title in the welterweight division.

He referred to decisions of the New York and Illinois State Athletic Commissions to take away his welter crown by saying:

"I don't see how they can rightfully take my welterweight title away from me. It wasn't given to me. I fought hard for it.

"I think I should be given a chance to defend my welterweight title."

Robinson said he now weighs 155 pounds, one pound more than when he defeated LaMotta in Chicago on Feb. 14. He said he could make the 147-pound welterweight limit without difficulty.

Tax Hike Would Make $3.65 Whiskey $4.60

Consumers are generally unaware of the price rise on a bottle of liquor resultant from the $3-a-gallon increase in the federal excise tax on distilled spirits as proposed in Congress.

This is the announcement of Harry P. Herrfeldt, vice-president in charge of sales for Park & Tilford Distillers Corp., just returned from visits to major marketing centers between New York and California.

According to Herrfeldt, the additional $3 levy, together with the additional markups, would mean an increase to the consumer of about $1.10 a fifth bottle for all Scotch, imported gin and cognac and bottled-in-bond whiskey, and a rise of about 95 cents a fifth for the dominant 86-proof whiskey blends.

He pointed out that leading whiskey brands now retailing in New York at $3.65 would rise to about $4.60, while those selling for $4.05 would go up to about $5, and standard Scotches would rise to about $6.70 with corresponding prices elsewhere.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Phoenix, March 7 (AP)—Right-hander Frank Shea is trying to earn a berth with the New York Yankees for the fourth time—"and if I don't make it now, I'll start reading the 'help wanted' columns."

Shea sparked the Yankees to the American League pennant in 1947 when he was only a freshman. After that, he had arm trouble and seemed to lose everything but the will to come back. He knows, however, that this figures to be his last chance.

"I took the best possible care of myself during the winter," Shea said. "All those arm and shoulder miseries are gone—for the present, anyway. I'll know next month if I can make it."

Kramer Adamant

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Jack Kramer, the New York Giants lone holdout, has indicated he'd rather be released than sign for what the Giants are offering him—a reported $14,000.

But that apparently doesn't bother the New York management. Horace Stoneham, club president, said "I don't care whether I ever see Kramer."

No Aid For Banta

Vero Beach, Fla., March 7 (AP)—The novocaine treatments haven't helped Jack Banta's arm trouble.

The tall righthander received several injections yesterday to relieve the pain in his right shoulder. But it didn't work. "It still hurts," he admitted later.

"The novocaine relieves some of the pain while I'm throwing," he added, "but after it wears off, I can't lift my arm."

Bradenton, Fla., March 7 (AP)—The Boston Braves will have another eight-inning intra-squad game today and Manager Billy Southworth will have as many rookie pitchers to give two-inning turns.

Tucson, Ariz., March 7 (AP)—Luscious (Luke) Easter, one of Cleveland's most important sluggers, should recover completely from a painful arm injury in a week, Dr. W. R. Manning says.

First Test Planned

The first part of the examination for local firemen will be held Thursday at 7:15 p. m. at the high school, the local Civil Service Commission announced today. The first section of the test will be mental.

U. S. Track Stars Annex Four New Pan Am Titles

Buenos Aires, March 7 (AP)—The first Pan American games, narrowed down to swimming, boxing, and basketball, prepared to close shop entirely Friday night in a burst of pageantry and ceremonies.

By any form of reckoning, Argentina has taken the lions share of honors. However, the United States came out on top decisively in track, which is the center of this program just as in the Olympics. Uncle Sam's lads have won 14 championships and amassed 221 points on the unofficial point basis against 158 for Argentina, 51, for Brazil and Chile, and 40 for Cuba.

The huge home crowd—about 70,000—had little to cheer about yesterday, with the United States winning four track titles and Ecuador taking its first.

But Delfo Cabrera, Argentina's Olympic hero, atoned for everything. With the help of crowd, he won the marathon.

Cabrera was an exhausted runner when he jogged into the stadium through the doorway beneath the Pan American torch. He slowed to a walk and almost stood still but the excited fans urged him on and he completed the gruelling course 10 minutes ahead of teammate Reinaldo Gorno.

It took a showpiece like the marathon to obscure the fact that two makeshift United States relay teams flirted with world records. In the 400-meter relay, with Arthur Bragg at anchor, the U. S. was timed in 41 seconds flat against the record of 39.8.

But in the 1,600-meter relay, with Mal Whitfield at anchor, the team really cut loose, winning by more than 80 yards in 3:09.9. That's an average of 47.5 second per quarter—and that's plenty good. The world record is 3:08.2.

"I'm mighty proud of what my boys did," said U. S. track coach Jim Kelly, "considering they had no outdoor practice and met some fine competition we are more than happy."

In women's track the three leaders were Chile with 57 and the U. S. and Argentina with 53.

In basketball, everything points to Thursday night's game between the United States and Argentina. Both are unbeaten. The U. S. defeated Brazil, 74-42, and Argentina turned back Chile, 54-47.

The unofficial point totals now stand Argentina 907, U.S.A. 688½, Chile 230, Mexico 216½, Brazil 212, Cuba 106, Peru 85, Guatemala and Trinidad 28, Ecuador 20, Colombia 19, Venezuela 16½, Jamaica 12, Panama 11, Haiti 7, Paraguay 4, Nicaragua 2½ and El Salvador 1.

Many On Trial

Sarasota, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Lefty Maury McDermott, who boasts that he finally has acquired control, will be given a chance to prove it today during the Boston Red Sox's first intra-squad practice game.

McDermott and Jim Suchecki have been assigned to fling against the regulars and Manager Steve O'Neill will send out Ben Flowers and Jim Atkins against the Yannigans.

O'Neil has ordered Ted Williams and Dom DiMaggio to idle but plans to use both of those outfielders against the Phillies on Sunday.

Bond Issues . . .

'No Sense in Voting'

The first point, he considered, Cole said, was that there appeared to be no sense in voting $75,000 for street work, if the aldermen were not willing to go along in providing equipment to do the work.

A second important point, Cole said, was that "these are critical times we are having now as far as materials are concerned, and I feel that by providing for the materials now we will be doing the best for the city at large." A situation may arise, he added, where equipment may deteriorate and be of no use, and later there may be no opportunity to buy new equipment.

"We did cut $15,000 off," Cole said in referring to the bond issue for materials, but the items omitted, he said, "in my opinion are not entirely necessary." Superintendent Steuding, he said, indicated he "would like to have" two road graders, but said he would get along with one new one and an old one. The requested office equipment he felt was not "a necessity right now."

Cole explained the position of the minority which went along solidly on the vote favoring the two new fire trucks, and said he wanted to spike a "rumor" which had reached the press to the effect that "We (the Democrats) were out to beat down," the proposal.

Cole said that at the meeting in which the fire truck proposal was introduced, he as a minority member, was not directly opposed, but had requested delayed action until the next meeting with a view to questioning Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

"All I said," Cole stressed, "was that I'd like it delayed until the March meeting . . . Of course, I vote aye."

Alderman Carroll said before his vote in favor of the B.P.W. bond issue, that he was "disappointed that the streets in the tenth ward have not been reconstructed. "Some," he said, "are in terrible shape." He was in favor of getting the materials to get the street work done, he said.

Alderman Buboltz said before his vote that he still felt the need to cut down in expenditures.

Materials Requested

The materials requested by the public works department besides the grader, includes a sanding and scraping vehicle, sewer cleaning machine, machinists' shop lathe, pneumatic drills and breakers, a small truck and utility vehicle.

The regular "form" resolution giving final authorization to the bond issues is expected to be adopted at the next session of the council. The aldermen last night voted for reports of the finance and laws and rules committees favoring the bond issues.

The new fire trucks will replace trucks which have been in service many years at Cordts and Rapid hose companies.

The Board of Fire Commissioners, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and about 25 volunteer firemen representing the two companies attended the meeting.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 7 (AP)—Steadiness was the keynote today in the stock market.

The movement on the upside was held under a dollar for the most part, and few losers went down more than that amount.

The narrowness of the price range was accompanied by a low volume of business, a tendency that was in line with recent markets.

Most of the attention was focused on a few individual issues affected by corporate developments.

Cities Service, which moved today from the curb market to the big board, opened up ⅝ at 89½. It traded sluggishly in that area.

Eastman Kodak gained fractionally on a good earnings report that showed profits last year equal to $4.50 a share as against $3.80 the year before.

Distillers Corp.-Seagrams was the standout in the distilling group, also with a fractional gain, on a good earnings showing in the quarter ended Jan. 31 and also for the six months to that date.

Textron was up fractionally after declaration of a quarterly dividend of 50 cents on common as compared with 25 cents previously paid.

'Little Venice'

Venezuela was so named because the Spaniards found villages there built on stilts over the water—Venezuela means "little Venice."

Jonkel on Stand at Senate Hearing

Jon Jonkel (left), campaign manager for Sen. John Butler (R-Md.), testifies, March 6, before a Senate elections subcommittee hearing in Washington on charges that unfair campaign tactics were used by Butler forces in defeat of former Democratic Senator Millard Tydings. Jonkel and his attorney, Edward Williams (right) look at a copy of a check placed in evidence. Jonkel identified it as a check for $1,500 which he said was loaned him during the campaign by Mrs. Ruth McCormick Miler, editor of the Washington Times Herald. (AP Wirephoto)

Variety of Claims

The Riseley claim filed by Flanagan & Ortale, said the claimant also held that a crosswalk across John street at its easterly junction with Wall street was unsafe last Jan. 31 when the claimant suffered a fractured pelvis, bruises, contusions, lacerations and abrasions. It held that the injuries were "plainful and disabling."

The Leverenz claim said the claimant suffered bruises, contusions, lacerations of the head and injuries of the body in a fall on Locust avenue near Delaware avenue last Feb. 2. This was also filed by Flanagan & Ortale.

Mrs. Edna Addis, 130 Wall street, who said she fell last Feb. 2 near 611 Broadway, cut an eye and broke her glasses, filed a claim for $58.40, and Loretta Peskie, 11 Clifton avenue, without mentioning an amount, said she fell on the sidewalk near 133 Highland avenue Feb. 7 and suffered a broken wrist.

To Restrict Parking

On favorable report of the traffic committee the council voted to restrict parking to one hour near the property of Christopher Dauner, florist, of 56-58 Ten-Broeck avenue.

Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll, who at a meeting last year asked action on complaints against the alleged neighborhood inconveniences in the conduct of the business of the Ashley Welding Machine & Iron Co., Inc., at Henry and Sterling streets, again asked investigation by the traffic committee and police chief. His resolution noted that the corporation counsel had ruled following the first resolution, that the concern was not in violation of zoning regulations, but he asked further investigation of the former complaints.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, revealed after a resolution by Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms, asked for a fire alarm box in Roosevelt Park, that two boxes are already planned for the area.

Would Check Speeding

A resolution by Fourth Ward Alderman Buboltz and Edwin Radel, Third ward, asked for investigation of speeding on the East Chester street by-pass and was referred to the police chief and traffic committee.

Alderman Buboltz wanted to know what had happened to his previous resolution asking for synchronization of a light at Broadway and Delaware avenue with the one at East Chester street and Broadway. Alderman Storms said the traffic committee had delayed acting on it because the Democratic member was unable to attend its session on the proposal.

A letter from the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Association, signed by its president, James P. Martin, thanked the council "for passing the resolution granting the wage increase to employes. . . . It is appreciated by all." It was read and filed.

Tin Buying Stops

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The government announced yesterday all new purchases of tin for the national stockpile will be suspended immediately. Suspension of the purchases for the stockpile had been recommended by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee until Britain and other non-Communist countries agreed to stop what the senators termed "gouging" of American taxpayers by tin mine owners and speculators. Announcing the decision to stop new purchases, the General Services Administration said: "The policy is expected to continue until the price of tin reaches a reasonable level."

Undergoes Operation

London, March 7 (AP)—British ballerina Moira Shearer, star in the Sadler's Wells Ballet and in the movie "The Red Shoes," was operated on today for appendicitis.

Dunham Denies

they used their friendship with me, and possibly bits of information which they thereby picked up to convince others that they could 'influence' my decisions."

Going on then to speak of the "social group," he said he found, soon after taking office, that he was obviously regarded as a new member of it.

The men in it, he said, were Dawson, E. Merl Young, husband of a White House stenographer, James C. Windham, a former R.F.C. employe, Rex Jacobs, Detroit industrialist and Windham's employer, and William E. Willett, a fellow R.F.C. director.

Along 'Help' Lines

"I knew that Mr. Jacobs was active in the Democratic party and had some degree of White House entree," Dunham continued. "My impression was that the group was solely interested in the welfare of the Truman administration and that any R.F.C. interest they had was along this line."

Dawson, he said, introduced him to Willett and told him "the White House had great confidence in Mr. Willett."

Dawson also introduced him to President Truman, Dunham, said, and "told me that top R.F.C. personnel matters should be cleared through the White House. Because he was the only White House official I knew, I assumed that meant such matters should be cleared through him."

He said he contacted Dawson on many subjects.

The Senate Subcommittee made its charge that Dunham has yielded to influence in a report it sent to the Senate last month. The report named Dawson and Young and men who had influenced him. Young has denied it. Dawson has made no comment.

U.N. Makes . . .

Field dispatches on the action were delayed.

The assault-boat crossing of the Han followed intensive patrol action and nearly a week of bombardment of Chinese Communist positions.

Asks U.N. Decision

General MacArthur, on his 12th flying visit to the front warned anew of a Chinese buildup for a "massive offensive." He called again for a United Nations decision on what to do about Red China's undeclared war on the allies in Korea.

The U.N. military commander said in a statement that, as the situation stands, the Korean conflict will reach a "theoretical stalemate"—meaning that neither side could win.

MacArthur toured the front in a jeep and returned to Suwon airfield in a small observation plane. He boarded his own big transport plane, SCAP, at Suwon and flew beck to Tokyo.

"The battleline," said MacArthur, "cannot fail in time to reach a theoretical military stalemate. Even now there are indications the enemy attempted to build up from China a new and massive offensive in the spring.

"Vital decisions have yet to be made—decisions far beyond the scope of authority vested in me as the military commander. Decisions which are neither solely political nor solely military but which must provide on the highest international level an answer to obscurities which now becloud the unsolved problem raised by China's undeclared war in Korea."

Marriage Plans Reported

Los Angeles, March 7 (AP)—Plans of Minnewa Bell Ross, attractive Los Angeles socialite, and Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president, to be married in Florida this week were reported in a story carried by the Los Angeles Examiner today. The newspaper said information received here indicates the ceremony probably will take place at Mrs. Ross' Miami Beach residence after she obtains a final decre of divorce in the next day or two from Dr. Rex Louis Ross, Jr., Los Angeles physician. There have been reports of a romance between Elliott Roosevelt and Mrs. Ross for several months.

Police Checking Uptown Incident

A police investigation followed discovery last night of burned paper in an abandoned coal chute in the three-story Fein building at John and Wall streets.

Firemen were notified at 11:32 p. m., by Joseph Scott of Scott's Coat Dress and Lingerie Store, at 295 Wall street, in the building, that there was an odor of smoke there.

Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sanford said that a burned copy of last night's Freeman was found down the chute but had not entered the basement.

It appeared as if the burning paper had been thrown down the chute by someone who had lifted the iron cover outside, Sanford said.

Officer Charles Hoehing notified police headquarters at 11:50 p. m. and the report was relayed to the detectives. The burned paper, the police report said, was "brought to headquarters as evidence."

The building is owned by Benjamin Fein, of Saugerties. It houses a restaurant on the second floor and a pool room on the third.

Scott said he noticed the odor of smoke coming from an unused part of the cellar between Stein's on the corner and the Scott store when he was in the building tending a furnace. He notified firemen at the Wiltwyck station. The chute is on the Wall street side of the building.

Detective Clarence Brophy said today that the paper found burned was apparently one of two which had been left in the doorway of the Scott store by a carrier.

Collazo Case to Jury

Washington, March 7 (AP)—Oscar Collazo may know before today ends whether he must pay with his life for the part he played in a gun battle in front of Blair House last Nov. 1. Collazo has been on trial since a week ago Monday on murder charges growing out of the shooting, which the government argues was an attempt to assassinate President Truman. Indications were the case would go to a federal court jury of nine women and three men during the afternoon.

Bond Issues . . .

'No Sense in Voting'

The first point, he considered, Cole said, was that there appeared to be no sense in voting $75,000 for street work, if the aldermen were not willing to go along in providing equipment to do the work.

A second important point, Cole said, was that "these are critical times we are having now as far as materials are concerned, and I feel that by providing for the materials now we will be doing the best for the city at large." A situation may arise, he added, where equipment may deteriorate and be of no use, and later there may be no opportunity to buy new equipment.

"We did cut $15,000 off," Cole said in referring to the bond issue for materials, but the items omitted, he said, "in my opinion are not entirely necessary." Superintendent Steuding, he said, indicated he "would like to have" two road graders, but said he would get along with one new one and an old one. The requested office equipment he felt was not "a necessity right now."

Cole explained the position of the minority which went along solidly on the vote favoring the two new fire trucks, and said he wanted to spike a "rumor" which had reached the press to the effect that "We (the Democrats) were out to beat down," the proposal.

Cole said that at the meeting in which the fire truck proposal was introduced, he as a minority member, was not directly opposed, but had requested delayed action until the next meeting with a view to questioning Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

"All I said," Cole stressed, "was that I'd like it delayed until the March meeting . . . Of course, I vote aye."

Alderman Carroll said before his vote in favor of the B.P.W. bond issue, that he was "disappointed that the streets in the tenth ward have not been reconstructed. "Some," he said, "are in terrible shape." He was in favor of getting the materials to get the street work done, he said.

Alderman Buboltz said before his vote that he still felt the need to cut down in expenditures.

Materials Requested

The materials requested by the public works department besides the grader, includes a sanding and scraping vehicle, sewer cleaning machine, machinists' shop lathe, pneumatic drills and breakers, a small truck and utility vehicle.

The regular "form" resolution giving final authorization to the bond issues is expected to be adopted at the next session of the council. The aldermen last night voted for reports of the finance and laws and rules committees favoring the bond issues.

The new fire trucks will replace trucks which have been in service many years at Cordts and Rapid hose companies.

The Board of Fire Commissioners, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and about 25 volunteer firemen representing the two companies attended the meeting.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 7 (AP)—Steadiness was the keynote today in the stock market.

The movement on the upside was held under a dollar for the most part, and few losers went down more than that amount.

The narrowness of the price range was accompanied by a low volume of business, a tendency that was in line with recent markets.

Most of the attention was focused on a few individual issues affected by corporate developments.

Cities Service, which moved today from the curb market to the big board, opened up ⅜ at 89½. It traded sluggishly in that area.

Eastman Kodak gained fractionally on a good earnings report that showed profits last year equal to $4.50 a share as against $3.80 the year before.

Distillers Corp.-Seagrams was the standout in the distilling group, also with a fractional gain, on a good earnings showing in the quarter ended Jan. 31 and also for the six months to that date.

Textron was up fractionally after declaration of a quarterly dividend of 50 cents on common as compared with 25 cents previously paid.

'Little Venice'

Venezuela was so named because the Spaniards found villages there built on stilts over the water—Venezuela means "little Venice."

Jonkel on Stand at Senate Hearing

Jon Jonkel (left), campaign manager for Sen. John Butler (R-Md.), testifies, March 6, before a Senate elections subcommittee hearing in Washington on charges that unfair campaign tactics were used by Butler forces in defeat of former Democratic Senator Millard Tydings. Jonkel and his attorney, Edward Williams (right) look at a copy of a check placed in evidence. Jonkel identified it as a check for $1,500 which he said was loaned him during the campaign by Mrs. Ruth McCormick Miler, editor of the Washington Times Herald. (AP Wirephoto)

feldt, said the claimant had suffered severe sprains and bruises and a fractured left hip in a fall last Jan. 30 because a crosswalk at John and Wall streets was allegedly unsafe.

The Riseley claim filed by Flanagan & Ortale, said the claimant also held that a crosswalk across John street at its easterly junction with Wall street was unsafe last Jan. 31 when the claimant suffered a fractured pelvis, bruises, contusions, lacerations and abrasions. It held that the injuries were "plainful and disabling."

The Leverenz claim said the claimant suffered bruises, contusions, lacerations of the head and injuries of the body in a fall on Locust avenue near Delaware avenue last Feb. 2. This was also filed by Flanagan & Ortale.

Mrs. Edna Addis, 130 Wall street, who said she fell last Feb. 2 near 611 Broadway, cut an eye and broke her glasses, filed a claim for $58.40, and Loretta Peskie, 11 Clifton avenue, without mentioning an amount, said she fell on the sidewalk near 133 Highland avenue Feb. 7 and suffered a broken wrist.

To Restrict Parking

On favorable report of the traffic committee the council voted to restrict parking to one hour near the property of Christopher Dauner, florist, of 56-58 Ten-Broeck avenue.

Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll, who at a meeting last year asked action on complaints against the alleged neighborhood inconveniences in the conduct of the business of the Ashley Welding Machine & Iron Co., Inc., at Henry and Sterling streets, again asked investigation by the traffic committee and police chief. His resolution noted that the corporation counsel had ruled following the first resolution, that the concern was not in violation of zoning regulations, but he asked further investigation of the former complaints.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, revealed after a resolution by Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms, asked for a fire alarm box in Roosevelt Park, that two boxes are already planned for the area.

Would Check Speeding

A resolution by Fourth Ward Alderman Buboltz and Edwin Radel, Third ward, asked for investigation of speeding on the East Chester street by-pass and was referred to the police chief and traffic committee.

Alderman Buboltz wanted to know what had happened to his previous resolution asking for synchronization of a light at Broadway and Delaware avenue with the one at East Chester street and Broadway. Alderman Storms said the traffic committee had delayed acting on it because the Democratic member was unable to attend its session on the proposal.

A letter from the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Association, signed by its president, James P. Martin, thanked the council "for passing the resolution granting the wage increase to employes. . . . It is appreciated by all." It was read and filed.

Tin Buying Stops

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The government announced yesterday all new purchases of tin for the national stockpile will be suspended immediately. Suspension of the purchases for the stockpile had been recommended by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee until Britain and other non-Communist countries agreed to stop what the senators termed "gouging" of American taxpayers by tin mine owners and speculators. Announcing the decision to stop new purchases, the General Services Administration said: "The policy is expected to continue until the price of tin reaches a reasonable level."

Undergoes Operation

London, March 7 (AP)—British ballerina Moira Shearer, star in the Sadler's Wells Ballet and in the movie "The Red Shoes," was operated on today for appendicitis.

Dunham Denies

they used their friendship with me, and possibly bits of information which they thereby picked up to convince others that they could 'influence' my decisions."

Going on then to speak of the "social group," he said he found, soon after taking office, that he was obviously regarded as a new member of it.

The men in it, he said, were Dawson, E. Merl Young, husband of a White House stenographer, James C. Windham, a former R.F.C. employe, Rex Jacobs, Detroit industrialist and Windham's employer, and William E. Willett, a fellow R.F.C. director.

Along 'Help' Lines

"I knew that Mr. Jacobs was active in the Democratic party and had some degree of White House entree," Dunham continued. "My impression was that the group was solely interested in the welfare of the Truman administration and that any R.F.C. interest they had was along this line."

Dawson, he said, introduced him to Willett and told him "the White House had great confidence in Mr. Willett."

Dawson also introduced him to President Truman, Dunham, said, and "told me that top R.F.C. personnel matters should be cleared through the White House. Because he was the only White House official I knew, I assumed that meant such matters should be cleared through him."

He said he contacted Dawson on many subjects.

The Senate Subcommittee made its charge that Dunham has yielded to influence in a report it sent to the Senate last month. The report named Dawson and Young and men who had influenced him. Young has denied it. Dawson has made no comment.

U.N. Makes . . .

Field dispatches on the action were delayed.

The assault-boat crossing of the Han followed intensive patrol action and nearly a week of bombardment of Chinese Communist positions.

Asks U.N. Decision

General MacArthur, on his 12th flying visit to the front warned anew of a Chinese buildup for a "massive offensive." He called again for a United Nations decision on what to do about Red China's undeclared war on the allies in Korea.

The U.N. military commander said in a statement that, as the situation stands, the Korean conflict will reach a "theoretical stalemate"—meaning that neither side could win.

MacArthur toured the front in a jeep and returned to Suwon airfield in a small observation plane. He boarded his own big transport plane, SCAP, at Suwon and flew beck to Tokyo.

"The battleline," said MacArthur, "cannot fail in time to reach a theoretical military stalemate. Even now there are indications the enemy attempted to build up from China a new and massive offensive in the spring.

"Vital decisions have yet to be made—decisions far beyond the scope of authority vested in me as the military commander. Decisions which are neither solely political nor solely military but which must provide on the highest international level an answer to obscurities which now becloud the unsolved problem raised by China's undeclared war in Korea."

Marriage Plans Reported

Los Angeles, March 7 (AP)—Plans of Minnewa Bell Ross, attractive Los Angeles socialite, and Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president, to be married in Florida this week were reported in a story carried by the Los Angeles Examiner today. The newspaper said information received here indicates the ceremony probably will take place at Mrs. Ross' Miami Beach residence after she obtains a final decre of divorce in the next day or two from Dr. Rex Louis Ross, Jr., Los Angeles physician. There have been reports of a romance between Elliott Roosevelt and Mrs. Ross for several months.

Police Checking Uptown Incident

A police investigation followed discovery last night of burned paper in an abandoned coal chute in the three-story Fein building at John and Wall streets.

Firemen were notified at 11:32 p. m., by Joseph Scott of Scott's Coat Dress and Lingerie Store, at 295 Wall street, in the building, that there was an odor of smoke there.

Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sanford said that a burned copy of last night's Freeman was found down the chute but had not entered the basement.

It appeared as if the burning paper had been thrown down the chute by someone who had lifted the iron cover outside, Sanford said.

Officer Charles Hoehing notified police headquarters at 11:50 p. m. and the report was relayed to the detectives. The burned paper, the police report said, was "brought to headquarters as evidence."

The building is owned by Benjamin Fein, of Saugerties. It houses a restaurant on the second floor and a pool room on the third.

Scott said he noticed the odor of smoke coming from an unused part of the cellar between Stein's on the corner and the Scott store when he was in the building tending a furnace. He notified firemen at the Wiltwyck station. The chute is on the Wall street side of the building.

Detective Clarence Brophy said today that the paper found burned was apparently one of two which had been left in the doorway of the Scott store by a carrier.

Collazo Case to Jury

Washington, March 7 (AP)—Oscar Collazo may know before today ends whether he must pay with his life for the part he played in a gun battle in front of Blair House last Nov. 1. Collazo has been on trial since a week ago Monday on murder charges growing out of the shooting, which the government argues was an attempt to assassinate President Truman. Indications were the case would go to a federal court jury of nine women and three men during the afternoon.

Bond Issues . . .

'No Sense in Voting'

The first point, he considered, Cole said, was that there appeared to be no sense in voting $75,000 for street work, if the aldermen were not willing to go along in providing equipment to do the work.

A second important point, Cole said, was that "these are critical times we are having now as far as materials are concerned, and I feel that by providing for the materials now we will be doing the best for the city at large." A situation may arise, he added, where equipment may deteriorate and be of no use, and later there may be no opportunity to buy new equipment.

"We did cut $15,000 off," Cole said in referring to the bond issue for materials, but the items omitted, he said, "in my opinion are not entirely necessary." Superintendent Steuding, he said, indicated he "would like to have" two road graders, but said he would get along with one new one and an old one. The requested office equipment he felt was not "a necessity right now."

Cole explained the position of the minority which went along solidly on the vote favoring the two new fire trucks, and said he wanted to spike a "rumor" which had reached the press to the effect that "We (the Democrats) were out to beat down," the proposal.

Cole said that at the meeting in which the fire truck proposal was introduced, he as a minority member, was not directly opposed, but had requested delayed action until the next meeting with a view to questioning Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

"All I said," Cole stressed, "was that I'd like it delayed until the March meeting . . . Of course, I vote aye."

Alderman Carroll said before his vote in favor of the B.P.W. bond issue, that he was "disappointed that the streets in the tenth ward have not been reconstructed. "Some," he said, "are in terrible shape." He was in favor of getting the materials to get the street work done, he said.

Alderman Buboltz said before his vote that he still felt the need to cut down in expenditures.

Materials Requested

The materials requested by the public works department besides the grader, includes a sanding and scraping vehicle, sewer cleaning machine, machinists' shop lathe, pneumatic drills and breakers, a small truck and utility vehicle.

The regular "form" resolution giving final authorization to the bond issues is expected to be adopted at the next session of the council. The aldermen last night voted for reports of the finance and laws and rules committees favoring the bond issues.

The new fire trucks will replace trucks which have been in service many years at Cordts and Rapid hose companies.

The Board of Fire Commissioners, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and about 25 volunteer firemen representing the two companies attended the meeting.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 7 (AP)—Steadiness was the keynote today in the stock market.

The movement on the upside was held under a dollar for the most part, and few losers went down more than that amount.

The narrowness of the price range was accompanied by a low volume of business, a tendency that was in line with recent markets.

Most of the attention was focused on a few individual issues affected by corporate developments.

Cities Service, which moved today from the curb market to the big board, opened up ⅜ at 89½. It traded sluggishly in that area.

Eastman Kodak gained fractionally on a good earnings report that showed profits last year equal to $4.50 a share as against $3.80 the year before.

Distillers Corp.-Seagrams was the standout in the distilling group, also with a fractional gain, on a good earnings showing in the quarter ended Jan. 31 and also for the six months to that date.

Textron was up fractionally after declaration of a quarterly dividend of 50 cents on common as compared with 25 cents previously paid.

'Little Venice'

Venezuela was so named because the Spaniards found villages there built on stilts over the water—Venezuela means "little Venice."

Jonkel on Stand at Senate Hearing

Jon Jonkel (left), campaign manager for Sen. John Butler (R-Md.), testifies, March 6, before a Senate elections subcommittee hearing in Washington on charges that unfair campaign tactics were used by Butler forces in defeat of former Democratic Senator Millard Tydings. Jonkel and his attorney, Edward Williams (right) look at a copy of a check placed in evidence. Jonkel identified it as a check for $1,500 which he said was loaned him during the campaign by Mrs. Ruth McCormick Miler, editor of the Washington Times Herald. (AP Wirephoto)

feldt, said the claimant had suffered severe sprains and bruises and a fractured left hip in a fall last Jan. 30 because a crosswalk at John and Wall streets was allegedly unsafe.

The Riseley claim filed by Flanagan & Ortale, said the claimant also held that a crosswalk across John street at its easterly junction with Wall street was unsafe last Jan. 31 when the claimant suffered a fractured pelvis, bruises, contusions, lacerations and abrasions. It held that the injuries were "plainful and disabling."

The Leverenz claim said the claimant suffered bruises, contusions, lacerations of the head and injuries of the body in a fall on Locust avenue near Delaware avenue last Feb. 2. This was also filed by Flanagan & Ortale.

Mrs. Edna Addis, 130 Wall street, who said she fell last Feb. 2 near 611 Broadway, cut an eye and broke her glasses, filed a claim for $58.40, and Loretta Peskie, 11 Clifton avenue, without mentioning an amount, said she fell on the sidewalk near 133 Highland avenue Feb. 7 and suffered a broken wrist.

To Restrict Parking

On favorable report of the traffic committee the council voted to restrict parking to one hour near the property of Christopher Dauner, florist, of 56-58 Ten-Broeck avenue.

Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll, who at a meeting last year asked action on complaints against the alleged neighborhood inconveniences in the conduct of the business of the Ashley Welding Machine & Iron Co., Inc., at Henry and Sterling streets, again asked investigation by the traffic committee and police chief. His resolution noted that the corporation counsel had ruled following the first resolution, that the concern was not in violation of zoning regulations, but he asked further investigation of the former complaints.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, revealed after a resolution by Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms, asked for a fire alarm box in Roosevelt Park, that two boxes are already planned for the area.

Would Check Speeding

A resolution by Fourth Ward Alderman Buboltz and Edwin Radel, Third ward, asked for investigation of speeding on the East Chester street by-pass and was referred to the police chief and traffic committee.

Alderman Buboltz wanted to know what had happened to his previous resolution asking for synchronization of a light at Broadway and Delaware avenue with the one at East Chester street and Broadway. Alderman Storms said the traffic committee had delayed acting on it because the Democratic member was unable to attend its session on the proposal.

A letter from the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Association, signed by its president, James P. Martin, thanked the council "for passing the resolution granting the wage increase to employes. . . . It is appreciated by all." It was read and filed.

Tin Buying Stops

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The government announced yesterday all new purchases of tin for the national stockpile will be suspended immediately. Suspension of the purchases for the stockpile had been recommended by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee until Britain and other non-Communist countries agreed to stop what the senators termed "gouging" of American taxpayers by tin mine owners and speculators. Announcing the decision to stop new purchases, the General Services Administration said: "The policy is expected to continue until the price of tin reaches a reasonable level."

Undergoes Operation

London, March 7 (AP)—British ballerina Moira Shearer, star in the Sadler's Wells Ballet and in the movie "The Red Shoes," was operated on today for appendicitis.

Dunham Denies

they used their friendship with me, and possibly bits of information which they thereby picked up to convince others that they could 'influence' my decisions."

Going on then to speak of the "social group," he said he found, soon after taking office, that he was obviously regarded as a new member of it.

The men in it, he said, were Dawson, E. Merl Young, husband of a White House stenographer, James C. Windham, a former R.F.C. employe, Rex Jacobs, Detroit industrialist and Windham's employer, and William E. Willett, a fellow R.F.C. director.

Along 'Help' Lines

"I knew that Mr. Jacobs was active in the Democratic party and had some degree of White House entree," Dunham continued. "My impression was that the group was solely interested in the welfare of the Truman administration and that any R.F.C. interest they had was along this line."

Dawson, he said, introduced him to Willett and told him "the White House had great confidence in Mr. Willett."

Dawson also introduced him to President Truman, Dunham, said, and "told me that top R.F.C. personnel matters should be cleared through the White House. Because he was the only White House official I knew, I assumed that meant such matters should be cleared through him."

He said he contacted Dawson on many subjects.

The Senate Subcommittee made its charge that Dunham has yielded to influence in a report it sent to the Senate last month. The report named Dawson and Young and men who had influenced him. Young has denied it. Dawson has made no comment.

U.N. Makes . . .

Field dispatches on the action were delayed.

The assault-boat crossing of the Han followed intensive patrol action and nearly a week of bombardment of Chinese Communist positions.

Asks U.N. Decision

General MacArthur, on his 12th flying visit to the front warned anew of a Chinese buildup for a "massive offensive." He called again for a United Nations decision on what to do about Red China's undeclared war on the allies in Korea.

The U.N. military commander said in a statement that, as the situation stands, the Korean conflict will reach a "theoretical stalemate"—meaning that neither side could win.

MacArthur toured the front in a jeep and returned to Suwon airfield in a small observation plane. He boarded his own big transport plane, SCAP, at Suwon and flew beck to Tokyo.

"The battleline," said MacArthur, "cannot fail in time to reach a theoretical military stalemate. Even now there are indications the enemy attempted to build up from China a new and massive offensive in the spring.

"Vital decisions have yet to be made—decisions far beyond the scope of authority vested in me as the military commander. Decisions which are neither solely political nor solely military but which must provide on the highest international level an answer to obscurities which now becloud the unsolved problem raised by China's undeclared war in Korea."

Marriage Plans Reported

Los Angeles, March 7 (AP)—Plans of Minnewa Bell Ross, attractive Los Angeles socialite, and Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president, to be married in Florida this week were reported in a story carried by the Los Angeles Examiner today. The newspaper said information received here indicates the ceremony probably will take place at Mrs. Ross' Miami Beach residence after she obtains a final decre of divorce in the next day or two from Dr. Rex Louis Ross, Jr., Los Angeles physician. There have been reports of a romance between Elliott Roosevelt and Mrs. Ross for several months.

Police Checking Uptown Incident

A police investigation followed discovery last night of burned paper in an abandoned coal chute in the three-story Fein building at John and Wall streets.

Firemen were notified at 11:32 p. m., by Joseph Scott of Scott's Coat Dress and Lingerie Store, at 295 Wall street, in the building, that there was an odor of smoke there.

Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sanford said that a burned copy of last night's Freeman was found down the chute but had not entered the basement.

It appeared as if the burning paper had been thrown down the chute by someone who had lifted the iron cover outside, Sanford said.

Officer Charles Hoehing notified police headquarters at 11:50 p. m. and the report was relayed to the detectives. The burned paper, the police report said, was "brought to headquarters as evidence."

The building is owned by Benjamin Fein, of Saugerties. It houses a restaurant on the second floor and a pool room on the third.

Scott said he noticed the odor of smoke coming from an unused part of the cellar between Stein's on the corner and the Scott store when he was in the building tending a furnace. He notified firemen at the Wiltwyck station. The chute is on the Wall street side of the building.

Detective Clarence Brophy said today that the paper found burned was apparently one of two which had been left in the doorway of the Scott store by a carrier.

Collazo Case to Jury

Washington, March 7 (AP)—Oscar Collazo may know before today ends whether he must pay with his life for the part he played in a gun battle in front of Blair House last Nov. 1. Collazo has been on trial since a week ago Monday on murder charges growing out of the shooting, which the government argues was an attempt to assassinate President Truman. Indications were the case would go to a federal court jury of nine women and three men during the afternoon.

Siamese Twins Near 2nd Birthday

Los Angeles, March 7 (AP) — Yvette and Yvonne Jones — Siamese twins joined at the tops of their heads—will be two years old next month. And thereby rests a problem for their mother and Los Angeles county.

The problem is how to support them.

Yvette and Yvonne have lived at General Hospital since their birth May 14, 1949. The county estimates it has cost $13,640 so far to care for them.

Mrs. Jones admits she has no way to give the twins the kind of care that would assure their continued survival. She is a divorced Negro laundry worker with five other children.

Resists Suggestion

Mrs. Jones has resisted any suggestion that the babies be exhibited commercially. Now, however, she has joined with county officials in the hope that somebody in show business will come forward with a solution.

Dr. Phoebus Berman, the hospital's medical director, says that for their own sakes, the twins should be taken from the hospital.

"If they are kept here too long," he explained, "they are likely to pick up some ailment."

Might Live 50 Years

He says that with proper care, the twins might live 50 years or even longer. He won't venture a guess on how much it would cost to maintain them on the outside, but it would be at least $300 a week.

Mrs. Jones coos and sings to the twins on her visits and makes them dresses as fluffy and white as any baby's. She brags fondly about their learning to talk. They say "mama" and "thank you" and "byebye" just as other babies their age do.

The sisters are quite active. And they get angry with each other. That usually happens when Yvonne, the larger and stronger, wants to turn over and Yvette doesn't.

McGovern Fears

Wouldn't Change Constitution

McGovern also wrote that the proposed amendment would not change a part of the Constitution concerning local finances.

"Consequently, counties, cities and towns would not be permitted to contribute any part of the cost toward increasing pensions of those local employes already retired * * *," the comptroller added.

McGovern suggested that the Legislature might be able to help pensioners meet the increased costs of living without amending the Constitution.

He wrote:

"* * * it is conceivable that a constitutional amendment might not be necessary because of the strong moral obligation the state has and because the Legislature has the power under Article VII, Section 8, to 'provide for the aid, care and support of the needy.'

"A liberalization of those classified as needy without recourse to social welfare might possibly solve the problem."

The proposed amendment, sponsored by Democratic Senator Francis J. Mahoney of Manhattan, would authorize the Legislature to provide state funds or credit for increases to persons who had retired.

The Constitution now forbids the state to appropriate funds for the benefit of private individuals.

Barzin to Appear With Local Group

Woodstock, March 7 — It has been announced that Dr. Leon Barzin, conductor of the New York National Symphony Orchestra and musical director of the New York City Ballet, will appear with the Woodstock Quartet as violist when the group plays the Mendelssohn Octet August 23, at the Town Hall.

Mendelssohn wrote the octet when he was only 17, but in spite of his youth, the octet is generally considered to be completely mature in conception and form. His technical skill in employing the eight stringed instruments is that of a master. The tone volume produced by such a body of four violins, two violas and two cellos is breathtaking. The Scherzo of this work is a musical gem, unequalled in the entire music literature.

Other guest artists who will be heard with the quartet during the summer season of six concerts at the Town Hall are Alois McCauley, soprano; Ilse Sass, pianist; Christiane Nazzi, flutist; Cynthia Eddy, cellist; Inez Carroll, pianist; and Joseph Wolman, pianist. The first concert will be Thursday, July 19.

A special popular concert will be given at the Town Hall August 30 for the benefit of the Woodstock Recreation Center. The entire receipts will go to the recreation fund.

Members of the well-known string quartet are Sidney Harth, first violinist; Teresa Testa, second violinist; Carolyn Voight, violist, and Engelbert Roentgen, cellist.

The Woodstock String Quartet also will give its fourth annual series of six concerts in Kingston and New Paltz. Also slated are three concerts in Saugerties, two in Hudson, three in Round Top and two concerts in Oneonta at the State Teachers College, and in Cooperstown under the auspices of the New York Historical Society at Fenimore House. Other concerts have been planned for Catskill and Lake Mohonk.

Author of Loft Play Is Quizzed on Radio

Woodstock, March 7 — Eugene Raskin, author of the new play, "Amata," which the Loft Players will present as their next offering at the Circle in the Square in Greenwich Village, was interviewed by Bill Slater on his "Luncheon at Sardi's" program Tuesday noon over WOR.

Raskin explained that the title of the play was the name of the leading character, a girl, and was from the Latin for "Beloved." It is a light romantic play, with some laughs and some tears. Briefly touching on the plot Raskin said somewhat piquantly, that it is concerned with a dream which the dreamer hopes will not come true. When Slater observed that it was a rather backward approach, Raskin replied that since everything in the world today is so backwards that he was only trying to keep in step.

At present a professor of architecture at Columbia University, Raskin also is a songwriter, a cartoonist, and a guitarist as well as a playwright. Conversing about his varied activities, he said that the same might apply to him as was said once of an Oxford professor, that "any time he manages to salvage from the development of his personality he devotes to neglecting his duties."

"Amata" will open at the Circle in the Square, at 5 Sheridan Square, Friday, March 16.

Annual Egg Hunt

Woodstock, March 7—What has now become an eagerly awaited event by the youngsters in the village, Joseph Forno's annual Easter egg hunt will again take place on Sunday, March 25, on the green. It is expected that the children will converge upon the scene of the hunt between 12:30 and 1 p. m., following the Easter services. Prizes for the event will be announced.

To Meet Thursday

Woodstock, March 7 — The Kings Daughters, of Shady, will meet at the home of Harriet Lent in Kingston Thursday, March 8, at 8 p. m. It was announced by Mrs. Daniel Klein that the community supper held at the home

Reunited With Injured Stepfather

Pfc. Jack B. Alcorn (left), 23, of Adair, Ia., lights a cigarette for his stepfather, Dr. Linden Alcorn in a Des Moines, Ia., hospital after Jack made a 6,400-mile dash from front lines in Korea. The Red Cross and the army brought him home by helicopter, jeep, plane, train and bus on an emergency furlough following an appeal by his family when Dr. Alcorn was injured in a car accident. As a result of surgery, Dr. Alcorn is improving. Jack, who previously served three years in the army in Germany, now hopes he can remain at home to support his mother, sister and brother pending full recovery of Dr. Alcorn. (AP Wirephoto)

Barzin to Appear With Local Group

Woodstock, March 7 — It has been announced that Dr. Leon Barzin, conductor of the New York National Symphony Orchestra and musical director of the New York City Ballet, will appear with the Woodstock Quartet as violist when the group plays the Mendelssohn Octet August 23, at the Town Hall.

Mendelssohn wrote the octet when he was only 17, but in spite of his youth, the octet is generally considered to be completely mature in conception and form. His technical skill in employing the eight stringed instruments is that of a master. The tone volume produced by such a body of four violins, two violas and two cellos is breathtaking. The Scherzo of this work is a musical gem, unequalled in the entire music literature.

Other guest artists who will be heard with the quartet during the summer season of six concerts at the Town Hall are Alois McCauley, soprano; Ilse Sass, pianist; Christiane Nazzi, flutist; Cynthia Eddy, cellist; Inez Carroll, pianist; and Joseph Wolman, pianist. The first concert will be Thursday, July 19.

A special popular concert will be given at the Town Hall August 30 for the benefit of the Woodstock Recreation Center. The entire receipts will go to the recreation fund.

Members of the well-known string quartet are Sidney Harth, first violinist; Teresa Testa, second violinist; Carolyn Voight, violist, and Engelbert Roentgen, cellist.

The Woodstock String Quartet also will give its fourth annual series of six concerts in Kingston and New Paltz. Also slated are three concerts in Saugerties, two in Hudson, three in Round Top and two concerts in Oneonta at the State Teachers College, and in Cooperstown under the auspices of the New York Historical Society at Fenimore House. Other concerts have been planned for Catskill and Lake Mohonk.

Author of Loft Play Is Quizzed on Radio

Woodstock, March 7 — Eugene Raskin, author of the new play, "Amata," which the Loft Players will present as their next offering at the Circle in the Square in Greenwich Village, was interviewed by Bill Slater on his "Luncheon at Sardi's" program Tuesday noon over WOR.

Raskin explained that the title of the play was the name of the leading character, a girl, and was from the Latin for "Beloved." It is a light romantic play, with some laughs and some tears. Briefly touching on the plot Raskin said somewhat piquantly, that it is concerned with a dream which the dreamer hopes will not come true. When Slater observed that it was a rather backward approach, Raskin replied that since everything in the world today is so backwards that he was only trying to keep in step.

At present a professor of architecture at Columbia University, Raskin also is a songwriter, a cartoonist, and a guitarist as well as a playwright. Conversing about his varied activities, he said that the same might apply to him as was said once of an Oxford professor, that "any time he manages to salvage from the development of his personality he devotes to neglecting his duties."

"Amata" will open at the Circle in the Square, at 5 Sheridan Square, Friday, March 16.

Siamese Twins Near 2nd Birthday

Los Angeles, March 7 (AP) — Yvette and Yvonne Jones — Siamese twins joined at the tops of their heads—will be two years old next month. And thereby rests a problem for their mother and Los Angeles county.

The problem is how to support them.

Yvette and Yvonne have lived at General Hospital since their birth May 14, 1949. The county estimates it has cost $13,640 so far to care for them.

Mrs. Jones admits she has no way to give the twins the kind of care that would assure their continued survival. She is a divorced Negro laundry worker with five other children.

Resists Suggestion

Mrs. Jones has resisted any suggestion that the babies be exhibited commercially. Now, however, she has joined with county officials in the hope that somebody in show business will come forward with a solution.

Dr. Phoebus Berman, the hospital's medical director, says that for their own sakes, the twins should be taken from the hospital.

Might Live 50 Years

He says that with proper care, the twins might live 50 years or even longer. He won't venture a guess on how much it would cost to maintain them on the outside, but it would be at least $300 a week.

Mrs. Jones coos and sings to the twins on her visits and makes them dresses as fluffy and white as any baby's. She brags fondly about their learning to talk. They say "mama" and "thank you" and "byebye" just as other babies their age do.

The sisters are quite active. And they get angry with each other. That usually happens when Yvonne, the larger and stronger, wants to turn over and Yvette doesn't.

Wouldn't Change Constitution

McGovern also wrote that the proposed amendment would not change a part of the Constitution concerning local finances.

"Consequently, counties, cities and towns would not be permitted to contribute any part of the cost toward increasing pensions of those local employes already retired * * *," the comptroller added.

McGovern suggested that the Legislature might be able to help pensioners meet the increased costs of living without amending the Constitution.

He wrote:

"* * * it is conceivable that a constitutional amendment might not be necessary because of the strong moral obligation the state has and because the Legislature has the power under Article VII, Section 8, to 'provide for the aid, care and support of the needy.'

"A liberalization of those classified as needy without recourse to social welfare might possibly solve the problem."

The proposed amendment, sponsored by Democratic Senator Francis J. Mahoney of Manhattan, would authorize the Legislature to provide state funds or credit for increases to persons who had retired.

The Constitution now forbids the state to appropriate funds for the benefit of private individuals.

Sign of Veracity

At one time the Turks regarded beards as a sign of veracity and a bearded man did not need to take an oath in giving testimony.
